KAISER GIVES AID TO PEACE CAUSE.

Indicates to President Roosevelt Willingness to Help Stop the War in the Far East.

ALL NATIONS TAKE HEED.

Diplomat Sees Darker Days Ahead for Russia and Possible New Triple Alliance.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., June 1.—[Special.]—Emperor William of Germany has made it clear to President Roosevelt that he desires and will facilitate the restoration of peace in the far east. All the tremendous influence possessed by the "war lord" of Europe will be exerted to induce both Russia and Japan to desist from further strife.

There is no thought or suggestion on the part of the emperor that he shall act as mediator. He remains inflexibly convinced that the person who, above all, is fitted to perform this delicate task is President Roosevelt.

It would be thought in view of the published report of the emperor's recent speech to the recruits at Strassburg that his influence both in Russia and Japan would be nil. This report quoted the emperor as stating that the only explanation of the Russian defeats was that the Russian army had become enervated by immorality and drunkenness, and, as Russia had shown weakness in the presence of the yellow danger, circumstances might arise which would place upon Germany the task of opposing this danger. Such language was well calculated to offend both Russia and Japan and was regarded here as evidence of an erratic policy on the part of his majesty.

Emperor Analyzes Results.

The text of the address the emperor delivered has reached Washington. It is internationally important because it contains nothing save honest criticism, to which Russia could not take exception, and commends highly the tactics and bravery of the Japanese. It is valuable also as an expert analysis of the conditions which are responsible for Russian defeats and may be applied equally to the navy as well as the army. The address, as translated, is as follows:

"Young men must be better trained for war. They must work hard through the day so as to be thoroughly tired out in the evening and desirous of seeking their beds early instead of being intent upon enervating pleasures. The corps of officers is the nucleus of the army and must be kept in good trim, otherwise the army suffers.

"The present war affords many examples corroborating this. Japanese corps officers are efficient and like the Japanese soldier have stood the test well. The Russian corps officers on the contrary had failed, while the soldiers behaved well and fought bravely. Soldiers destined to take the field must get used to meager fare and cannot think of such things.

Hints on Field Tactics.

"With regard to tactics in the field it must be said that the lessons taught by the Boer war were corroborated in the far east. Troops must not present a target to the enemy, and in attack and defense the army must not wait for the arrival of pioneers, but must be able to work and pick and spade for itself. The Russians had erected excellent fortifications which could not be executed better even in time of peace. The oldest means of defense, such as wolf's holes and others, again have been adopted. Most important, however, are wire entanglements, by the extensive use of which the Russians had caused great losses to the Japanese.

"Ancient and long unused rules for higher commands again have been confirmed. First of all the commander in chief must not go to the front on these extensive battle lines. For from that point he has an outlook only upon the immediate area and loses entirely the command over the entire situation.

"At the battle of Mukden the Russian commander in chief, Gen. Kouropatkin, committed the mistake of going to the front. The Japanese commander in chief, Marshal Oyama, on the contrary, took up his position immediately in the rear of the front, and from that point of vantage controlled the whole battle. He received information and sent out orders by telegraph. He remained there calmly like a chess player, who immediately could execute one move after another."

Roosevelt Urges Preparation.

President Roosevelt impressed upon the blue jackets at the naval Young Men's Christian association the imperative need of preparation for war, and while he did not say it, those who are acquainted with his views know that he feels that Admiral Togo's success was due entirely to the personnel of his fleet.

In material, save in torpedo boats, Rojestvensky was considerably superior. His battleships of the Borodino class were far better than those of the Japanese, but the latter, by their daring in coming to short ranges, where their six inch guns would be effective, and by their superb gunnery, destroyed the secondary batteries which would provide protection against a torpedo boat attack and paved the way for operations by the destroyers.

The president is receiving expert reports on the lessons of the battle, but the need of training the personnel he regards as most important. So far as has yet appeared, the battleship, in his opinion, must continue as the backbone of a squadron, but the Japanese have demonstrated the great value of torpedo boats, and while the United States has about fifty-seven of these craft, excluding submarines, he probably will recommend to congress that authority be given for the construction of more. His message to congress will treat, it is said, of the naval lessons of the war, and he undoubtedly will urge that appropriations be made for a considerable addition to the navy.

Japan's Envoy Sees President.

As is the German emperor, the president has been seeking in his interviews with diplomats and attachés familiar with the far eastern situation, not only to ascertain their views with respect to the great naval combat, but also in regard to peace. Count Cassini's expected visit to the White house didn't take place yesterday or today, but he will see the president without further delay.

Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister, has been, on the other hand, a frequent caller upon the president. With other members of the diplomatic corps he was invited to the White house today to witness the ceremony connected with the starting of the

TELL OF BRIBERY BEHIND STRIKES.

Employers Charge That Proposition Was Made by Teamsters' Leaders to Quit for Cash.

LABOR SECRETS FILL AIR.

Albert Young Declares That R. J. Thorne Offered $10,000 to Call Out Sears, Roebuck & Co.'s Men.

BRIBERY CHARGES OF ONE DAY.

CHARGES MADE by employers that leaders of striking teamsters offered two weeks ago to call off strike in consideration of $10,000.

ALBERT YOUNG, former president teamsters' organization, charges Robert J. Thorne of Montgomery Ward & Co. with offering union leaders $10,000 to call a strike on Sears, Roebuck & Co.

C. P. SHEA and Albert Young accused Francis S. Peabody of having inspired teamsters' strike in 1903 which compelled office building owners to abandon fuel gas and burn coal.

CHARGE MADE by Albert Young that strike against Anheuser-Busch Brewing company was called at the behest of Chicago and Milwaukee Brewers' association and afterward called off on payment of $5,000 by company.

SHEA CHARGED that John C. Driscoll and Manager McCulloch of City railway offered him $10,000 to end sympathetic strike of coal teamsters when car men struck in 1903.

CHARGE MADE by Shea that Driscoll, in 1903, offered $20,000 if the teamsters would declare strike against the Fair store, a competitor of Montgomery Ward & Co.

EMMET FLOOD, labor leader, charged that Frank Ray, business agent of commission teamsters, offered him $500 as bribe at time of stockyards strike.

Charges of corruption flew thick and fast in connection with the teamsters' strike yesterday. Following Albert Young's accusation that Robert J. Thorne of Montgomery Ward & Co. had offered him $10,000 to call a strike against Sears, Roebuck & Co. a year ago, the employers told a story of an alleged attempt of the teamsters' officials to end the present strike two weeks ago in consideration of a cash payment.

The grand jury was occupied all day with the graft stories of the union men. Aside from the charge against Thorne, Young further accused Francis S. Peabody, president of the Peabody Coal company, of concocting the teamsters' strike in 1903 which compelled the owners of downtown buildings to substitute coal for gas.

Shea and Young also declared that the strike on the Anheuser-Busch Brewing company was called at the instance of the Chicago and Milwaukee Brewers' association, which the St. Louis company had refused to join. The union men said this strike was called off on a payment of $5,000 by the Anheuser-Busch company.

Other labor leaders will be heard by the jury today, including President Gibbons of the Teamsters' Joint council. T. J. Cavanagh of the team owners also will be heard.

Tried to Sell Out the Strike.

During the meeting of the executive committee of the employers at the Union League club in the afternoon, considering the charges of the union officials to the grand jury, the counter accusation was made. It was declared that on May 17 two leaders of the teamsters' joint council approached one of the members of the employers' executive committee and, after discussing the situation at length, offered to get the strike called off in consideration of $10,000. According to the story, the union men stipulated that the amount should be paid forthwith to them in person.

The employer to whom this proposition was made took it under consideration. He confided to his fellow employers that strikes often had been settled by a payment of money, and he therefore laid the matter before Attorney Levy Mayer, counsel for the Employers' association.

Refused to Buy Them Off.

Mr. Mayer turned down the proposition. He declared that no money had been or would be offered or paid for the calling off of this strike. The employer in question carried this word back to the union officials, and that ended the incident.

When Mr. Mayer was asked about the story last night he said:

"No such offer was made to me by the union officials."

"But was not such an offer submitted to you by an employer to whom it had been made by the union officials?" he was asked.

"Well," replied the attorney, "it may have been—in fact, I think such an offer was made by the union officials."

Teamsters Befog the Issue.

Mr. Mayer, speaking for the Employers' association and the express companies, took the position that the graft charges made by the union men before the grand jury represented an attempt to befog the real issue of the strike.

"The Employers' association and the express companies will not permit the issue to be sidetracked," he said. "There is only one question. Reckless and irresponsible teamster officials, who are suffering under the lash of impending defeat, enjoy a privilege in making false charges which men of standing and character do not possess.

"If the employers or the express companies' officials once begin to make denial it would be like taking a bath in a tub of mud. My clients, therefore, will refuse to enter the field into which the strikers are seeking to lead them. Knowing the weapons to which some of the labor officials resort, those who meet them always take the precaution to have plenty of cumulating witnesses. You always will find when they try to fasten a falsehood upon an individual that they will place him alone, and when there are two or more of their side supposedly present. That is an old trick, but it cannot work in this instance.

Only Point Is Use of the Streets.

"I repeat that my clients, until the strike is completely destroyed, will take good care to always keep to the front the one and only controversy that exists and has existed since April 6, when Montgomery Ward & Co. were boycotted. The employers and the express officials again emphasize the fact that their only claim is their right to use the streets of this city and to make deliveries to all concerns, including the houses that have been criminally boycotted by the teamsters' union."

Shea made the charge during the day that Mr. Mayer told him and A. J. Reed that he (Mayer) had enough evidence to indict F. S. Peabody of conspiracy in the gas trouble two years ago.

"If Shea made that statement he perjured

EQUITABLE HEADS IN PANIC.

Board Today Will Fight to Suppress the Frick Report.

SCHEMES TO GAIN TIME.

Harriman Said to Be in Conspiracy to Oust Officers.

New York, June 1.—[Special.]—The directors of the Equitable Life Assurance society will go into a meeting called for tomorrow morning to act on the report of the Frick investigating committee, in a thoroughly disorganized condition. The report has had the effect of a thunderbolt on the board. The scope and extent of the charges and the committee's findings are completely beyond anything the board had anticipated.

All partisan lines have been wiped out; each man hit by the report—and that includes a large percentage of the directors—is scurrying to cover on his own account, and the principals in the controversy are demoralized. If the board accepts the report it will be obliged to ask for the resignations of Alexander, Hyde, and Tarbell. To gain time in the hope of deferring any action by the board until some other expediency can be substituted is the purpose now of the three officers whose management of the society has been condemned by the committee.

Will Urge Modified Report.

They will go into the board room prepared to fight for a further delay in the acceptance of the report and urge the report as originally drafted be withheld from the public "for the good of the society." If any report is to be made public they would have one decidedly modified in form.

Any delay of this sort will be contested bitterly by the Frick committee and by the directors who are behind the Harriman-Schiff coterie to present the report. They are opposed to granting even a day's grace in the matter and declare the report in its present form will be adopted by the board tomorrow and given to the public.

It was learned today that the most radical recommendation is that the Equitable should abandon writing what is known as deferred dividend policies, which include many tontine policies, from which the Equitable draws its greatest revenue. The Equitable instituted this system in 1868 and began to collect its great surplus by means of it. The New York Life, Mutual Life, Northwestern Life also are engaged in a business of a similar sort.

It is said today that six-sevenths of the Equitable's business is of this nature, and that $70,000,000 of the $81,000,000 surplus is held for these preferred dividend policies. The opinion was expressed in insurance circles that if the Equitable should adopt this reform it would mean the reorganization of the insurance business generally.

Charge Conspiracy to Grab Society.

The charge was reiterated today in many quarters that the report of the Frick committee represented a conspiracy on the part of Harriman and others associated with him to obtain control of the Equitable society for their own interests. The statement was made that Hyde understood he was to be treated with immunity by the Frick report and his power to be perpetuated in the society.

It was said that not only Jacob H. Schiff but Henry C. Frick, August Belmont, and others closely identified with the Harriman, Standard Oil, and railroad interests are leagued with Harriman in this move to obtain control of the assets. The plan is said to have been to take advantage of the controversy to eliminate James W. Alexander and also James H. Hyde, the holder of a majority of the stock.

In order to accomplish this result comparatively trivial faults of the administration of the society, it is asserted, have been magnified and grave acts of certain individuals and members of the board of trustees have been ignored in the report. Cornelius N. Bliss and Brayton Ives, who signed the Frick committee report, are not held responsible for any part of the conspiracy by these persons.

Resignations First Move in Game.

The first step in the plan of Harriman to secure control was, it was said tonight, the adoption of the report, accompanied by a recommendation for the resignation of the three officers named in the report, or the appointment of a chairman on the board with a view of forcing their resignations later. All this, it is declared, merely is a prelude to the reorganization of the company under the Harriman-Schiff régime.

The plan is, it is asserted, that by ignoring the transactions of Schiff of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and Harriman and his Union Pacific holding syndicates, and by exaggerating the acts of the officers, to sweep Alexander as chief obstacle of the Harriman-Schiff control, from office, and also remove Hyde, because the acquiescence of the directors to the removal of Alexander could not have been secured from Bliss and Ingalls under any other conditions.

Another feature of the meeting was a speech delivered by the second vice president, Gage E. Tarbell. Tarbell was regarded as being hand in glove with President Alexander in his fight. Tarbell launched an attack on all Equitable officers, Alexander included. He said the salary system was based not on merit, but on partisanship.

He concluded by saying that if the board of directors continued its policy of bickering he would be constrained to tell the public and the policy holders it was up to them to hold the directors personally responsible for the condition of the society.

Ignores Charges Against Harriman.

A man prominent in Equitable affairs said today of the Frick committee report:

"Perhaps the most interesting information about the report is that the committee is said to have ignored the charges which affect Harriman, who himself is a member of the committee. The committee finds it wrong for Hyde and Alexander to be interested in syndicates which are engaged in selling bonds to the society, but it says nothing about those syndicates in which Harriman and Schiff are interested, although both Directors Harriman and Schiff are members of the finance committee.

"The charge was repeatedly made that Harriman and Schiff, being directors of the society, sold the society securities in various corporations in which they have a personal interest, and to their own profit they caused the society to purchase from themselves securities at prices which they themselves fixed.

Securities That Yielded $5,000,000.

The securities in which they are profitably interested, both as sellers and buyers, have been specified as follows:

$239,000 Denver and Rio Grande railroad company 4 per cent bonds.

$1,780,000 Union Pacific railroad company preferred stock.

$500,000 Norfolk and Western railway company 4 per cent bonds.

$6,310,000 Southern Pacific company bonds.

$11,061,000 Union Pacific railroad company bonds.

$2,000,000 Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington railroad company 4 per cent bonds.

$500,000 Chicago and Alton railroad company 4 per cent collateral notes.

$5,811,000 Missouri Pacific railroad company bonds.

$5,534,000 St. Louis and Iron Mountain railroad company bonds.

$1,375,000 Texas and Pacific railroad company bonds.

$2,072,000 Wabash railroad company bonds.

$2,000,000 Western Maryland railroad company bonds.

$510,000 Interborough Rapid Transit company stock.

$1,506,000 Long Island railroad company 4 per cent bonds.

$400,000 Baltimore and Ohio railroad company prior lien 3½ per cent bonds.

$1,550,000 Baltimore and Ohio railroad company 4½ per cent bonds.

$500,000 Richmond-Washington company 4 per cent bonds.

$3,255,000 Japanese government 6 per cent bonds.

$1,000,000 Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railway company 4 per cent bonds.

$822,000 Oregon Railroad and Navigation company 4 per cent bonds.

$1,000,000 Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago 3½ per cent bonds.

$750,000 Pittsburg, Lake Erie and West Virginia railroad company 4 per cent bonds.

"The profits which they made by being on both sides of these transactions is said to have exceeded $5,000,000.

Hyde Charges Overlooked.

"Another set of serious charges which the superintendent of insurance cannot overlook, but which the Frick committee has forgotten to mention, are those which accuse Hyde of leasing to safe deposit corporations, owned by himself, space in the buildings of the Equitable in New York, Boston, and St. Louis on terms extremely beneficial to himself and unprofitably to the society. It is said that Hyde's profits in these transactions amount to more than $150,000 a year.

"It is said the Frick committee did not consider the charges that Hyde had taken about $75,000 fictitious incidental expenses, and about $167,000 more out of the society's treasury as pay for his personal servants, and a few other little things like that within the scope of the committee's inquiry.

"The committee, of which, it should be repeated, Harriman is the actual dominating member, is said to have found that Hyde, Alexander, and Tarbell are all guilty enough to force them out so as to leave the way clear for strong Wall street control. This is almost sure to please the policy holders and bring back the lost prestige and business of the society. Suckers surely will bite again as soon as the weather clears."

JOINS IN WAR ON ANARCHY.

America Ready to Promote International Conference.

PARIS PLOTTERS EXPOSED.

Investigation Shows That Loubet and Alfonso Barely Escaped Death.

Washington, D. C., June 1.—[Special.]—Following the attempted assassination in Paris of President Loubet of France and King Alfonso of Spain, it is announced that the United States government is ready to participate in an international conference dealing with the question of the suppression of anarchists.

Russia long has wanted an international agreement for dealing with anarchists, and some years ago proposed a conference. But the United States at that time did not have upon its statute books any laws which would enable it to enforce any conclusions a conference might reach, and it was problematical whether the senate would ratify a treaty prescribing penalties upon persons upholding anarchistic principles.

Present Arrangements Inadequate.

The assassination of President McKinley finally resulted in the passage of a law in 1903 providing for the exclusion of anarchists or persons who believed in or advocated the overthrow of the government of the United States, or all government, or all forms of law, or the assassination of public officials. It was provided that any person assisting the entrance of anarchists into the United States be subject to fine and imprisonment. Anarchists were also excluded from naturalization.

The authorities believe there is now ample authority to join in a conference which would enable an effective enforcement of the law. There is already a system of exchange of information between the police of Europe and the United States which results in a more or less close surveillance of anarchists, but that it is not adequate is shown by the ease with which the plot was formed to kill the president of France and the king of Spain.

It is hoped no evidence will appear to connect any American anarchists, though it is admitted that this is possible, in view of the fact that the conspiracy which resulted in the assassination of King Humbert of Italy was hatched at Paterson, N. J.

President Roosevelt has expressed directly to President Loubet and King Alfonso his sincere gratification at their escape.

Within an Ace of Death.

PARIS, June 1.—A semi-official version of the bomb throwing last night shows that both King Alfonso and President Loubet had a remarkably narrow escape from death. The left panel of the carriage, which was the side M. Loubet occupied, has five perforations. A footman named Victor, who was sitting on the left side of the vehicle, received a splinter in the thigh and both horses of the carriage was injured. The horse of one of the republican guards belonging to the escort received the full force of the charge in its chest, thus averting it from the two rulers.

The front of the Louvre, facing the Rue de Rivoli, showed three distinct traces of the projectile. The violence of the explosion was so great that particles of the bomb about the size of nuts were found on remote portions of the roof of the Louvre. The pavement where the missile struck was blackened and rent.

Another Bomb Found.

It developed that shortly after the two rulers passed last night another bomb was found in the Rue de Rivoli near the spot where the explosion occurred. This also contained dangerous explosives.

M. Mouquin, chief of the secret service, announces positively that the author of the crime is known and that the police are also in possession of all the details of the plot and the facts leading up to it. He says he has positive proof that the anarchist who escaped May 26, when the band of Spanish anarchists was arrested, is the man who committed the outrage. His associates, who are still held, are Vallina, Navarro, and Palacios, well known Spanish anarchists, and Harvey, an English anarchist. The authorities say the bomb was of Spanish manufacture and identical with those used at Barcelona.

A Spaniard named Volina, when questioned, declared he had been in Paris for a month with several companions preparing for an attempt on King Alfonso's life. They had received five uncharged bombs from Barcelona, he said, which were hidden in the Bois Viroflay, in order to escape police investigations. The prisoner promised to show tomorrow where they were hidden.

BULLETIN.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 2, 3:25 a. m.—There are various rumors afloat in the city that the emperor is dead, having either committed suicide or been assassinated. The rumors are untrue.

PARIS, June 2, 3 a. m.—The rumor from St. Petersburg of the death of the emperor is reproduced in all of the newspapers this morning. The rumor was strongly denied by the Russian embassy.

BULLETIN.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, June 2, 3 a. m.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Standard claims to have received confirmation from a good source that the government suspects the temper of the troops in Manchuria and at home. According to private letters from Manchuria Gen. Linevitch recently had twenty-five mutinous officers shot and 300 men hanged. The officers were accused of distributing proclamations that were found in possession of the men.

TOKIO, Wednesday, May 31, 2 p. m.—A Japanese officer who has returned to Sasebo gives the following account of the sea fight off the Tsu islands:

"At 5:30 Saturday morning a wireless message reading: 'The enemy's squadron is in sight,' reached the naval base. This message was transmitted to all our ships by the flagship, with instructions to get ready for action. Our squadron left their rendezvous and headed for the eastern channel off Tsushima. Our men seemed to be filled with new inspiration, and were eager for the long delayed fight to begin.

"When Tsushima was sighted to the southwest the sea was rough, and the torpedo boats were forced to run for the shelter of the island. Our third fighting squadron with the Takashiho to port reconnoitered the Russian course, and at 11:30 a. m. informed the main squadron by wireless telegraph that the Russian ships were passing into the east channel, whereupon our main squadron, changing its course to the southward, came in sight of Okinshima at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. The third division arrived later and joined the main squadron. The first and second divisions, accompanied by the destroyer flotilla, changed to a westerly course, while the third division and the fourth destroyer flotilla headed slightly eastward.

"During the maneuver the Russian flagship appeared to the southward at 1:45 o'clock. The Russians steamed up in double column. The fleet was numerous, but no living being was visible. The Russian ships seemed to be in good order.

Togo's Battle Signal.

"Our ships hoisted the flag of action, the Mikasa signaling:

"'The destiny of our empire depends upon this action. You are all expected to do your utmost.'

"Our men seemed to silently weigh the significance of this signal. Our first and second divisions turned to the Russians' starboard, while the third division kept in close touch with the preceding two divisions. With the Japanese ships proceeding in this order, it was 2:13 o'clock when the Russians opened fire. The first two shots fell short of our line, and it was some minutes later before we commenced firing. Then the battle was on, with firing from both sides.

"Our destroyers kept on the port side of the main squadron and in this formation we pressed the Russians against the coast of Kiushiu, and they were obliged to change their course to the east. We also maneuvered our ships so as to have their bows paralleled to the north side of the Russian line. So the Mikasa of our first division, which had been leading, changed to the rear of the line, while the Kasuga headed the line.

Borodino Set on Fire.

"The engagement now became fierce. The Borodino was seen to be on fire. A little later the Russians headed west, and we changed our course accordingly. Five ships of our second division concentrated their fire on the Borodino. Our first division now began firing vigorously, proceeding parallel with the Russian line, and as we began to press against the head of the Russian line our third division veered to the Russian rear, thus enveloping their ships. The engagement proceeded hotly. Our second division followed a course parallel with the northern side of the Russians, and this movement completed the envelopment. The Russian ships were seen trying to break through, and our destroyer flotilla intercepted their new course.

"This state of envelopment continued until the following day, with the ships at varying distances. Thus inclosed on all sides, the Russians were helpless and powerless to escape the circle.

"Previous instructions had been given the destroyers and torpedo boats to attack the Russian ships. Following instructions, the fifth destroyer flotilla advanced against a Russian ship upon which the second division had been concentrating its fire, signaling:

"'We are going to give the last thrust at them.'

"The Russian ship continued to fight, and, seeing the approaching torpedo boats, directed its fire on them. Undaunted, our destroyers pressed forward, the Chitose meantime continuing its fire. The torpedo flotilla arrived within 200 yards of the Russian ship, and the Shiranus fired the first shot. Two other torpedo boats fired one each. The Shiranus received two shells, but the other boats were not damaged. The Russian ship was completely sunk.

Battle Climax at Sundown.

"Sundown saw the battle raging furiously. Our shells were evidently telling on the Russians, who showed signs of confusion. Our fifth torpedo flotilla, after destroying the Borodino, followed in the wake of our second division, the signal reading:

"'Something like the Russians' submarines have been sighted. Attack them.'

"The flotilla followed and located the su ject, which proved to be a sinking ship with its overturned bottom showing. Thirty survivors clung to the wreck, crying for assistance. Firing ceased with the approach of darkness.

Torpedo Attack After Dark.

"According to orders previously given for a torpedo attack after dark, all the destroyer flotilla, dividing into two squadrons, proceeded to attack the Russians during the whole night. The Russians frustrated the first and second attacks with searchlights. A third attempt was carefully made and the Yugiri sank a ship of the Borodino type and also hit others.

"During the night the Russians continued to move, and we preserved our enveloping movement some distance from the Russian position. The Russian ships headed northeast after daybreak, hoping to reach Vladivostok. Our officers and men were determined that not a ship should escape, and resolved not to relax their efforts until they had succeeded in either sinking or capturing every Russian ship.

"Our ships always kept ahead of the Russians. The battle was resumed at 9 o'clock Sunday morning, twelve miles east of Chiyupyon bay, and lasted all day. Here the Russians suffered their heaviest losses. They seemed unprepared to repel night attacks. During our first night attack the Russians showed nine searchlights and frustrated the attacks, but clearly gave us the location of the fleet, which brought success later."

Stories by Wounded Japanese.

Other accounts of the battle, differing slightly in detail, are given by wounded Japanese sailors at the hospital at Maidzuru navy yard. They describe the battle between the Japanese and Russian fleets as follows:

"At dawn on Saturday our squadron left its rendezvous and advanced through the Tsushima channel. At 2:08 in the afternoon we sighted the Russian fleet. Gradually closing in, we found the Kniaz Souvaroff leading the line with the Borodino, the Alexander III., the Orel, the Oslabya, and the Navarin following in the order named. The Nicolai I. brought up the rear. Parallel to this line we observed five cruisers. After them came the special service ships and torpedo boat destroyers. We counted thirty-two Russian ships in all.

Russians Begin the Fight.

"Our fleet, with the battleship Mikasa leading, proceeded towards the Russians in vertical line formation. The Souvaroff opened fire first, then suddenly turned, reversing its course. Almost simultaneously the Mikasa opened fire with its big guns, and thus the curtain rose on the great sea battle. The hostile fleets gradually closed in toward each other, exchanging a vigorous fire. The armored cruiser Asama approached within 3,000 yards of the Russian fleet and carefully observed its action.

"The Japanese fleet continued to maintain enveloping positions from sundown until dawn. Sunday morning opened misty, but the weather soon cleared, and the search for the remnants of the Russian fleet was begun. Five Russian ships were discovered in the vicinity of Liancourt island, and they were immediately surrounded. One, supposed to be the Izumrud, escaped at full speed.

Surrender of Nebogatoff.

"The remaining four offered no resistance and hoisted the Japanese flag over the Russian colors, apparently offering to surrender. Capt. Yashiro, commanding the Asama, started in a small boat to ascertain the real intentions of the Russians, when Admiral Nebogatoff lowered a boat and came on board the Asama, where he formally surrendered. The prisoners were distributed among the Japanese ships and prize crews were selected to take possession of the captured vessels.

The captured battleships Orel and Emperor Nicolai I. were so slighty damaged that they will be put into active service immediately. Crews already have been assigned them.

"About this time we received a message saying that a portion of our squadron was hotly engaging the remaining Russian ships. The Asama hastened to the scene of combat and found the Russian cruiser Dimitri Donskoi vigorously resisting the Japanese attack. The Donskoi attempted to escape and we pursued until after sundown, resuming torpedo attacks at nightfall. Monday morning the search was resumed by a portion of the Japanese squadron, and it was learned that the Donskoi had been beached on Ulloun island. We were ordered to bring the Orel to Miadzuru. On the way the captain of the Orel died of wounds received during the battle. While we were proceeding we were advised of the capture of Rojestvensky and our men were greatly cheered by the news."

Japanese Official Reports.

The navy department made the following announcement today:

"Later reports from the different divisions of the fleet engaged in the naval battle of May 27 show as follows:

"The Russian battleship Oslabya was heavily damaged in the early part of the fight on Saturday, going down at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

"The first Russian vessel sunk was the battleship Sissoi Veliky.

"The armored cruisers Admiral Nakhimoff and Vladimir Monomakh, after being in the general engagement during the daytime, were still further damaged by torepdoes during attacks by night and were eventually completely disabled. They drifted into the vicinity of Tsu islands, where they were discovered on Sunday morning, May 28, by the auxiliary cruisers Shilano, Yawata, Tainan, and Sado, which were about to capture them, but they all sank.

"The crews of our auxiliary cruisers rescued 915 of the crew of the sunken Russian ships.

Destruction of the Navarin.

"The battleship Navarin was torpedoed four times after sundown on Saturday (May 27) and sunk. The survivors of the Navarin's crew confirm the story of its destruction.

"The cruisers Niitaka and Otawa discovered the Russian cruiser Svietlana at 9 o'clock Sunday morning in the vicinity of Chappyan bay and immediately attacked and sunk it. The commander of the Niitaka reports the fact.

Three damaged Russian vessels have drifted ashore off the coast of the province of Nagato.

"Later reports show that during the night of May 27 our torpedo boats numbered 34, 35, and 69, were sunk by the enemy's fire. Comrades rescued the majority of their crews. Besides the above, there was no damage worth reporting. No warships nor destroyers suffered any loss of fighting or navigating power.

Why Rojestvensky Failed.

Captured officers say that Rojestvensky desired to avoid a decisive battle and to reach Vladivostok with the least possible loss. He paid no attention to the Chinyen and other Japanese cruisers he met in the south entrance to the straits early Saturday morning. His attitude, therefore, was wholly a defensive one. He missed all opportunity to damage the Japanese vessels. Russian officers say that Rojestvensky had been informed that the Japanese fleet had divided, one part watching the Tsushima straits and all of the other vessels guarding the Tsugaru straits. He expected to find only an inferior force in the Tsushima straits, and his fleet formation was designed to deal with an inferior force.

Some of the prisoners state that the fleet did not have sufficient coal to permit it to use the outside route to Vladivostok, and therefore it was compelled to attempt to run through the Tsushima straits.

It appears that Rojestvensky changed ships three times. He entered the straits on his flagship, Kniaz Souvaroff, but before the action began went on board the battleship Borodino, leaving his flag, however, on the Kniaz Souvaroff. When the Borodino began to sink he sought refuge on the destroyer Buiny. Later the Buiny was discovered to be sinking, and Rojestvensky and his staff took refuge on the destroyer Bedovi, from which he was captured and taken to Sasebo.

Rojestvensky's most serious wound is a bruise on the forehead and a slight fracture of the skull. The nature of his internal injuries is not known. The admiral's temperature and pulse are normal, and there is no sign of brain trouble. He has other wounds, but they are not serious.

It is now known definitely that Rear Admiral Voelkersam was killed early in the engagement. He was in the conning tower of the battleship Oslabya, and the tower was struck by the first straight shot fired in the battle.

Rough estimates made of the Russian losses exclusive of nearly 4,000 prisoners, vary from 7,000 to 9,000. It is feared that the majority perished. Calculating on the complements of the sunken and captured ships at upward of 10,000, 7,000 men remain unaccounted for. It is possible that the ships which escaped rescued some of the members of the crews of the less fortunate ships. Many bodies have been washed ashore on the islands and on the shores of the neighboring coasts near the scene of the battle. It is stated that just before the battle began Admiral Togo telegraphed to Japanese fishing companies along the coast to have their boats in readiness to pick up survivors.

Jap Losses in 1904.

The necessity for secrecy no longer existing, the navy department confirms the reports of the loss of the Japanese battleship Yashima off Port Arthur in May, 1904, and announces other naval losses heretofore withheld. The list is as follows:

Battleship Yashima, sunk by a mine May 15, 1904, while engaged in blockading Port Arthur.

The torpedo boat destroyer Akatsuki, sunk by a mine May 17, 1904, while taking part in the blockade of Port Arthur.

The gunboat Oshima, sunk in collision May 17, 1904, while coöperating with the army off the Liaotung peninsula.

The torpedo boat destroyer Hayatori, sunk by a mine Sept. 3, 1904, while taking part in the blockade of Port Arthur.

The gunboat Atago, struck a rock and sank Nov. 6, 1904, while taking part in the blockade of Port Arthur.

The protected cruiser Takasago, sunk by a mine Dec. 12, 1904, while taking part in the blockade of Port Arthur.

BORODINO A SHAMBLES.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

TOKIO, June 1.—An officer of the battleship Borodino, in describing his experiences during the battle, says:

"I was in the forward barbette, in charge of one of the twelve inch guns, when the signal to begin firing was given. The ship nearest to us was the Japanese battleship Shikishima, whose projectiles began to reach us within a few moments after the beginning of the fight. I fired the first gun at 1:30 p. m., and was overjoyed to see that it had reached its mark, for the Japanese vessel was struck in its upper works, and did not return our fire for at least ten minutes.

"At this early stage of the battle Admiral Rojestvensky came aboard the Borodino and directed the fighting from the bridge.

"Almost immediately afterwards a projectile struck my barbette and rendered every one inside insensible. The barbette was filled with smoke, and I groped my way out. The decks were raining with projectiles. Dozens of men were lying dead or wounded at every turn.

Both Big Guns Wrecked.

"When the barbette was clear I reëntered with my crew, but only had time to fire two more rounds when two projectiles struck simultaneously and disabled both of the twelve inch guns, wrecking the barbette and killing eighteen officers and men.

"I crawled on deck, near one of the six inch guns, which was surrounded with dead and wounded. Here I remained for an hour, during which time the Borodino became a shambles. The wardroom and steerage were crowded with the wounded. Nearly every ammunition hoist had been wrecked and shells had to be passed by hand. A shell struck the port screw and another disabled the steering gear and the signal mast was carried away.

"Presently when everything seemed worse than confusion the quartermaster told me that 'Admiral Rojestvensky had been wounded and was being taken to another ship, a destroyer. I saw the destroyer leave amid a hail of small arm ammunition, but fortunately none struck it.

"At 4 o'clock the Borodino began to sink down by the head. It had been hulled several times. There was no hope of saving it.

Death in the Fighting Tops.

The Japanese ships, having succeeded in breaking our battle formation, came closer and brought every available gun to bear. Our fighting tops were particular targets. Not one of the men stationed there apparently is alive. I volunteered to go up with a few men. The sight there, even in the midst of the desperate battle, was so terrible that it haunted me and has robbed me of sleep ever since. The men in the tops had been hacked to pieces by the fire of the Japanese. The machine guns were hopelessly ruined.

"Fire broke out in several places, and this added to the horrors of our already sorely tried vessel. The fire call was sounded, but there were so many dead or wounded, and the projectiles were falling so fast, that there was no chance to subdue the flames. It was, therefore, resolved to withdraw from the line of fighting. Our steering apparatus had been repaired, but eight Japanese ships closed round us and bombarded us from every side. Our forward guns were useless, but we did good work with the after twelve inch guns and those of the six inch guns which were not out of action, though they were worked with only half their complement of men.

Fighting to the Last.

"The Borodino sank lower and lower, a fine target to the overwhelming superiority of the enemy, but we fought desperately, although hopelessly.

"Towards evening, after a long afternoon of terrible exhaustion, during which there was neither time to eat nor drink, and after we had lost fully 400 killed or wounded, we noticed two Japanese destroyers bearing down. One of them we sunk with a shell from a six inch gun, but the other came on safely and launched a torpedo, which swept past our bow. We were unharmed, for the torpedo missed us. The chief engineer now came and informed us the fire had gained such headway it was impossible to keep the men below. A moment later the engine room crew were driven out by the flames. We expected every moment to be blown up, and were preparing for the inevitable, when a whole flotilla of torpedo boats came down on us.

"In five minutes the end had come. The explosion caused the ship to turn turtle. I was drawn down deep and struck by pieces of wreckage, but a boat from a destroyer picked me up, with others from the Borodino, and took us to the Kasuga, from which we were transferred to shore."

Enticed Into a Trap.

Capt. Rojinoff, commander of the Russian cruiser Admiral Nakhimoff, said today:

"We chose the shortest route to Vladivostok, passing a certain strait. We were unhappily enticed by the Japanese fleet and were completely surrounded.

"Our position was hopeless from the beginning of the battle. We had indeed fallen into a bitter trap. It was cruel, moreover, for the Japanese selected the engine room of my ship as a target. A torpedo went straight through my vessel and we lost our fighting power and were unable to move either way.

"We launched the boats and embarked 600 of the crew, who were rescued by the Japanese. I with the navigating officer determined to share the fate of our ship, which sank. We two were drawn underneath by the suction, whirled about, and lost our breath.

"We forgot everything, but fortunately were picked up by the Japanese fishermen. We had intended to die and floated about in the water as it seemed for hours, watching the scene created by the explosion of Japanese shells."

LOSS OF THE IZUMRUD.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, June 1.—The protected cruiser Izumrud escaped from the Japanese battle and reached the Siberian coast only to run on a reef at the entrance to Vladimir bay, 200 miles north of Vladivostok, at 1:30 a. m. May 30. Unable to refloat the cruiser, Baron Ferzen, its commander, blew it up, after sending the crew ashore. Baron Ferzen reached Vladivostok today on the Izumrud's steam launch.

In his report to Grand Duke Alexis Baron Ferzen says that before dark on May 27 the Oslabya, Alexander III., and Borodino had been sunk and that the Kniaz Souvaroff, the Kamtchatka, and the Ural had been seriously damaged and were lost to sight. The command then devolved on Rear Admiral Nebogatoff.

Izumrud Carried Orders.

In the evening the Nikolai I., the Orel, the General Admiral Apraxine, the Admiral Seniavin, the Admiral Oushakoff, the Sissoi Veliky, the Navarin, the Admiral Nakhimoff, and the Izumrud sailed northeastward, the latter being charged to transmit orders to the battleships. Two other cruisers were cut off from the fleet and were not again seen.

The battleships, steaming at fourteen knots, were repeatedly attacked by the Japanese torpedo boats, especially at the extremities of the line. At dawn it was ascertained that the battleship division consisted of the Nikolai I., the Orel, the General Admiral Apraxine, and the Admiral Seniavin.

At sunrise on May 28 smoke from the Japanese ships reappeared on the horizon, whereupon the admiral gave orders for increased speed. The Admiral Seniavin and the General Admiral Apraxine dropped behind.

Blows Up His Ship.

Toward 10 o'clock the Japanese fleet appeared, first to port and then to starboard, while the cruiser division maneuvered behind the Russian to starboard. Baron Ferzen's account continues:

"I was cut off from the squadron, and, finding it impossible to rejoin it, resolved to make for Vladivostok. I put on full speed and the enemy's cruisers came on in pursuit. Owing to the insufficiency of my coal supply and the certainty of meeting the enemy's cruisers I subsequently altered my course for Vladimir bay, where I arrived on the night of May 29.

"At 1:30 o'clock next morning, in pitch darkness, the Izumrud ran full on a reef at the entrance to the bay. Having only ten tons of coal and seeing that it would be impossible to refloat my vessel, I ordered the crew ashore and blew up the Izumrud to prevent its falling into the hands of the enemy. Ten of my sailors were wounded in the battle but the officers and the rest of the crew are all safe."

Escape of Destroyer Bravi.

Lieut. Durnovo, commander of the torpedo boat destroyer Bravi, has telegraphed from Vladivostok to Grand Duke Alexis, the high admiral, an account of his venturous voyage after the separation of his destroyer from the fleet on the evening of May 27, having in the course of the afternoon saved 175 officers and men of the battleship Oslabya.

The destroyer suffered considerable damage from a six inch projectile and was only able to speed eleven miles an hour. The mainmast was lowered and the funnel painted white so as to render the vessel less conspicuous to the Japanese torpedo boats, several of which were seen.

On the night of May 29 a steam pipe burst, reducing the speed to five miles an hour. Lacking coal, all the wooden parts of the destroyer were burned for fuel before it reached Vladivostok.

Want Nebogatoff Shot.

According to the dispatches from Baron Ferzen, the commander of the cruiser Izumrud, the battleships remaining in the fight were still in squadron formation when he was cut off, and this increases the deep resentment felt here at the surrender of the ships, the Novoe Vremya even declaring that the officers ought to be court martialed and shot for hauling down their flags and turning their ships over to the Japanese.

Nebogatoff's Sailors Mutinied.

On the other hand, details received from a trustworthy source leave little doubt that Vice Admiral Nebogatoff's sailors mutinied and either threw him and his officers overboard or bound them in their cabins, after which the white flag was hoisted.

The saddest note for St. Petersburg was struck by the destruction of the battleship Alexander III., which was manned by sailors of the guard and officered exclusively by men prominent in society and at court. Its crew served during the winter time as a regiment of the guard, of which the dowager empress was honorary commander.

Official Report of the Japanese Losses.

TOKIO, June 1.—The Japanese losses in the battle of the Sea of Japan were 113 officers and men killed and 424 officers and men wounded.

The completion of the revised list shows that the losses were under the original estimates. The flagship Mikasa was the heaviest loser, losing 63 killed and wounded.

The losses were distributed among the fleet as follows:

Mikasa	63	Otowa	26	Chitose	6
Adzuma	39	Kasaga	26	Idzumi	10
Shikishima	37	Tsushima	19	Kasuga	9
Asashi	31	Asama	15	Hashidate	5
Fuji	28	Naniwa	17	Niitaka	4
Idzuma	26	Tokiwa	15	Destroyers	87
Nisshin	27	Yakumo	11

TOGO'S BATTLE SIGNAL.

The Destiny of Our Empire Depends Upon This Action. You Are All Expected to Do Your Utmost.

ROJESTVENSKY'S REPORT

TOKIO, June 1.11 a. m.—A telegram for Sasebo says Admiral Rojestvensky stated in an interview: "I hoped to clear Tsu island in a fog, but a sudden southwestern gale cleared the fog and revealed the presence of my fleet.

CZAR OBSTINATE; PEACE HOPE GONE

Will Involve European Nations in General Conflagration Rather than Submit.

WARMAKERS IN CONTROL.

Russian Press Grows Bolder, Issuing Ominous Warnings of Imminent Uprising.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, June 1.—Hopes of early peace were wrecked by the conference between the czar and his personal advisers. His majesty gave a private audience to Admiral Alexieff before he saw the others. It is believed that Alexieff and Grand Duke Alexander Mikhailovitch controlled the discussion.

The presence of M. Boulyguine, minister of the interior, M. Witte, president of the council, and the other ministers had no connection with the war, on which their opinions were not asked.

It is the general opinion that the attitude to which the czar is committed may be described as "We will trust Germany." He is prepared to continue the land campaign if Germany considers that better terms can be obtained from Japan in the future.

Fear General Conflagration.

This policy is an adventure which Admiral Alexieff and Grand Duke Alexander support rather than to have Russia abandon her ambition to establish an empire on the Pacific. It is believed to involve immediate danger of a European crisis. The war party will do anything to help a general conflagration rather than sign Japan's terms.

The czar's manifesto, on representation, is expected to be issued immediately. Precautions have been taken to prevent any outbreak. Most of the troops are to be quartered around the government factories. The workmen are quiet, but there is a universal discussion regarding the consequences of the naval disaster. It is foreseen that the masses will make a demonstration unless a ukase is forthcoming, democratic to a degree that it is hopeless to expect.

Will Shift Responsibility.

The manifesto, it is said, will proclaim the immediate convocation of a national assembly, to which the question of peace or war will be submitted, thereby shifting the burden of a decision from the shoulders of the emperor to the whole nation, robbing agitators of opportunity to make revolutionary capital out of the decision whichever way it may be taken.

On account of the imperative haste for the summoning of an assembly for this purpose it would be necessary to postpone the convocation of a permanent zemsky sobor, which was contemplated in the emperor's ukase of March 3, but it is probable that the first assembly will be able to take part in a constitutional convention and give advice as to the ultimate form of a new legislative organism.

The emperor's advisers realize that whatever haste may be made in calling together the representatives of the people it will be impossible for them to meet in time to forestall another battle in Manchuria, but though a request for an armistice is a possibility, the present disposition is to leave the matter entirely in the hands of the assembly as another defeat on land, unless decisive, could not change the situation or make it much worse, while a victory for Lieut. Gen. Linevitch would alter the complexion of affairs entirely.

Say Time to Strike Is Come.

The liberals consider that the government is at last in a corner and that the time has come to strike. The liberal press no longer asks—it threatens. The Slovo this morning menaces the government, boldly declaring that if it does not give what the people need the latter will take it.

"Russia's disgrace," the Slovo adds, "is not due to the people, but to the 'gentlemen' who have been misgoverning them."

Continuing, the paper holds up the specter of another Cugachev, a famous Cossack who for years led the insurrection against the Empress Catherine.

The Nasha Shisn even more scathingly denounces the bureaucracy, from which it says there is no hope of peace, and paints a revolting picture of the officeholders last night amusing themselves instead of mourning.

"Everywhere," the Nasha Shisn says, "they were hurrying to pleasure resorts. The dance halls were full. Even army and naval officers took part in the gayeties, oblivious of the frowning attitude of the public. Can Russia's defeat surprise any one, when such men keep the masses in ignorance and thrust the true patriots of the country into cells and underground dungeons?"

Warnings Are Ominous.

Even the Novoe Vremya this morning warns the government that it cannot temporize and act the coward, but must come out openly, immediately convene the people, and let them decide the future.

The Bourse Gazette says the recent events mean the complete bankruptcy of the bureaucracy. The paper declares that the government is shaken to its foundations, and issues a solemn warning to the effect that unless a national assembly is convoked and other reforms are sincerely executed at once it will be too late.

A recurrence of the strike movement is already reported at Pavlograd, Ekaterinburg, Lodz, Ivanovo-Voznesensk, Shula, and other places. At Lodz the workmen are armed with revolvers and knives.

In St. Petersburg the government has placed a weapon in the hands of the socialistic leaders of the workmen by conceding eight hours' work per day at the admiralty yards, thus embarrassing private owners who insist that the conditions of Russian labor do not permit them to agree to such hours.

From the Caucasus the news continues bad. Erivan has been placed under martial law, but the fears of Persian Kurds crossing the frontier fortunately have not been realized.

The industrial members of the labor commission, headed by Finance Minister Kokovsoff, withdrew in a body at today's sitting on the plea that owing to the national calamity they were unable to calmly discuss current affairs, and considered that the alarming situation required their presence in their respective provinces.

M. Kokovsoff declined to postpone the work of the commission, saying that the interests of the working classes would thereby be prejudiced, and vainly appealed to the industrial members to reconsider their decision. Finally, he decided that the government members of the commission should continue their work.

The newspapers report that Vice Admiral Birileff, who started for Vladivostok May 25, to take command of the Baltic station, is returning to St. Petersburg.

No Hope for Peace.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, June 1.—All advices from St. Petersburg hold out no hope for early peace. This is not to be taken altogether as discouraging if the Russian policy is controlled by clever statesmen, for the talk would continue to be for war until peace is almost in sight.

Few believe, however, that Russia is thus masking her real intentions. There is only too good reason to fear that the lesson of the implacable events has been lost upon the narrow, misguided grand dukes, who alone are able to prevent still further humiliation. It is difficult for men of ordinary intelligence to understand the condition of the mind which fails to realize the impossibility of turning the scale of the war against Japan with Russia's remaining resources.

This fact is so obvious to all the world that a definite announcement of Russia's decision to continue the struggle will be interpreted to mean only one thing—that it is her deliberate purpose to embroil European nations in a general debacle.

Controlled by Warmakers.

That the author of The Hague conference should contemplate such a stupendous crime almost as inconceivable. He assuredly is guiltless of such a diabolical purpose, but some of his adviser are capable of this atrocity.

The events of the last two years prove also that the wretched monarch may be led into a course of conduct which will bring him into a situation he is incapable of foreseeing. He is still guided by the councils of the individuals who solely are responsible for Russia's present humiliation.

The only foreign advice which has any weight with him is not that of France, his ally, but that of Germany, which seeks only to profit by his misfortunes. Hence it is that Russia's well wishers almost despair of seeing her adopt a wise, statesmanlike course in this great crisis of her fortunes.

Paris Is Hopeful.

PARIS, June 2.—Strong influences are being exerted between Paris and St. Petersburg towards securing the realization of peace, hopes of which for the first time assumed definite form within the last few days. Exchanges which have already occurred give encouragment of a pacific solution, but these are not yet explicit.

Although the officials observe silence with regard to their plans, it is gathered that the chief reliance is the securing of the united influence of Great Britain, France, and the United States in bringing about some basis of accord between the belligerents.

Heretofore this influence has been merely moral, owing to Russia's refusal to permit it to take more concrete shape, but the indications are that Russia may allow it to assume a more material character to the extent of having nations friendly both to Japan and Russia and to the cause of peace coöperate towards terminating the conflict and initiating peace negotiations.

TRIBUTE TO THE MIKADO

TOKIO, June 1, 2:15 p. m.—Admiral Togo, responding to the imperial rescript commending the admiral and his sailors, expresses his appreciation and futher says:

"That we gained a success beyond our expectation is due to the brilliant virtue of your majesty and to the protection of the spirits of your imperial ancestors, and not to the action of any human being.

"We shall be faithful and answer to the imperial will."

WILL RENEW JAPANESE TREATY.

Lord Lansdowne Says No Matter What Party Is in Power Alliance Will Continue.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, June 1.—Lord Lansdowne, secretary of state for foreign affairs, made a speech today which, taken in conjunction with one made yesterday by Sir Edward Gray, in which the liberal partly keenly realized the obligation of maintaining the Anglo-Japanese alliance, makes it practically clear that the government, whichever party is in power when the time for a renewal of the treaty arrives, will so strengthen it as to establish virtually a complete alliance.

Lord Lansdowne referred approvingly to Sir Edward's speech. He said there had been at no time either on the part of Japan or of Great Britain any question whatever of withdrawal from the alliance. He added:

"I may venture further to say, in our opinion, when the time comes to consider the renewal of the agreement, the only practical question will be whether it shall be renewed in its present form or whether we should not seek some means of strengthening and consolidating it. The alliance has been a potent instrument of peace, and if it should prove possible so to modify it that it not only will prevent the spread of conflagration when conflagration has begun, but will prevent any conflagration taking place at all, I believe all lovers of peace would rejoice at such a consummation."

Referring to the good relations with France, which, he said, never were more firmly based, Lord Lansdowne stated he believed when the inner history of the anxious months through which they had been passing is written it will be seen that the good understanding between France and Great Britain has been the means of greatly mitigating the friction and trouble which seemed inevitable when a great war is in progress.

He declared emphatically that neither the alliance with Japan nor the understanding with France is designed for selfish or aggressive purpose. Great Britain does not desire to deprive others of what belonged to them or conspire with other powers. Her only object is to secure peace and restrict to the narrowest possible compass the terrible evils of war.

TROOPS HEAR OF SEA FIGHT.

First News Reaches Russian Front—Gen. Nogi's Position Formidable.

HEADQUARTERS OF THE RUSSIAN ARMY, GODZYADANI, Manchuria, May 30.—[Delayed.]—The first news of the long expected battle between Rojestvensky and Togo arrived here today. Details are awaited with great anxiety.

The principal body of prisoners taken by Lieut. Gen. Mistchenko during his detour along the Mongolian border and in his attack on Gen. Nogi's Fakoman-Sinmintin communications arrived today. The Russians with the prisoners brought the first details of Mistchenko's expedition, which occupied from May 13 to May 24.

They say that Gen. Nogi was shown to have no reserves and no defenses to his lines of communication in accordance with the Japanese custom, but that his strength was all at the front, which appears to show the general's indifference to the Russian cavalry. Nogi's semicircular position north of Fakoman is believed to be formidable.

GIVES DERIVATION OF "TOGO."

Japanese Says Word Means "From Eastern District"—First Syllable Accented.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 1.—[Special.]—A Japanese resident of this city today gave a correct pronunciation of Togo, and also showed how the name is derived. "It is two syllables," he said, "'To' being much accented. 'To' means 'east' and 'Go' means 'region' or 'district.' So 'Togo' means 'from eastern district.' He is of the Samurai, the great class noted as warriors for centuries. The name of Admiral Kamimura is explained thus: 'Kami' is upper and 'Mura' village, so he is 'from the upper village.'" machinery of the Lewis and Clark exposition. He remained after the other guests had gone and for an hour discussed the entire peace situation with the president. The minister enjoys peculiarly agreeable relations with President Roosevelt and talks to him as frankly as the president does to him. The result is both governments understand each other and the importance of this in facilitating peace can be readily imagined. It is believed the president would like to obtain a formal statement from Japan as to the terms which would be acceptable to her, but whether anything of the kind has been made cannot be definitely established. Minister Takahira said upon leaving the White house that his government had not reached a decision as to the terms to be offered, and added positively:

"There is nothing to be said about peace. All the peace talk is mere gossip. Russia must have time to think the matter over and to consider the situation in all its phases. Then there may be some ground for talk of peace, but now there is none."

Sees Dark Days for Russia.

An ambassador of a neutral power today described the future as exceedingly dark for Russia.

"There can be no question," he continued, "that the result of Rojestvensky's defeat will be a closer rapprochement between England and Japan. England doesn't want peace in the far east strongly, yet she professes her desire for its restoration. She feels Japan's army will be sufficient balance to any designs Russia may have upon India. Great Britain always has been Russia's enemy, and she will not raise her finger today to save her from humiliation. She is today the balance of power in Europe, and prevents any combination of nations to exercise pressure upon Japan with a view of inducing her to grant terms which Russia could accept.

"So Russia must work out her own salvation. The effect upon other nations having interests in the far east will be important. Reinforced by Great Britain, Japan can turn to Germany and expel her from Kiaochou, and then to France and demand her withdrawal from the far east.

What of Triple Alliance?

"With the United States it would be another question. President Roosevelt is vigorously upbuilding the American navy. So long as that navy is strong you will be in no danger. But the moment you become weak then it will be your turn. I sometimes think the interests of the United States will lead it to enter into an aliance with Great Britain and Japan. This would be a combination which would rule the world and would have an effect upon other powers so tremendous it is difficult to say what it might be. It would be the duty of continental Europe to prevent such a combination from entering into existence."

The idea of a triple alliance in which the United States, Great Britain, and Japan should figure is not new in Washington. It is the bugaboo of Europe. But there is authority for the statement that so long as President Roosevelt is at the head of the government the United States will not enter into an alliance with any nation, but will work out its own destiny in its own way.

EXTRA SESSION IS DELAYED.

President Decides Not to Convene Congress Until After November Elections—Starts South on Oct. 17.

Washington, D. C., June 1.—The extra session of congress which it is the present intention of President Roosevelt to call will not begin until after the November elections.

The president had intended to begin his southern trip early in October, but within a day or two he has concluded to postpone his departure until Oct. 17.

The trip will consume about two weeks and will end at Little Rock, whence the president and party will return directly to Washington.

PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE TO MORTON.

President's Official Reply to the Letter of Resignation Praises the Retiring Cabinet Officer.

Washington, D. C., June 1.—Secretary Loeb today made public at the White house the correspondence which passed between the president and Secretary Morton concerning the latter's resignation as secretary of the navy. It follows:

Navy Department, Washington, D. C., May 31.—My Dear Mr. President: I hereby tender my resignation as secretary of the navy and hope that you will accept it, to take effect July 1, 1905.

Business opportunities now present themselves to me which, in justice to myself and my family, I cannot fail to take advantage of. I have keenly enjoyed the work in the navy department and I want to thank you for the great consideration you have always shown me. I shall always consider it a great honor to have been identified with your administration. PAUL MORTON.

The president's reply was as follows:

White House, Washington, D. C., June 1.—My Dear Mr. Secretary: In accepting your resignation I wish to thank you for yielding to my wishes by remaining so long in the cabinet. When I asked you to enter the public service I knew the sacrifice that it would entail, and you at that time stated positively that you could not remain in the cabinet more than a few months and would have to leave on March 4. I thank you for having, however reluctantly, agreed with me that it was your duty to round out an entire year of service.

Your leaving is a source of sincere regret to every man interested in the United States navy, and I do not know an officer or man of that navy who fails to share in that regret. I cannot state too strongly my appreciation of the services you have rendered, or the high standard you have consistently maintained, and the way in which you have kept the navy, both in its personnel and material, up to the standard. Your work has been emphatically work for the entire nation, and I congratulate our people that they are able to get such a type of public servant. THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

TELL OF BRIBERY BEHIND STRIKES.

Employers Charge Offer Was Made by Teamsters' Heads to Quit for Cash.

Young Says R. J. Thorne Tried to Buy Strike Against Sears, Roebuck & Co.

himself," said Mr. Mayer. "Graeme Stewart was with me the night that Shea and Reed conferred with me. I made no statement of any such import."

Bribes a Thing of the Past.

The attorney then plunged into a discussion of the general charges of the union officials that employers had offered bribes for the settlement of strikes.

"Suppose it be true," he said, "and I have no doubt that it is, that some of the teamsters' officials, in times gone by, sought and received bribes and dealt in strikes as a commodity; trafficked in them as the butcher buys or sells meat. Such rumors are old and have often come to the ears of the public. If such be the truth, so much the worse for the teamster officials.

"No one has condemned or can condemn more severely such crooked and criminal transactions than has the Employers' association. In fact, one of the main reasons for the formation of that association was and is to prevent such practices. The association has certainly succeeded and the present strike is the climax of its success in that direction. Does any one believe that if the Employers' association and the express companies had been willing to buy their peace that there would now be any strike.

Like Meeting a Holdup Man.

"If it be true that in past years some particular individual or company has been compelled to pay tribute to teamster officials for the purpose of preventing a strike, such a situation is precisely like that of a person meeting a holdup man or having to contend against a certain class of domestic blackmail. It often is impossible for an individual to stand up against such microbes. To fight them would not infrequently result in commercial or social death.

"Therefore the Employers' association was formed, and by reason of its collective strength it will wipe out such vice. In doing so it will be performing a great blessing not only to the employers but to the honest rank and file of the teamsters. I do not think the outside public can fully appreciate the moral, civic, and business good which the unselfish members of the Employers' association and the express companies are doing at a great expense to themselves of time and money."

"What about the Anheuser-Busch strike?" Mr. Mayer was asked. He is counsel for the Chicago and Milwaukee Brewers' association, which is charged with having instigated the strike against the outside concern.

"I have nothing to say—ask Fritz Sontag," he replied.

"I know of no sum of money being paid to call off the strike against us," said Mr. Sontag. "I never had a conference with Mr. Young and only know him by sight."

Involves Driscoll and Thorne.

The case made by Young, involving Thorne and J. C. Driscoll in an effort to secure a strike against Sears, Roebuck & Co., interested the grand jury most. Thorne himself will be summoned before the jury today to give his side of the story. Assistant State's Attorney Fake said the jury was determined to get at the truth of the charge, which amounts to a criminal conspiracy and is a misdemeanor within the statute of limitations. The penalty is from one to five years in the penitentiary or a $2,000 fine or both.

Young, who formerly was president of the Teamsters' National union, told the story to the jury. He was a willing witness in all that related to his testimony against Thorne and Driscoll. He told details of the offer, saying that it was made to him in ten $1,000 bills that Thorne had handed to Driscoll. He said Shea was with him when the offer was made.

Threats Bring Out Details.

When the witness was asked to give the exact time and place of the meeting, or the names of the two other union officials who were present, he balked, and it was not before he was threatened with punishment for contempt of court that he told the jury all it wanted to know.

The place where the alleged conspiracy was discussed is said to have been a road house in one of Chicago's suburbs, where the union men were taken in Thorne's automobile. Hugh McGee, president of the truck drivers' local, and James B. Barry, business agent of the express drivers, are understood to have been the other two union officials. McGee will be a witness today before the grand jury. Driscoll has fled from Chicago. Barry is in New York.

Young Tells of Bribe Offer.

Young was before the grand jury on three separate occasions during the day. This is substantially the story he related to the jury:

"In September, 1903, sixty days after Shea was elected president of the teamsters' organization, he and I and two other union men met Thorne and Driscoll.

Thorne was president of the associated teaming interests and Driscoll was secretary. Driscoll and Thorne both were close to the teamsters on that account.

"At that meeting Thorne made us union men an offer of $10,000 if we would call a strike against Sears, Roebuck & Co. I don't remember Thorne's exact language, but the gist of what he said was that Sears, Roebuck & Co. were practically the only competitors of Montgomery Ward & Co. in the mail order business, and that if a strike of thirty days was declared against the firm it would give him an opportunity to get back a lot of business his house had lost and to circularize the customers of his competitors. He asserted Sears, Roebuck & Co. were making inroads on his territory, and he was considerably worked up over it."

Sees the $10,000 Counted Out.

"The conversation lasted about an hour and toward the end Thorne counted out ten $1,000 bills and pushed them over to Driscoll and Driscoll offered them to Shea, who promptly refused to take the money. Driscoll handed the money back to Thorne and the meeting broke up.

"Thorne's course subsequently resulted in breaking up the associated teaming interests and the board of arbitration, composed of seven teamsters and seven employers."

"Where was this meeting?" Young was asked.

"I don't care to tell," his reply is reported to have been. "If I did, Thorne and Driscoll would be getting out alibis. On that account also I don't wish at this time to give the exact date of the meeting. I'd rather not give the names of the other two union men who were there."

"Are you afraid it will incriminate you?" Mr. Fake asked.

"No, but it might get them into trouble."

Story Stirs the Grand Jurors.

Young was allowed to leave the room, but was directed to remain within call. The jurors had a conference. Some of them were of the impression that the former labor leader was telling a fictitious story. They pointed to certain discrepancies between his yarn and one of similar import related the day before by Shea.

"Young's refusal to give up the names of the other two witnesses or tell where the meeting occurred may be due to the fact that this is a madeup story," several of the jurors said, including Foreman McCormick.

"He can be made to tell," said Assistant State's Attorney Fake.

Young had been telling things outside the jury room meanwhile. To one person he said the meeting he had told the grand jury about was held in one of two downtown offices—he wouldn't say whether in Driscoll's or Thorne's.

In another part of the city another labor leader who was understood to have been at the meeting was giving out a story to the effect that the meeting was held at a road house where the party had been conveyed in Mr. Thorne's automobile.

Young was recalled to the jury. He again refused to give up the details that were lacking. The jury and the unwilling witness then went up to Judge Barnes' court. McGee and McCarthy, business agent of the Truck Drivers' union, who had been waiting in the outer office of the jury room, went along. McGee looked ill. He was worrying about Young.

"What did Shea mean by giving out that dope?" inquired McGee.

Witness Is Taken Into Court.

"Here's a witness," explained Attorney Fake to Judge Barnes, "who refuses to answer essential questions, although he admits that he does not fear they will incriminate him. We want to know if that is not a cause for contempt of court."

"Yes, I am, too, afraid that I will incriminate myself," spoke Young, who was perspiring. "I want to consult a lawyer," and he looked around as if in search of one.

"You didn't say so in the jury room," said Attorney Fake. "This man, your honor, told us about a meeting where a bribe was alleged to have been offered. He named himself and three other persons as having been present. Then he declined to tell us where the meeting was or who two other witnesses were."

After some more verbal sparring Judge Barnes delivered this opinion:

"If the meeting took place in Cook county, and if the witness already has mentioned the names of four persons, who were present, he cannot incriminate himself by answering the questions of the jury, and he is directed to answer them under penalty of being cited for contempt of court."

The witness and the jury went back, and after a few minutes Young delivered the desired information.

Thorne Denies the Charge.

In regard to this Thorne-Sears-Roebuck charge brought by Young, Robert J. Thorne said last night:

"The statement is absolutely absurd. The relations between Montgomery Ward & Co. and Sears, Roebuck & Co. have been and are of the most cordial character. I never made any money offer to any union official. Further than that I do not care to discuss the matter."

"We know nothing of the charge that an attempt was made to bribe union officials to call a strike at our establishment, except what we have read in the papers," said Albert H. Loeb, secretary of Sears, Roebuck & Co. "It goes without saying that we do not believe a word of it. We refuse to believe that any reputable business man would stoop to such practices. In particular, we do not believe that Mr. Thorne or any person connected with Montgomery Ward & Co. would employ such methods to injure a business competitor. Our relations with that concern always have been of the pleasantest."

Driscoll Hastens from City.

Driscoll, who is accused of having a share in this same Thorne case, left Chicago last week, according to the statement of his wife. At her home, 891 Millard street, Mrs. Driscoll said that she was in ignorance of the whereabouts of her husband.

"Idon't know where he is, and if I did I wouldn't tell," she said. "I don't know when he will come back."

"What inspired Mr. Driscoll to leave the city on his indefinite trip?" Mrs. Driscoll was asked.

"Business," was her answer.

"Did not Shea's and Young's accusations have something to do with Mr. Driscoll's departure?"

"I know nothing about Mr. Driscoll's affairs," replied the woman. "He never talks business at home. All I know is that he always worked hard for his money."

It was then suggested to Mrs. Driscoll that her husband might be forced to return to Chicago and tell all he knows about certain transactions.

"He may tell things that will hurt some people who do not expect to be hit," was her angry reply.

Painters engaged at Driscoll's residence say that they have not seen him this week.

Young's Charge Against Peabody.

The Thorne-Sears-Roebuck case was not the only thing Young said he told the grand jury about. As stated in the foregoing, he also tried to involve F. S. Peabody in a "forced strike." Before Young had been given his orders to shut off all information as to what he testified to in the grand jury room he told reporters about the Peabody matter.

"I have documentary proof," said he, "that the Peabody Coal company was responsible for the strike of the coal teamsters and office force against the office buildings in 1903. Driscoll acted as a go-between, and he got $200 a month for it.

"It was represented to me that if the coal teamsters would strike against the office buildings using fuel gas in the summer time 200 more local teamsters would have employment, from 1,000 to 2,000 more miners, and 50 per cent more stationary firemen, and the strike was called. I have evidence that Francis Peabody paid strike benefits amounting to nearly $10,000 to the window washers, elevator men, and janitors while the strike lasted.

"I also about this time found out that Francis Peabody was behind the movement to supplant West Virginia coal by coal furnished by his company for large city contracts. I went before Mayor Harrison and protested against the use of 'unfair' Virginia coal—on account of a strike in the east. I found out later that I was working in the interest of the Peabody Coal company."

Mr. Peabody Telephones Denial.

Mr. Peabody was in Carbondale last night, but will return to Chicago this morning, and will appear before the grand jury if desired. Over the long distance telephone he made a reply to Young's charges.

"The charge insinuated against me is utterly false," he said. "I never took any step calculated to bring about the substitution of coal for gas. I never made any proposition of this or any similar kind to Al Young. I cannot understand the man's motives in making such statements.

"I was subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury yesterday. I did not know what they wanted of me, but I went to the Criminal Court building and found a considerable number of witnesses ahead of me. I then told the assistant state's attorney that I ought to be present at a lawsuit in which I was involved in connection with my mines in southern Illinois. He told me to go ahead, and I promised to be back on Friday. I am ready to go before the grand jury and answer any questions they put to me."

Fieldstack Has New Version.

Some light was thrown on this case later by Charles Fieldstack, a labor leader, connected with the incident. Fieldstack, however, did not appear before the grand jury. His story was:

"There was a strike of office building janitors, of which organization I am the business agent, and we wanted the assistance of the coal drivers," said Fieldstack. "Finally, Driscoll went to Young, and, I am told, arranged to shake down the building managers. Young then was the president of the National Teamsters' union and also business agent of the coal teamsters. He agreed to call a strike.

Strike Aimed at Thomas C. Hall.

"The strike was directed principally against Thomas C. Hall, president of the Building Managers' association, and his building, the Manhattan, was effectually shut off from coal supplies. The strike lasted four days, at the end of which time the building owners sued for peace. Without consulting me Young came around and said that everything had been arranged and that our troubles were to be submitted to arbitration.

"Young never said on what terms the coal drivers had been satisfied, but shortly afterward every big building in the city was tearing out its fuel gas apparatus and buying coal. Originally the strike belonged to the building janitors, but the coal drivers' union appropriated it for its own."

President Shea, when told this story, said that it was correct. He charged the responsibility for intimidating the building owners upon Driscoll, however, and did not mention the connection which Young may have had with the deal.

President Shea was almost as active as Young in the charge making before the grand jury and in telling of it afterward. He told the story about the Anheuser-Busch strike, which Manager Sontag has denied in the foregoing. This was what Shea said:

"The Chicago and Milwaukee Brewers' association was behind this strike. It was called to embarrass a concern that did not belong to the trust. Levy Mayer was attorney for the trust, and acted as a go-between. The strike was called off after a week, but not before it had cost the Anheuser-Busch company several thousand dollars."

Three of the Men Mentioned by Union Leaders as Attempting Bribery in Strike Matters.

R. J. THORNE JOHN C. DRISCOLL FRANCIS S. PEABODY

Shea declared that Manager Sontag of the Anheuser-Busch company had paid $5,000 to the teamsters to call the strike off, and said that he had the information from Levy Mayer at the Auditorium Annex.

"Afterwards," said Shea, "Mr. Mayer tried to swear me to secrecy."

Tells of Another "Deal."

While he was in the mood Shea told another story about a "deal" between the City Railway company and the coal teamsters.

"During the Chicago City railway strike in 1903," he said, "the coal teamsters went out on a sympathetic strike. Manager McCulloch offered to pay me $10,000 if they would go back to work. I was called to a meeting of the Associated Teamsters' office. Harry G. Selfridge and Driscoll were there, and tried to make me see that it would be to my interest if the strike was called off, but I couldn't see it that way. Driscoll followed me out into the hall and offered my $10,000.

"Another thing that Driscoll was mixed up in also took place in the fall of 1903 when he offered $20,000 if the teamsters would declare a strike against The Fair store, an active competitor of Montgomery Ward & Co. Daniel Furman, secretary of the Truck Drivers, can corroborate this."

Shea was asked why, the present strike was declared against Montgomery Ward & Co., and he replied:

"If it had been declared against Sears, Roebuck & Co. it would have involved the Chicago Team Owners' association, and this was what we wished to avoid, as it would have resulted in calling out several thousand men. Thomas Hughes, contractor for Sears, Roebuck & Co., is a member of the Team Owners' association, and if his men had been called out the mail order house could have secured other teams without much trouble. Henry Hough, who hauled for Montgomery Ward & Co., was independent of the team owners, and, in addition to Montgomery Ward & Co., had a good many teams of their own."

Other Witnesses Before Jury.

There were witnesses before the grand jury aside from Shea and Young. C. G. Vaughan, proprietor of the Continental hotel, and E. A. Frost, owner of the Windsor-Clifton, told how they had been threatened with the boycotting of their hotels if they did not send away strike breakers quartered with them during the beginning of the strike.

At the close of the day Attorney Fake said:

"There has been considerable evidence given today along the lines of conspiracy, blacklisting, and 'graft,' but nothing conclusive. The employers were unable to bring any evidence that any graft had been solicited or paid in the present strike, and there has been no evidence of blacklisting.

"The most important evidence has come from Albert Young, and was the outcome of other testimony along the same line by Cornelius P. Shea. The two stories conflict."

Thomas J. Cavanagh, secretary of the Chicago Team Owners' association, was served with a subpoena last night to appear before the grand jury today. He will testify in regard to "graft" and the relations between Driscoll and Thorne, secretary and president respectively, of the defunct Associated Teaming interests.

Says He Was Offered Bribe.

Emmet Flood, general organizer for the American Federation of Labor, caused a stir when, in the presence of a number of union officials, but not before the grand jury, he declared that an effort had been made to bribe him during the stockyards strike. Frank Ray, business agent for the Commission Teamsters' union, he declared, had offered him $500 if he would put the motion at a meeting of the federation that the strike be declared off.

When Ray learned of the charge against him he attempted to find Flood, but was unable to do so.

"I am glad that these matters are being brought to light, as other startling developments soon will follow, and the men who are so glib in making charges will be shown in their true light," said Ray. "Of course, there is nothing to this charge, and I can only say that Flood lied."

McCulloch Denies Shea's Charge.

St. Louis, Mo., June 1.—[Special.]—When shown a telegram from Chicago charging him with offering Cornelius Shea $10,000 to call off the teamsters' strike in connection with the City Railway, in Chicago in 1903, Robert McCulloch, now manager of the United Railways of St. Louis, said:

"I don't remember of ever seeing that fellow Shea and would not know him if I did. It is a fact that we had a strike among the coal teamsters while I was manager of the Chicago City railway, but the statement that I made Shea a proposition or any one else is absolutely without foundation.

"While I never made such an offer or knew of any other official doing so, I would not be opposed to doing such a thing if I believed it would prevent trouble and possibly bloodshed. But as to Mr. Shea's charges against me you can say that they are without the first principles of truth."

Union Leaders Interested in Charges and Countercharges.

C. P. SHEA ALBERT YOUNG

HUGH McGEE JERRY McCARTHY

SHEA WOULD "JAIL GRAFTERS."

Labor Leader Defines His Position in a Meeting of the Cab Drivers' Union.

President Shea defined his position on "graft" and the strike in general before the meeting of the Cab and Carriage Drivers' union at 145 Randolph street last night.

"Every teamster found guilty of grafting I want sent to jail," he said. "I want every employer guilty of grafting sent to jail also. I told Robert J. Thorne once that I would send him there, and I intend to tell all I know for the purpose of landing him.

"If there is any employer who can say a word against me let him say it now, or forever hold his peace. Either I am going to jail or I will put some of them there. I will make good on this, all right, and it will not be a workingman who goes to jail, either. There is no one who can refute the statements I have made.

"I do not know what the department stores or the express companies are going to do, but I never will go back on any union man who struck. The hardest proposition we have to confront is these express drivers. Even if it breaks up that union and one or two others, the teamsters never will go back on the strikers."

CAR MEN SEEK NEW CONTRACT.

Union Traction Term Ends and There Is Some Strike Talk Heard.

Another big strike—a tieup of the Union Traction lines—is possible unless there is a satisfactory adjustment of differences with the 5,000 employés of the company. The men now are working without a contract, the wage agreement having expired yesterday. It is expected that a strike, in any event, will be averted.

Employés on the Union Traction lines are willing to accept for the coming year the same pay and working schedules which have been in effect for two years, but they are seeking to bring the wages of the motormen and conductors on the Consolidated company's electric lines up to a par with that of the others. This would mean an increase from 23 to 24 cents an hour.

Representatives of both sides are trying to avoid trouble, in view of the present disturbed labor conditions in the city. General Organizer Clarence O. Pratt of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employés is in Chicago directing the negotiations with the receivers.

At a meeting of the receivers, including James H. Eckels and Marshall E. Sampsell, with Manager Roach yesterday the new wage demands of the union were discussed. An answer will be given to the union tomorrow.

The company, it is said, is not disposed to grant any concession to the employés for the coming year, and it is expected that the proposal of the union will be returned without ratification. But it is not thought trouble will follow.

"I do not look for trouble," said General Organizer Pratt. "Both sides are going to be fair, and I predict an amicable adjustment of the differences, which after all are not of the greatest importance. There is no possibility of a strike; at any rate, not within the next week."

STRIKE BLAMED FOR A PART OF INCREASE OF HOMICIDES.

Coroner's Report Shows Twenty-three Deaths of That Kind During May and Only Twelve in April.

During last month 327 deaths were reported to the coroner. Following is a comparison of the number of violent deaths from four causes during the last two months:

	May.	April.
Homicides	23	12
Railroad accidents	21	19
Street car accidents	21	13
Suicides	46	40

Of the suicides 13 were by gas, 12 by shooting, 9 by poison, 6 by hanging, 2 by drowning, 4 by cutting throats. One person was killed by sunstroke, one by an automobile, and one by a cab. Seven cases of homicide were due to strike violence.

Coroner Hoffman said he would look into the causes for the increased number of deaths from street car accidents.

SCRAMBLE FOR SHEA'S OFFICE.

Several Candidates for Presidency of the Teamsters' Organization Enter the Field.

Several opponents to President Shea who aspire to the headship of the teamsters' organization entered the field yesterday. Among the names mentioned were those of Edward Gould and Michael F. Casey, members of the executive board, and A. J. Reed, secretary of the furniture drivers' union.

Shea's chances for reëlection received an impetus during the day when three local unions—the milk, hay and grain, and the express and delivery drivers—instructed their delegates to vote for the present leader.

The national convention will be held in Philadelphia in August.

CALLS FOR MORE VOLUNTEERS.

Chief O'Neill Wants an Additional 200 Policemen, as Many Recruits Have Deserted.

Chief of Police O'Neill decided yesterday to call for 200 additional volunteers, in order to meet the increasing demand for escorts for the wagons involved in the strike. Out of those enrolled within the last week 157 have resigned, dissatisfied with their work. Any able bodied citizen of the state who applies will be accepted. Negroes will not be discriminated against.

ISSUE NOW FORCED BY TEAM OWNERS

At Their Request the Mayor Arranges a Joint Meeting with Drivers.

COL. REND WANTS ACTION.

Believes Strike Can Be Ended, but It May Spread by Union's Stand.

Believing that the "psychological moment" for peace in the great teamsters' war has come, Col. William P. Rend, leader of the minority faction in the Chicago Team Owners' association, yesterday took steps which may lead to the end of the strike—or to its spread.

As chairman of the special committee of the Joint Team Owners' association, appointed at the meeting in the Great Northern hotel Wednesday night, Col. Rend called on Mayor Dunne. He asked Mr. Dunne to request that the Teamsters' Joint council send an authorized committee to meet with the team owners' committee in the mayor's office at 10:30 o'clock this morning. The mayor issued the call. The teamsters' leaders said the committee would appear.

The meeting is expected to bring quick action. The team owners, having been instructed by their organization to produce results within five days, will demand that the dispute between the teamsters and themselves be submitted to arbitration at once. A definite answer to this will be demanded. If the demand is refused within twenty-four hours a call for a massmeeting of all team owners and representatives of other firms now on the "ragged edge" of the strike will be sent out. At the meeting, in all probability, the question of a lockout will be put to a vote.

Strike Lags Otherwise.

While the team owners were active, the strike, on lines other than the legal and criminal side, did not develop rapidly. A committee of the teamsters visited the Boston store and were told that the store would continue to stand with the Employers' association.

The committee will visit other State street stores today.

The Parmalee Transfer company is expected to lock out its union men for refusing to do their work as ordered. A few more lumber drivers "walked out" yesterday.

In regard to his plan for the team owners to force matters with the drivers, Col. Rend said:

"The time for peace has come. The passions of both sides have subsided and calm consideration of the questions at issue only can have one result—the submitting of the dispute to a board of arbitration.

"I asked Mayor Dunne to call this meeting because our committee has tried for weeks to induce the strikers to meet with them, and has failed. It is time they know we are in earnest."

Committee Backs Up Rend.

The men behind Col. Rend are Joseph Stockton, John Shannon, Arthur Dixon, and J. C. Pennoyer. They form the committee which will meet with the teamsters this morning.

The question specifically which will be submitted to the union for a subject to arbitrate is whether the drivers have broken contracts in refusing to deliver goods to houses affected by the strike. Recently the question has become one of consent to arbitrating any point.

Twice the original proposition has been taken before the joint council, and twice it has been rejected. The majority of the members of the association yielded to the teamsters to avoid complications.

In the meeting Wednesday night, however, the storm broke. The men who had been fretting at the dictation of the strike leaders rallied their forces and demanded some definite action. The recent accusations of the employers that the team owners were in secret alliance with the drivers gave impetus to the minority movement.

Some for Immediate Lockout.

Speeches were made favoring an immediate lockout of the drivers and a combining of forces with the employers in order to bring the strikers to terms. The movement even went so far as to force a vote on the lockout proposition, but it was defeated.

The committee having the strike negotiations in charge was accused of dilatory tactics and removed from power. Two other committees were appointed, one to deal with Local 705 of the union, and the other to take up the problem of arbitration.

The associations in this movement are the Chicago Team Owners, the Coal Team Owners, the Express Movers and Van Team Owners, the Sprinkling Wagon Team Owners. More than 8,000 teamsters are employed by the combined associations.

Teamsters Make Peace Offer.

An offer of peace was held out during the day by the teamsters to the Boston store. It met with a rebuff, the managers of the store informing the teamsters of their unflinching allegiance to the Employers' association in the present strike.

The failure of the mission was reported last night to the teamsters' joint council, but the committee was instructed to make calls upon other State street managers today. The overtures of the teamsters consisted of a plan to call off the strike against one firm at a time. The conditions were that the men on strike should be reinstated and that nonunion drivers should make deliveries to other strike affected houses.

A. J. Reed of the furniture drivers was the chairman of the teamsters' peace committee, and the other members were Del Stevens and P. W. Rietz of the department store drivers and John McCulloch of the express drivers. The committee called upon Manager Blaufelt of the Boston store in the afternoon.

The teamsters explained their plan, but it did not appeal to Mr. Blaufelt, who referred them to the Employers' association. Later the union men said the Boston store management had given them assurances that all strikers would be reinstated when peace finally comes.

President Shea expressed his unqualified disapproval of the basis for settlement which had been offered.

"We will call off the strike against one firm or all, but only on the condition that the union drivers are not compelled to do the work of any other union teamsters who may be on strike," said Shea.

The only reported addition to the strike list during the day was the walkout of eight drivers employed at the Evanston branch lumber yard of Charles H. Mears & Co.

The question is: Are you willing to buy and wear "mercerized cotton" clothes, or do you want and think you get all-wool?

Every time you buy clothes you answer that question, and the dealer who sells the clothes knows what your answer is, whether you do or not. The mere fact that you take the "mercerized cotton" cheat is answer enough.

But you can always tell what you're getting if you choose. Ask your dealer to tell you plainly; or find our label in the clothes. That label tells the truth: a small thing to look for, a big thing to find.

UNION MAN IS PUNISHED.

JUDGE KOHLSAAT SENTENCES ANOTHER FOR CONTEMPT.

Michael McNicholls Is Found to Have Been Too Active in Strike Disturbances in Violation of the Injunctional Order Secured by the United States Express Company—Court Hears Story of Shooting of Eddie Wright as Result of a Riot.

Judge Kohlsaat yesterday afternoon heard the story of the shooting of Eddie Wright, a boy victim of the teamsters' strike riots, and he ended the session of court by sentencing Michael McNicholls to three months in the county jail for contempt in violating the injunction order secured by the United States Express company.

Laurence McNicholls, a brother, and James Lennon, two of the sixty men cited for contempt, were discharged, but the other McNicholls was held for cause. "Thirty days in jail" was the original sentence, but the court announced later it had been changed to ninety days, but that enforcement of sentence would be suspended until the defendant is again brought before the court. Practically he may have his liberty so long as he does not infringe on the order of the federal judge.

Finds McNicholls Was Active.

McNicholls' lawyers attempted to secure his absolute liberty by telling the court that if they had an opportunity they would produce physicians' certificates to show that his hands had been injured in an accident and it would be impossible for him to partake in any acts of violence such as were subscribed in the complaint. Judge Kohlsaat, however, remarked that the evidence seemed to show conclusively that McNicholls had been more active in the strike disturbances than the law allowed.

"It seems to me," said the court, "that this McNicholls has been more active in this strike proposition than usually is called for on the part of disinterested parties, and, no matter what the condition of his hands may have been, he seemed to have accomplished certain acts which bring him under the jurisdiction of this court."

While it is not accepted that the court's action yesterday establishes any precedent as to the others of the sixty men cited for contempt, union sympathizers were disposed to take it as a victory for their side.

Tell of Wright Shooting.

Details of the shooting of the Wright boy were related to the court by express drivers and guards, as well as by neighbors and an aunt of the boy. There was a discrepancy between the testimony of the men who were on the wagon and those in the street at the time of the shooting. John A. Serber, deputy sheriff, was identified by several witnesses as the man who fired the shot which wounded the boy. He denied the allegation, as did another guard who was on the wagon at the time. Serber said that his revolver had not been tampered with nor discharged since he had it, and that the cartridges in it while he was on the stand were the same that were in the chambers when he was taken to the police station a few weeks ago. John Nichols, another guard, testified that it was he who fired the shot at the Wright boy.

"It was necessary to do something to protect ourselves," said Nichols. "There were a lot of boys and young men around the wagon and calling us all kinds of names. Bricks and stones were thrown, and as we drove away I fired a shot from the revolver. I didn't see whom it struck, but we had to do something to get out of that mess."

Sherman Hearing Is Delayed.

Pending the matters now before Judges Kohlsaat and Grosscup, it is probable that the preliminary hearing which has been conducted before Master in Chancery Sherman will not again be taken up until the federal court questions are settled. At 11 o'clock this morning, Attorney D. K. Tone is scheduled to go before Judge Grosscup on an application for a writ of supersedeas for Donahue and Mulligan, the two union men sentenced to jail by Judge Kohlsaat for contempt of court in refusing to answer questions in the Sherman hearing.

LEWIS AND CLARK EXPOSITION OPEN

President Roosevelt Presses Key and Sets Wheels in Motion 3,000 Miles Away.

GALA DAY AT PORTLAND.

Entire Pacific Coast Joins in the Inaugural Ceremonies of the Fair.

Portland, Ore., June 1.—[Special.]—The Lewis and Clark exposition is open. President Roosevelt, standing in the east room of the White house at Washington, pressed a telegraphic key. The electric current leaped across the continent in an instant and started the machinery, released hundreds of flags, and fired the first of a salute of 100 guns.

Then, as the guns were roaring a sonorous accompaniment to the music of "The Star Spangled Banner," played by a hundred massed bands, the vast crowds raised an exultant shout. Cheer after cheer resounded through the grounds. All the bells and whistles in Portland took up the noisy refrain, and for fifteen minues the pandemonium seemed to shake the Pacific coast. The exposition, upon which the people of the northwest had expended $5,000,000, was open.

The signal given by President Roosevelt came after a great military and civic parade had passed through the streets of Portland and after an hour of speechmaking at the exposition grounds.

Scenes at the Opening.

The exercises were participated in by the President of the United States and his personal representative, Vice President Fairbanks, Speaker Cannon, and representatives of the state and of the house of representatives of the national congress, of the army and the navy, together with the governors of the states of California, Idaho, Washington, and Oregon; and multitudes of people.

The prelude to the actual opening ceremonies at the exposition consisted of the parade, a grand pageant of militarism, led by Vice President Fairbanks, the congressional party, visiting governors, and other dignitaries and the exposition officials. With martial music constantly playing, this immediate forerunner of the actuality was greeted with continued cheering along the entire line of march through the business and residential sections of Portland to the fair grounds. As the parade swung into the grounds the vice presidential, congressional, and fair parties were detached from the column and were escorted by the cavalry between long lines of cheering thousands to the New York state building.

Everything being in readiness, at 11:45 o'clock Vice President Fairbanks and party emerged from the New York building, receiving the vice presidential salute of eighteen guns. Flanked on either side by a line of troops, the party walked to the speakers' stand. Promptly at noon President H. W. Goode of the exposition announced the beginning of the ceremonies, which meant the realization of Portland's dream.

The Right Rev. David H. Moore, bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church, stepping to the front of the platform, raised his hands and invoked the divine blessing.

Oregon's Welcome to All.

Then President Goode delivered his address, welcoming the people of the "Old Oregon" country and the people of the United States as the guests of the exposition.

Following President Goode, Gov. George Chamberlain of the state of Oregon congratulated the people of the state and the city of Portland upon the achievements of an event so notable in the history of the city and state. Jefferson Myers, president of the Lewis and Clark centennial commission, for the state of Oregon, spoke in behalf of the commission, and George H. Williams, the mayor of the city of Portland, whose eighty-two years of life have not sapped the vigor of his youth nor detracted from his ability as a public speaker, responded. Addresses were made by Clarence D. Clark of Wyoming, representing the United States senate, and James A. Tawney on behalf of the house of representatives. The congratulations of the various departments of the United States government were expressed by H. A. Taylor, first assistant secretary of the treasury and chairman of the United States government board.

Joseph G. Cannon, speaker of the house of representatives, in his old apt way brought out the greatness of the exposition and the sentiment for which it stands. The noted humor of the speaker was several times made apparent during his discourse, the orator being obliged to cease talking several times to permit the hand clapping to die down.

Vice President Fairbanks' Address.

At this period of the program the steadily increasing enthusiasm of the multitude found expression in a tremendous cheering for Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks. When he was at last able to make himself heard above the noise of the greeting he delivered his address, saying in part:

"William McKinley, one of the greatest and most beloved of Americans, well said in his last speech that 'expositions are the timekeepers of progress.' They denote our growth in trade and commerce, in industry and knowledge, and in the arts and sciences. They assemble the fruits of the genius and endeavor of the people of the country and the world. Each succeeding exposition finds us occupying a position of advance.

"The wizards of the laboratory, the genii of the shop, the captains of industry and commerce go forward, breaking down the barriers of ignorance, unlocking the secrets of nature, enlarging the field of human effort and opportunity, and making the age in which we live the mightiest in all of the annals of the human race. Not only that; they give abundant assurance that we stand but at the morning of an incomparable grandeur for the American people.

"We must have a vigilant care for our increasing interests in the orient. We must cultivate relations of amity with the millions who dwell beyond the Pacific. There lies a field of vast trade which we have long desired to possess, and which we have but slowly and inadequately gained. Our foothold is steadily increasing. We are destined to play a more important part than heretofore in the commerce in and beyond the Pacific. We must not underrate the commercial opportunities which invite us to the orient.

"The future, indeed, is full of golden promise, and we have faith to believe that you and your children will possess and enjoy the rich inheritance of time and opportunity which are, of right, yours and theirs."

Waiting for the Signal.

As Vice President Fairbanks closed the presidential salute of twenty-one guns was the signal to the impatient throng that the moment of the opening of the exposition was at hand. Upon a telegraph operator in the speaker's stand the eyes of the multitude were riveted, and while the guns were still booming, the movement of his hand at the key was a sufficient indication to the watchers that President Roosevelt was being advised that all was in readiness to receive the signal from the White house which would formally open the exposition.

Then followed a wait of several minutes, marked by an impressive stillness, during which eye and ear were strained to catch the first move of the operator's hand or a sound from the telegraph instrument. Suddenly out of the quiet came a faint click, President Roosevelt's signal, and Oregon's greatest hour had come. The exposition was open.

In the evening a formal dinner in the New York state building was given by the exposition directorate in honor of the vice president and congressional parties. Later in the evening a public reception was given in the pavilion annex to the New York building.

Fair in Picturesque Setting.

The exposition grounds cover 402 acres adjoining the principal resident district of Portland, on the gentle slopes and terraces overlooking Guild's lake and the Willamette river. Of the gross area, 180 acres are on the mainland, including natural forest park and landscape gardens, while sixty acres form a peninsula in the lake. Guild's lake is a natural fresh water body, 220 acres in extent, separated from the river by a narrow span of land. The grounds are twenty minutes' ride by electric car from the center of the city, and have been pronounced by competent authority as, scenically, the finest exposition site in the world. Five snow peaks in the distant mountain ranges are in plain view from all parts of the ground.

Ceremony at the White House.

Washington, D. C., June 1.—In the presence of a distinguished assemblage, including all the members of the cabinet except Secretary Hay, associate justices of the United States Supreme court, members of the diplomatic corps, and invited guests, President Roosevelt, at 4:22 o'clock this afternoon, pressed the telegraphic key which sounded the chimes in the government building and started the machinery of the Lewis and Clark exposition. The ceremony took place in the east room of the White house.

Standing near the stand bearing the telegraph key, President Roosevelt addressed the assemblage briefly as follows:

"The exposition marks the feat of exploration a century ago which was the first step in the expansion of this republic westward across the continent, the most important step in changing a straggling line of seaboard commonwealths into a mighty continental nation. It was one of the epochs of our history, and it is eminently fitting that it should be commemorated by the exposition at Portland as is now being done.

"As the civilized world has spread, the nations of the world have come ever closer and closer together. When the civilized world was grouped around the Mediterranean, when the Atlantic was an unknown sea, the peoples around the Mediterranean were sundered from one another by time, by manners, by habits of thought, to a degree which we can now only imperfectly appreciate.

"I, here in Washington, start the exposition in Portland, and the same forces that have knit together the different sections of this great country, that have rendered it possible to keep our nation more emphatically one in spirit now that it has spread over the continent than was the case when it occupied but a small fraction of the continent, will, I firmly believe, bring the nations of the earth ever closer together and enable us all to work together in peace and in harmony for the future of mankind."

At the conclusion of his address the president said: "I now open the Lewis and Clark exposition," leaning forward at the same instant and pressing the gold key which sounded the chimes and started the machinery 3,000 miles away. At the same instant the first gun of the national salute was fired on the White house lot.

Congratulatory messages between President Roosevelt and the exposition officers were exchanged, after which the president and Mrs. Roosevelt extended cordial personal greetings to the assembled guests.

THIEF IN STRATFORD HOTEL STEALS $1,100 IN JEWELRY.

Apartments of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Morrow Entered While They Are at a Theater—Chauffeur Suspected.

Diamonds and jewelry valued at $1,100 were stolen on Saturday from the rooms in the Stratford hotel occupied by John C. Morrow of the brokerage firm of Charles G. Gates & Co. It did not become generally known until yesterday that the robbery had been committed. According to the police a chauffeur known as "Charlie," employed by Morrow, is suspected and search is being made for him. Mr. and Mrs. Morrow were attending a theater when the robbery was committed.

Three armed men attacked and robbed Joseph Schlar, 329 Twenty-fifth steet, of $10 and a gold watch valued at $40 at Twelfth and Clark streets shortly after 9 o'clock last night. He shouted for assistance and several persons went to his aid, but they were threatened and told to "move on."

Two men dragged William Jones, 5822 Superior street, Austin, down a stairway leading to an unoccupied basement near Halsted and West Monroe streets last evening, and after severely beating him robbed him of $9.

Through the arrest of John Hart the police believe they have broken up a gang which for the last two months has been operating in the downtown district. Hart, it is charged, was seen to steal a bolt of silk from the wagon of Edward Lasham & Co., 258 Franklin street. Sergeant Brouder found him hiding in a trunk in an unused basement at Market and Van Buren streets.

DEEP MYSTERY IN A CEMETERY.

Men Are Seen at Grave in Waukegan—Body of a Pioneer Is Missing.

Waukegan has a mystery centered in the old St. Mary's cemetery near the city. It had its beginning last Sunday night, when Erie Hollenbeck, a farmer, saw several men in the burial ground. They were frightened away by a light made by him.

The next day an investigation showed that the grave of Michael Starck, an early day merchant, who died in 1863, had been opened. The body, however, clearly had been removed years before.

A short distance from the cemetery a partly dug grave was found later.

The police were seeking yesterday to connect the mystery with the disappearance of Matilda Dabrata. She has not been seen since last Thursday.

CHURCH MEMBERS IN FIGHT OVER PASTOR'S RESIGNATION.

Men Resort to Fists and Women Faint in Philadelphia — Accused Minister Denies Charges and Case Undecided.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 1.—[Special.]—Jeers, threats, and fist fights between the men of the congregation, during which women screamed and left the room in hysterics, marked the annual meeting of the fashionable West Park Presbyterian church tonight, when the matter of the resignation of the pastor, the Rev. G. Grant Hopper, was brought up. Hopper is a graduate of Princeton.

Dissatisfaction having arisen among the elders of the church over the pastor's alleged actions nearly a year ago, he was asked to resign by members of the session, after having refused to consent to an investigation. This also he declined to do, and at a meeting of the men of the church, which he called, declared upon his knees that he was innocent of the charges brought against him. These charges were improper and immoral conduct.

Partisan feeling on both sides ran strong when members met this afternoon.

"I am innocent before God and you have voted your confidence in me," said the Rev. Mr. Hopper soon after the meeting began.

"If you are Christians keep quiet," came a woman's protest from the center of the room.

Meanwhile fist fights had started near the doors. Women fainting brought the men to their senses and the church finally was cleared. The resignation is still in abeyance.

SALOON BAR IN MURDER TRIAL.

Introduced in Court to Prove That Fritz Krueger Was Killed in Cold Blood.

The jury was completed and the taking of evidence began yesterday in the trial of John Nadolski, John Lawrence, and Frank Krueger for the murder of Fritz Krueger. The top of a saloon bar was exhibited in the court to prove to the jury that the killing of Krueger in Abe Rieger's saloon, 811 Robey street, was cold blooded.

Krueger lived at 404 Wabansia avenue. He, with several customers, was in Reiger's saloon when three men entered and ordered them to hold up their hands. Krueger refused and, it is said, he was shot dead by Lawrence.

Nadolski has already been convicted of having taken part in the robbery of Herman Elich in his saloon at 1218 Milwaukee avenue, Sept. 15, 1904.

DRIVER WHIPS UP HORSES, LEAVING INJURED BOY DYING.

Arthur Riccio, 6 Years Old, Run Over by Wagon While He Is Playing in De Koven Street.

Arthur Riccio, 6 years old, was run over by a wagon and fatally injured last evening while he was playing in front of his parents' residence, 149 De Koven street. One of his playmates ran and told the injured boy's mother. She found her son dying. The other children said it was a pop wagon which struck the boy, and the driver, instead of stopping after the accident, whipped up his horses.

Leo Goldstein, one of the boy's playmates, told the police who are investigating the case that he saw two pop wagons passing, but was unable to assert positively which one killed Riccio.

One of the wagons belonged to Morris Levinson, Morgan and West Twelfth streets, and the other to William Matejka, 682 West Nineteenth street. The drivers of both will be questioned by the police today.

STAKE BOAT WAS AWAY.

YACHTSMEN BITTER AT ARRANGEMENTS IN RACE.

German Warship Fails to Stay at Finishing Line While Racers Arrive, and Several Were Bewildered in Storm on Night of Arrival Off the Lizard—Committee Barely Sees Two Yachts Finish, Then Hastens Away to English Derby.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

THE LIZARD, June 1.—With the arrival of the American schooner Thistle at 12:44 p. m. today, the race for the Kaiser's cup is completed save for the arrival of the bark yacht Apache. Comment upon the miserable failure of arrangements here is made. On Monday the news of the sighting of the Atlantic found the race officials unprepared. Capt. Coerpet arrived hurriedly from London, Sir Alfred Birkbeck came later, while Lord Lonsdale and Mr. Robinson boarded the former's yacht Norseman.

The German gunboat Pfeil was most unsuitable for a stake boat. It is topheavy. Dreading the sea off The Lizard, it lay comfortably under the shelter of Falmouth harbor. If the wind had not fallen almost to a calm there would have been no boat to mark the finish line.

As it was, there was little time to spare. After the Atlantic had crossed the line the Pfeil, instead of remaining at its post, went to Church cove, where the officers had their dinner in comfort, and on Tuesday reached its position barely in time to witness the Hamburg pass.

Lord Lonsdale and Mr. Robinson did not remain to see the other yachts finish, but went to see the Derby.

When the Endymion arrived the Pfeil was not at its post, and fired the finishing gun several minutes after the official finish. Despite the signals that the other yachts soon would arrive it went to anchor at Church cove over night.

The Hildegarde, Sunbeam, and Fleur de Lys floundered about in the mist and storm, giving dozens of signals, absolutely bewildered by the absence of the stake boat.

Philadelphia Councils Withdraw Measure Giving Trust Control for 75 Years.

ESTIMATES CALLED FOR.

Mayor Weaver Figures on Sum Due Company if the City Exercises Its Option.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 1. —Without a dissenting vote, both branches of the city council today withdrew the ordinance authorizing the extension of the lease of the city gas works to the United Gas Improvement company for a period of seventy-five years, for which the company was to pay the city $25,000,000. The select council also unanimously confirmed Mayor Weaver's appointments of Col. Sheldon Potter as director of public safety and A. Lincoln Acker as director of public works.

Late today Mayor Weaver sent a letter to the city controller asking to be supplied with copies of the yearly statements of the United Gas Improvement company, the amounts "alleged" to have been spent by the company for improvements, and the amounts due, with interest, at the end of 1907 for the properties belonging to the company. His purpose, he states, is to secure as near as possible a statement from which an estimate can be made of the amounts that will be due and owing from the city to the United Gas Improvement company should the option to retake the gas works be exercised by the city.

"I am also desirous, before any further time should elapse," the letter continues, "to have a complete investigation made as to the correctness and lawfulness of the amounts alleged which it will seek to charge the city should the latter exercise its option to retake the gas works."

Mayor Weaver announced today that he would appoint a council of twelve to advise him in all matters political, business, and financial.

WAR ON VICE IS BEGUN BY MAYOR

Chief of Police Is Ordered to Enforce the Law Without Fear or Favor.

RESORTS MUST BE CLOSED.

Saloons Must Not Derive Revenue from Custom of Disreputable Women.

The first step toward purifying Chicago was taken yesterday. It was a drastic move but, in the language of the police, "it goes." Its incidental effect, if carried out as promised, will be to drive 95 per cent of the "levee" saloons of Chicago out of business.

Chief O'Neill had a talk with Mayor Dunne in the morning and then called his inspectors before him. To them he told the new orders and further informed them they were to be enforced to the letter. In effect they are:

That women are not to be allowed to frequent saloons, either day or night, and that any saloon which is a resort for women or which is used by women as a place to meet men, or which caters to the trade of disreputable women and their male companions, will lose its license at once.

Order Will Be Enforced.

"The order is a sweeping one," said the chief afterwards, "and is intended to reach that class of saloons which derive their patronage from the presence of women. No such saloons will be tolerated in Chicago hereafter. The saloonkeeper who expects to continue in business must confine himself to a legitimate business. Those who have been catering to disreputable women or the trade these women bring to them will have their places classed as disorderly houses and suffer accordingly."

It was suggested to the chief that the order would affect a large number of saloons in what is known as the "levee districts," and that places like those in Wabash avenue, north of Twenty-second street, could hardly expect to live by catering solely to a male trade.

Will Close Some Saloons.

"It will drive many of them out of business," replied the chief, "and it is a good thing that it will. There is no 'red light' district in this order. It applies to every saloon in every part of the city. There will be no exceptions.

"Of course there are saloons, especially in the foreign districts, where respectable women with respectable male escorts go. They will not be interfered with as long as the saloonkeeper sees to it that his trade continues to be of a respectable kind. There will be no trouble about that. That kind of patrons will not go to a saloon run by a disreputable owner, and the reputable one will keep his place decent in order to protect both his patrons and his license. It is easy enough to determine what place is decent and what one indecent.

"The idea is to stop this turning of saloons into places where disreputable women can ply their trade or where they can make a living by drawing trade to the place."

Mayor Dunne the Sponsor.

Mayor Dunne was the sponsor for the order and the chief sent it out under instructions from him. In speaking of the vice question in general the mayor said:

"I am afraid some of my friends who are criticising me for believing in the segregation of vice have got a wrong idea of my position. I do not want to enlarge the present 'red light' districts; I want to restrict them. The boundaries which were printed the other day were not of the districts I wanted to establish, but of what practically constitute the 'red light' territory now.

"My desire is to restrict this territory into still narrower boundaries, not to enlarge them. What these boundaries should be I am not prepared to say now. I will want to consult with Chief O'Neill first, with interested property owners, and with sociologists who have made a study of the social evil. But that this evil should be confined and not allowed to spread over the entire city I am firmly convinced."

Opposed to Toleration of Vice.

State's Attorney Healy has received several letters from persons who commend him for his position of not tolerating vice anywhere, and a few from those who disagreed with him.

One letter contained resolutions adopted by the Englewood Methodist church commending him for saying the evil can be wiped out altogether, and asking him to take a firm stand against the mayor's plan of segregation. Another asserted that segregation had proved a failure in New Orleans, Washington, and Cincinnati, but the evil had been practically wiped out in Great Britain and Canada, instancing Montreal.

The institute of the Second district W. C. T. U. at Berwyn unanimously adopted the following resolution and ordered copies of it sent to the mayor and to the grand jury:

Resolved, That the Woman's Christian Temperance union, as represented by the Second division of Cook county, protests against the segregation of the social evil as proposed by Mayor Dunne, believing, as we do, that it is an insult to womanhood.

At the Desplaines street police court six women were fined for frequenting saloons, and one keeper of a disorderly house was told she would have to move off the west side.

FOUND WITH "TRIBUNE'S" AID.

Wanderer Identified from His Published Picture Is Restored to His Anxious Relatives.

William A. Weston, 70 years old, who disappeared from the home of his nephew, O. B. Holloway, 5400 Madison avenue, last Sunday morning, is now safe at the home of his relatives. His photograph, published in The Tribune yesterday morning, enabled J. T. Clarke of the Olson Cartage company to identify the missing man when he wandered into the cartage company's office at 24 Chicago avenue and asked for a glass of water.

Mr. Clarke asked several questions of the visitor and then telephoned to J. W. Weaver of the American Cereal company, a friend of Mr. Holloway, who recognized Mr. Weston as soon as he saw him.

Mr. Weston's mind is not clear as to where he has been since last Sunday, but it was learned that yesterday morning he was at Harvey, where he told his dilemma to a policeman, who gave him 25 cents for carfare. With that he came to Chicago. He came from Akron, O., last Saturday afternoon, and left the house of his nephew Sunday morning for a walk. He did not return on that day and the family was puzzled. His disappearance was reported to the police.

CUTHBERT BACK TO PRISON.

Judge Kavanagh Denies the Petition for Freedom Through Habeas Corpus Proceedings.

Judge Kavanagh yesterday remanded to prison William Cuthbert, who sought release from Joliet through a writ of habeas corpus. The man was taken to the prison on a morning train.

Cuthbert contended his physical condition was such that he could not stand the hard labor and confinement imposed upon him in prison.

Attorney Frank D. Comerford, representing Cuthbert, said he wanted to file an amended petition. He asserted he would charge that officials at Joliet had compelled Cuthbert to make false entries in the prison books.

"If you have such a petition," declared Judge Kavanagh, "it might be well to present it to the Supreme court."

Cuthbert was sentenced last November for obtaining money under false pretenses.

COUNCIL DATES IN MIXUP.

ALDERMEN REFUSE TO APPROVE CITY CLERK'S RECORDS.

Tangle in Fixing Time of Adjournment Results in Decision That to Meet Formally Would Be Irregular—Mayor Says He Has a Few Vetoes Ready, and the Report Favoring City Hall Site on the West Side Also Is Held Over.

James Dalrymple of Glasgow, Scotland, went to the city hall last evening to witness a council meeting. There was no council meeting, and Mr. Dalrymple was the innocent cause. The aldermen present decided they were simply "a peaceable gathering of American citizens." They did do one thing, however, before they left. They refused, with only one dissenting vote, to approve the city clerk's records of the last council meeting. It is the first time action of this sort has been taken in the last twenty years, and probably the first time in the history of Chicago.

At the last meeting of the council, May 22, an adjournment was voted until Wednesday, May 31. The next morning somebody remembered that was the date for the Dalrymple banquet, and something had to be done if the mayor and aldermen were to dine. After Ald. Bennett, the author of the adjournment motion, had given his consent, the city clerk was induced to change the records so as to make them read, "Adjourned to Thursday, June 1."

Says Meeting Is Irregular.

"When the aldermen got together last evening Ald. Bennett moved the minutes be approved, but Ald. Foreman objected. He said the meeting was clearly irregular and the best thing to be done was for every one to go home.

"Not an alderman here," added Ald. Carey, "but knows the adjournment was to last night, and not to tonight. If any one raised any objection to anything we did tonight every man jack of us would have to go into court and swear to the truth. What is the sense of going on with this meeting?"

Ald. Bennett insisted on his motion to approve the minutes. It looked as if he felt he ought to "save the face" of the city clerk's office. Ald. Coughlin and Kenna, who head the roll call, voted with him, but that was all, and when the call was finished only three "ayes" were recorded. The two First ward aldermen hastily changed their votes, leaving Ald. Bennett as the sole supporter of his motion.

The mayor said he had some veto messages and asked if this refusal of the aldermen to meet killed them. Ald. Foreman explained it did not, and that they could be put in at the next meeting, as the law would presume one was held Wednesday night, but failed for lack of a quorum.

"They are not important," remarked the mayor, "the one most so means a saving to the city of $350 a year. The others are to cure minor defects in council orders. I will ask the aldermen to consider them next Monday."

City Hall Report Is Ready.

Ald. Raymer, chairman of the special committee on city hall, had his report ready advocating the removal to the west side. It is a voluminous document in that it contains copies of all the reports made to the committee by the architects, sanitary experts, and others, but the recommendations are based on these findings:

That it would cost $509,200 to put the present building into condition to meet the city's needs for even a limited number of years.

That the county is willing to pay $1,000,000 for the city's rights in the present site.

That this $1,509,200 would be more than enough to erect a suitable building on the west side.

It also is urged that it would look badly to have the county erect a large building for its own use next to the comparatively squatty city hall.

Plans Uniform Water Rate.

Consumers of water in Chicago may have a uniform rate. Corporation Counsel Tolman is now preparing an ordinance to be submitted to the council, at the request of Mayor Dunne, to change the present sliding scale from 10 to 4 cents for each 1,000 gallons to a fixed rate of eight cents, and to provide for the installation of meters by the city.

With the uniform rate it is estimated the city will increase its revenue from the water supply $145,000 a year, from which it is planned to install 5,000 water meters a year at the expense of the city. The effect of the change will be to decrease greatly the cost to the individual consumers.

On the other hand, fifteen large firms will have an increase in their rates, and twenty-one railroads and packing houses will have to pay 33 to 95 per cent more than now.

Street Cleaning Problem Grows.

The problem of cleaning the streets in the district which has been under the supervision of the Citizens' Street Cleaning association has assumed a serious aspect for the city. It was hoped by the city officials that the civic clubs interested would continue the work another year. An offer was made by which the city was to contribute a part of the expense, but yesterday the association removed its boxes from the streets

Commissioner Patterson recently held a conference with officers of the association in which it practically was agreed that the street cleaning should be continued for the rest of the year upon the payment of $2,000 a month by the city, with the business men to contribute the remainder of the money. The action of the association, however, is believed to indicate the failure of the plan.

FLIRTATIONS OF MOTORMAN ALLEGED IN DIVORCE BILL.

Mrs. Hoskins Says Her Husband Beat Her Up "Something Terrible" When She Interrupted His Gallantry.

Mrs. Minnie Hoskins, in her plea for a divorce from William H. Hoskins, told Judge Kavanagh yesterday that her husband often abused her, and once he bumped her head against the wall at their home, 2612 Forty-first avenue, when she asked about a street car flirtation.

"A friend and I were downtown shopping on July 5, 1902," she said, "and when we were ready to start home I suggested that we wait for the car on which my husband was motorman and ride with him. When his car came into sight," the witness sighed as she proceeded, "there was William on the front platform, and standing beside him were two girls. He was flirting with them to beat the band and they were flirting with him.

"We got on the car and he saw us, but he just kept right on flirting. After awhile I spoke up and said: 'Girls, that man is my husband.' The next moment William took the controller off and beat me up something terrible, your honor, and, while the car was in motion, he threw me off."

Judge Kavanagh took the case under advisement.

Willis Parker, a salesman for Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., has answered to Mrs. Bessie L. C. Parker's bill for divorce, started May 12, in the form of a cross bill, in which he says his wife has shown love for other men. Mrs. Parker alleged cruel treatment on the part of her husband and his mother, and said they took her child, Gladys L. Parker, 4 years old, from her.

William Smith said spiritualism caused his wife, Elizabeth Smith, to desert him one year after their marriage. Judge Mack gave him a decree of divorce.

Mrs. Harriet Sweet, 1065 Tripp avenue, asked for a divorce from James Edward Sweet of Denver, whom she charges with desertion.

ARMOUR INSTITUTE'S WATER SUPPLY CUT OFF BY CITY.

Because of Nonpayment of Claim of $5,343 Pipes Are Dry in Fifty-seven Houses.

The water supply in fifty-seven houses connected with the Armour institute, in which 250 families live, was shut off for nine hours yesterday because of the nonpayment of $5,343 in water taxes, which the city asserts is due from the institute. It was only upon a guarantee from the management of the institute late last night that the money will be paid when the controversy involving it is settled that the water was again permitted to be turned on, thus preventing a water famine among the 1,200 residents.

The managers of the institute say it is an educational institution and as such is entitled to the use of water free from the city, but the city contends that, as tuition is charged, and it is not a charitable college, it must pay for its supply. The matter has been in controversy four years, and in the meantime the water bill has been running up.

An accident in the gas works at Waukegan yesterday shut off for six hours the gas supply of the north shore towns of Waukegan, North Chicago, Lake Bluff, Lake Forest, Highwood, Highland Park, Libertyville, and Glencoe. The supply was shut off shortly before noon when people wanted it most for cooking.

ARCHITECTS IN A SQUABBLE.

Robert B. Williamson Now Accuses Dwight Heald Perkins of Living in Evanston.

Two men are claimants for the position of supervising architect for the board of education. They are Robert B. Williamson, the acting incumbent, and Dwight Heald Perkins, who headed the list of eligibles in the recent civil service examination.

Williamson is protesting against the appointment of Perkins upon the grounds that he is not a legal resident of Chicago, but lives in Evanston. The commission heard the arguments yesterday afternoon.

Perkins denies that he lives in Evanston and says his residence is at 3929 Indiana avenue.

Williamson was third on the eligible list.

Crib Light to Warn Mariners.

The Lake View crib, just north of the harbor and close to the path of vessels coming to Chicago, is being torn down to the water line. The upper works will be replaced by a new structure. A bright white light on a pole mast thirty feet above the surface of the lake will be displayed to warn mariners of the obstruction.

LAJOIE HUMBLED BY WHITE SOX.

American League Leaders Meet Their First Defeat in Nine Games.

LOCALS POUND THE BALL.

Donahue Is Driven to the Bench, Donohue Leading the Bombardment.

Chicago's White Stockings handed Manager Larry Lajoie's proud American league leaders a jolt yesterday. With eight straight victories stored away, the Forest city crowd paraded into town in the morning for a three game series, but when Comiskey's men had finished with them in the first battle they did not resemble champions, even through a telescope. The score at the end was 9 to 5, but those nine runs were so big the visitors could not make it close.

Mr. Donahue, who hails from somewhere down Connecticut way, and whose nom de plume on the diamond is "Red," owing to a luxurious crop of auburn locks, was a victim if there ever was one, and it was more than a shame the way the Sox humiliated him. Donahue started to pitch for the visitors, and the bumping he received could be heard all over the south side. He was allowed to stay on the firing line long enough to give Comiskey's men the game. In fact, if Manager Lajoie had not made a change the returns probably would still be coming in. As it was, the White Stockings banged out seven runs in the first two innings and threatened more, when Lajoie threw the hawser to "Red" and Bernhard got in the game. Bernhard did not have any more chance to pull out the game than Chicago has of pulling off the American Derby. But Bernhard worked hard to the finish and managed to hold the Sox to two runs and five hits.

Donohue Makes Four Hits.

In the meantime Frank Smith was pitching a safe game at all stages, and, though he permitted Cleveland to pound out nine hits, he had the victory always in his grasp, because of the trimming his teammates were giving Donahue. Rather peculiarly, the leader in the onslaught upon Donahue was one Donohue. "Jiggs" of the local club made two hits off his near namesake in the first two innings, driving in two runs each time. Just to show there was nothing personal about it, "Jiggs" kept up the pace against Bernhard, his bingle in the fourth sending in another run, and at his fourth and last essay at bat he hit safely once more. Donohue's timely batting won him the popularity of the crowd, and he was applauded on his last appearance at bat.

There were others who fattened their batting averages, Jones, McFarland, and Isbell each bumping out a couple of hits.

In the first inning Jackson opened with a double to left but when Bay hit to Smith was caught between second and third, Bay reaching second while the Sox were running down Jackson. Flick fanned. Lajoie pumped a grounder to Smith, who threw to Donohue, but "Jiggs" let the ball get through him. Bradley then hit down to Davis, who blocked the ball, but Bay scored.

Start Off Savagely.

"Red" Donahue did not even get his bearings before the Sox got after him. Jones dumped a bunt down for a starter and was safe a mile. Holmes repeated the trick and Davis tried to follow suit. But "Red" managed to get him at first. Donohue's single sent Jones and Holmes home.

The second round saw the finish of "Red," eight men facing him before Lajoie came to the rescue. Tannehill was passed and Isbell singled. Smith fouled out to Bradley and Jones' ripping single sent Tannehill to the plate. Holmes hit to Turner and Jones was forced at second. A moment later Davis walked and the bases were full. Then "Jiggs" Donohue banged the ball to center for two bases and Isbell and Holmes registered. McFarland lunged against the ball and knocked it clear to the fence in center and landed on third, while Davis and Donohue counted. Then "Red" was chased and Bernhard stopped the fusillade by killing off Dundon, retiring the Sox.

Cleveland drew two runs closer in the third, as the result of a double by Jackson, a single by Bay, a pass to Flick, a passed ball and a long fly which sent Jackson and Bay home. Comiskey's men added two in the fourth. After one was gone Davis, Donohue, and McFarland singled in a row, Davis scoring while Donohue registered on a fly to the outfield.

Threaten in the Ninth.

The blues counted their two other runs in the seventh. Jackson singled and Bay repeated, and the bases were full when Smith walked Flick. Then Lajoie lashed out a single and Jackson and Bay scored. Flick was nailed at third on a quick return by Holmes, and Bradley flied out to "Ducky." Cleveland made a strenuous bid in the ninth, but with the bases full and two dead, Bradley struck out. Score:

The Sox had lots of fun with "Red" Donahue in that first inning by bunting.

Jackson was the star batter for Cleveland, getting three hits, two of them doubles.

Today is an off day for both teams, and the battle will be resumed tomorrow and Sunday.

The game was played in 1:28; pretty fast work when it is considered fourteen runs and twenty-one hits were made.

That rap of McFarland's in the third was a good one, the ball never stopping until it hit the center field bleachers.

Maroon Players Score a Victory Over the College Team by a Score of Four to Three.

Beloit, Wis., June 1.—[Special.]—Errors by Ransom and Johnson gave Chicago university the baseball game with Beloit college today. Chicago Auto Club May Challenge.

Directors of the Chicago Automobile club will meet tonight to hear the report of the racing board on the spring meet. The advisability of challenging the Automobile Club of America for another race for the Thomas trophy probably will be discussed. Webb Jay desires another try for the cup, and if a running mate can be found for him the challenge likely will be sent. The A. A. A. has a meeting scheduled for New York on July 3 and 4, at which the dual contest could be held. Barney Oldfield is after another chance at Chevrolet. Maj. Miller, owner of the car driven by the Frenchman, is not averse to making the match, but is not in a position to make a definite date on account of other engagements made for the car.

PITTSBURG TEAM BLANKS ZEPHYRS.

Chicago Batters Get Only Four Singles and Are Beaten, 4 Runs to 0.

CASE PITCHES FINELY.

Pirates Get Five Hits Off Weimer in the Fourth Inning; Wagner Is Suspended.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 1.—[Special.]—The Zephyrs dropped down the list another notch today when the Pirates administered a one-sided defeat to the tune of 4 to 0.

Charley Case, suffering from "charley horse," who has been nursed along all the spring by Manager Clarke, was the man behind the whitewash brush and showed stellar qualities, limiting the visitors to four segregated swats.

The new star eclipsed an old one, for "Tornado" Jake Weimer went down in defeat before the fierce onslaught of the Pirate bats. For three innings the game went along without a ripple, and then, with a suddenness that startled the sleepy fans, five hits hove in sight, and three Pirates reached port.

Losers Field Well.

The fielding of the Chicago men was perfect, and Tinker called forth a round of applause for a magnificent stop of a hot grounder, and later Evers was given a hand for a like brilliant play.

Before the game the news was spread that Wagner had been suspended for three days by President Pulliam for singing Wagnerian music to the umpire at Cincinnati on Sunday. His absence caused some of the rooters a few moments of doubt, but their fears were soon quieted when they had watched George McBride for a few minutes, as he filled the Dutchman's place acceptably.

Four times Chicago men reached third, but each time a long fly to the outfield retired the side. Maloney made the distance twice, and each time he stole second. Chance reached there once, and Kling was there the last time, but no hits followed.

Clarke Starts Rally.

Clarke started the batting rally for the Pirates in the fourth. He made the first hit off Weimer into left field, and Beaumont then bunted a low fly back of third and reached second. McBride brought Clarke home with a long fly, and "Beau" reached third, from where he came home on Clancy's out. Ritchey hit to center, and Leach sent him to third with another welt to right center, Peitz enabling him to score with a hit to middle field. Peitz and Leach ended the inning with an attempted double steal, in which "Tommy the Wee" was run down.

In the sixth a double play put a stop to scoring after "Beau" reached third on hits by himself and McBride. Clancy popped to Chance, and McBride was doubled off first. Ritchey died easy. Clarke brought in another run in the eighth. He singled and went to third on McBride's second hit, and scored on Clancy's out. Score:

Notes of the Game.

Ruelbach and Robertaille will likely pitch in tomorrow's game.

Beaumont had a busy day in center field, getting seven put outs.

Wagner watched the game from the grand stand, contented to see his side win but begrudging the $30 that his three day vacation cost him.

Ritchey had the game blocked for a couple of minutes in the eighth inning while his companions dug a fly out of his eye, Fred Clarke getting the "put out."

Clymer, who has been suspended and fined so much by Pulliam this season for spiking other players, saved himself a fine today by spiking himself while at bat in the seventh inning.

Batting Streak in Ninth Inning Gives Cardinals a Victory by Nine Runs to Six.

Cincinnati, O., June 1.—The St. Louis team fell on Chech in the ninth inning and, aided by errors, scored six runs, making victory easy. A triple play in the sixth inning on Seymour's bunt fly with Huggins and Corcoran on second and first respectively was a feature of the game.

Young Corbett Is Favorite.

San Francisco, Cal., June 1.—[Special.]—Young Corbett is favorite in the betting over Eddie Hanlon at 10 to 8. Sporting men are gambling on Corbett's good condition. He was at weight this morning, which is the first instance on record of his reaching weight thirty-six hours before a battle. Hanlon is in the pink of condition and is confident. It is probable Jere Dunn of New York will be chosen referee tonight, as Manager Greggains would not stand for Shaughnessy.

St. Joseph, Mich., June 1.—[Special.]—Carl Anderson of Hammond, Ind., and Tommy Wallace of Philadelphia fought a ten round draw here tonight. Anderson was the stronger and Wallace the cleverer.

BLACK EYE FOR DREYFUSS

NATIONAL LEAGUE DIRECTORS EXONERATE MANAGER M'GRAW.

Decide That Charges Against New York Leader Are Not Proven and Pittsburg Magnate Is Condemned for Undignified Course in Indulging in an Open Controversy with a Player—Brush's Plan to Humiliate Pulliam Is Not Adopted.

Boston, Mass., June 1.—At a meeting of the directors of the National league at the Hotel Touraine in this city today John J. McGraw, manager of the New York National league baseball club, was exonerated of the charges brought against him by President Barney Dreyfuss of the Pittsburg National club, and the board expressed its disapproval of Dreyfuss' action in indulging in the controversy with McGraw.

President Dreyfuss, in his charges against McGraw, accused the latter of using offensive language, and claimed the alleged offense would be detrimental to baseball unless followed by punishment.

The board went into executive session at 2:30 this afternoon and did not adjourn until 8 o'clock tonight. Several witnesses were present and affidavits were submitted by McGraw and Dreyfuss. After considering the matter at length the board gave out the following finding:

First—That the charges made by President Dreyfuss are not warranted by the evidence submitted and Manager McGraw is hereby exonerated.

Second—The board, with much regret, expresses its disapproval with the undignified course of President Dreyfuss in indulging in an open controversy with a ball player on the grounds of a National league club. It sincerely hopes no other club owner, in a moment of excitement, will so far forget the dignity that attaches to the presidency of a National league ball club.

With the Dreyfuss charges disposed of, President Brush of the New York club endeavored to have removed the fine and suspension recently imposed upon McGraw by President Pulliam.

President Pulliam, who was presiding, ruled out the motion on the ground that the board had no right to review his action in the matter, and he was sustained by the directors.

Wagner and Leever Fined.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 1.—[Special.]—Honus Wagner was suspended for three days and fined $30 by President Harry C. Pulliam for the trouble he had in Cincinnati last Sunday with Umpire Robert Emslie. President Dreyfuss saw the game and before he left for Boston to attend the meeting of the National league directors expressed the opinion that Wagner had done wrong. "Sam" Leever was suspended for one day and fined $10.

ARTHUR DUFFY IN A DEAD HEAT.

American Runner Finds It Hard to Win Against Australian Competitors.

San Francisco, Cal., June 1.—[Special.]—Arthur Duffy, the Georgetown university sprinter, is not having a walkover in Australia. Nigel Barker of Sydney university ran a dead heat with the American at the international games held at St. Luke's park oval, near Sydney, in the international 100 yard dash, run in :10 flat. Barker led until close to the finish, when Duffy fairly hurled himself against the line.

Duffy was twice beaten the first day of his appearance at Sydney on April 15. He failed to qualify in the first heat of the seventy-five yard handicap and was beaten about six inches in the 100 yard race by Nigel Barker in :10¼. Duffy led Barker a yard at the end of the first fifty, but seemed to falter in the last ten yards.

Duffy, Barker, and Rowley met in a sixty yard handicap. Duffy won the first heat in :06⅖, which equaled the world's record. Barker and Rowley qualified in their respective heats. In the final heat Duffy beat the Australians away from the mark and won by two yards in :06⅖.

The starters worried Duffy by making him keep his place on the line for several minutes before they fired the pistol. This hurt his nerve and probably injured his work.

FIRST HEATS IN BIG MEET TODAY.

Preliminaries of the Western College Track Championships to Be Run.

ATHLETES ARE COMING IN.

Fitzpatrick Says "Chicago Should Win, but—"; Drawings for This Afternoon.

With the drawing for places in the preliminary heats of the quarter mile run yesterday the final preparations for the fifth annual contest for the western intercollegiate championship in track and field athletics were complete. This afternoon representatives from the thirteen colleges which are entered for the meet this year will gather at Marshall field and begin the struggle which will end tomorrow only when the laurels of supremacy have been awarded to the first team in the west.

The two events in which preliminaries are to be held this afternoon are the quarter mile run and the pole vault, in both of which there is a large field of competitors. The drawings:

QUARTER MILE.

First heat—Goodwin, Michigan; Vennemen, Purdue; Zimmer, Indiana; Wayman, Missouri; Hunter, Minnesota; Groman, Chicago; Rideout, Wisconsin; Meyer, Nebraska; Davis, Iowa; and O'Shea, Notre Dame.

Second heat—Ogden, Indiana; Malmgren, Minnesota; Barker, Chicago; Waller, Wisconsin; Peebles, Illinois; Barker, Iowa; Keeffe, Notre Dame; Garrels, Michigan; Huffman, Purdue; and Rader, Northwestern.

Third heat—Stevens, Wisconsin; Mackey, Illinois; Manning, Nebraska; Donelan, Iowa; Erffman, Naperville; Rebstock, Michigan; Glasser, Purdue; Thomson, Indiana; Ellis, Missouri; Robertson, Minnesota; and Quigley, Chicago.

Three Heats Planned.

Three heats have been planned, but a limit of nine has been placed upon the number of men that may compete in any one heat. If the entire entry list should appear in any one heat, it will be necessary to run a fourth heat, in which case the following men will run in the extra event: O'Shea, Notre Dame; Quigley, Chicago; Huffman, Purdue, Rader, Northwestern; Ellis, Missouri; Davis, Iowa; and Robertson, Minnesota.

In the event of only three heats being necessary the first three men in each event will qualify for the final heat tomorrow, but if four heats are necessary the first two will enter the final. In the pole vault all the competitors who cross the bar at 10 feet 6 inches will be admitted to the final contest tomorrow. The pole vault is to commence at 3:30, and the heats in the quarter mile an hour later.

Although preliminaries are to be held in only two events, four of the college teams arrived yesterday and the remainder are expected to put in an appearance this morning. Dr. Harry Williams of the University of Minnesota was the first to arrive. Accompanied by two of his athletes, he was at Marshall field yesterday. The men with him, Malmgren and Robertson, are entered in the running event. The remainder of his team will arrive today, and will include Greaves, Van Metre, Dougherty, Stubbs, Woodrick, Van Vorst, Ostvig, Lammers, Jensen, and Hunter.

Michigan Men Arrive.

Trainer Keene Fitzpatrick of the University of Michigan was another of the advance guard. He brought with him Goodwin and Capt. Rebstock, the quarter milers, and Fishleigh and Reed, the pole vaulters, all of whom will compete in the preliminaries this afternoon. The rest of the Michigan squad, eighteen strong, will leave Ann Arbor this morning. Trainer Fitzpatrick last night expressed himself pleased with the condition of his men. Rowe, the long distance runner, he said, was in fine shape for the two mile race. Coe, who will compete against Verner of Purdue and Lightbody of Chicago in the mile run, is in better condition than he was at the dual meet between Chicago and Michigan two weeks ago. Stone will run in the two mile event instead of the mile, as he did at the latter event.

The Indiana squad, numbering twelve men, arrived at the Chicago Beach last night. In the squad were Samse, Banks, Ray, Kerchival, Seward, Buckley, Joseph, Miller, Barclay, Zimmer, Ogden, and Thomson.

Three of the University of Iowa's representatives, Barker, Davis, and Donelan, also reached the city, the rest of the team being due this morning. Nebraska's ten men will arrive this morning, as will Wisconsin's quota, the athletes from Naperville, and from the other colleges.

Expects to Make Strong Showing.

Trainer Fitzpatrick, while conceding Chicago should win, intimated last night that Michigan was going to make a strong showing. "Chicago should win," he said, "for it has an unusually strong team this year. Michigan is not giving up hopes, and will make a hard fight, but Chicago has the best looking material in the meet."

The Indianians, since winning the Hoosier state meet last week, are hopeful of making a strong showing. Samse is counted upon to win the pole vault with possibly a first place in the high jump. Banks, they claim, should place in the hammer throw, and Zimmer in the dashes, with possibly Thomson, the Indian quarter miler, in the 440 yard dash, and Kerchival in the broad jump.

Each of the other colleges expects to take a number of points from the leaders.

University of Chicago students are enthusiastic over the prospects of their team, and have arranged for a big demonstration this morning at 10:30 o'clock, when a massmeeting will be held on the campus. The maroon followers will be gathered together in one section of the bleachers tomorrow.

Meeting of "Big Nine" Today.

A meeting of the board of directors of the "big nine" will be held at the Chicago Beach this morning at 10 o'clock. At this the final discussion of the six months rule, requiring students to be members of the student body of a college half a year before participating in athletics, will be held. Nebraska probably will again request admittance to the conference, and the committee of arrangements on the meet will present a report.

This evening the committee will extend to the trainers and managers of the teams and to the faculty members of the board of directors a banquet at the Hamilton club.

The committee on arrangements yesterday reported that more than 1,500 tickets had been sold for the meet.

Missouri's Team in Conference.

Columbia, Mo., June 1.—[Special.]—Four members of the Missouri university track team, Capt. Wayman, Ellis, Jackson, and Anderson, left tonight to participate in the conference meet. Wayman will enter in the quarter mile run. His best time is :51 4-5. Jackson, in the two mile race, holds the university record at 10:22. Ellis can do the half mile in 2:02, and Anderson is good for 42 feet 8 inches in the shotput.

FAST AUSTRALIAN 2 YEAR OLD.

Charles Stuart Runs a Mile in 1:38, Beating All Records for Colts of His Age.

San Francisco, Cal., June 1.—[Special.]—Australia has produced the fastest 2 year old in the world. His name is Charles Stuart. At the recent Australian Jockey club meeting this youngster took up 99 pounds, and, leading from start to finish, beat the famous race mare Gladsome at a mile in the wonderfully fast time of 1:38, which is a new world's record for a 2 year old. No 2 year old in America ever has approached this time. Charles Stuart is by Wallace, a descendent of the celebrated Musket family. Australia has also another great young race horse in Emir, son of Wallace and Emmie. At the Australian Jockey club meeting he accounted for the Autumn stakes, the Cumberland stakes, and the Australian Jockey club plate.

Results at Billiard Halls.

At Healy's—Pelletier defeated Tripp, 100 to 97, at pool. Petrie and Irwin play tonight.

At Foley's—Adair [185] defeated Meyer [165], 185 to 86. Tonight, Jackson and McCleevey.

Shea and Howe [45] defeated Morin and Burdick [50], 45 to 44 in the playoff for first money in Mussey's three cushion handicap team tournament. Morin won the special prize for scoring the greater number of points in the tourney, and Stewart and Tredick won the prize for the best single average.

TOLD TO SHIP TO JOLIET.

REPORT AT KANSAS CITY RACING WILL START THIS MONTH.

Horsemen Are Assured of Sport and Corrigan Is Said to Be Behind the Enterprise—Scheme for Floating Poolroom Takes Form and Boat Is Purchased for Trips Out Into the Lake—Track News to Be Transmitted by Wireless Telegraphy.

A racetrack man who arrived yesterday from Kansas City said horsemen at the Elm Ridge track had been assured a race meeting would start at the Ingalls park track in Joliet the latter part of this month and that many owners had planned to ship from Kansas City to Joliet. The meeting, it is understood, will be under the control of Edward Corrigan, although nothing definite on this point is given out.

Definite announcement regarding a floating poolroom on Lake Michigan was given out yesterday. The old steamer City of Travers, which ran for many years to Lake Superior, has been purchased by Capt Stephen Jones, and after it has been overhauled it will make daily trips out into the lake carrying those who want to bet on the races, the returns of which, it is claimed, will be received by wireless telegraphy.

The boat will proceed out into the lake to the three mile limit before the gambling operations begin, the authority of the state and city giving way to federal authority at that point. A dock has been secured in one of the Illinois Central slips, near the mouth of the river, so that the floating poolroom will not need to come through any of the city bridges.

The promoters seem to think they will avoid legal interference and expect to secure a good trade, for, while handbooks are running more numerously and openly now in Chicago than they have for several years, the latter in many instances do not post the betting.

FLIP FLAP BEST IN THE CRITERION

J. A. Bennett's Filly Wins the Feature Event at Gravesend Track.

FAVORITE COMES THIRD.

Workman Shows the Way in the Handicap—Hayman Scores with Czaraphine.

New York, June 1.—[Special.]—More than 12,000 persons, about equally divided between the field and the grand stand enclosures, saw some excellent racing at Gravesend.

The feature was the Criterion, for 2 year old fillies, at five furlongs, for which S. S. Brown's Sue Smith was a pronounced favorite, but the winner turned up in J. A. Bennett's Flip Flap, who, after leading all the way, won easily by two lengths. Ed Alvey's Hazelthorpe ran into the place two and a half lengths before the favorite. Caprice was lame going to the post, where Sydney Paget's Watercress practically was left when the barrier went up.

W. A. Stanton's Workman made all the pace in the handicap, for 3 year olds, at a mile and 70 yards, and won by three lengths. R. W. Nelson's Cedarstrome was third, a length away. Workman was ridden in masterly style by little Miller.

Cleanup with Czaraphine.

M. L. Hayman cleaned up with Czaraphine in the first race, for mares, at about 6 furlongs. The Rubicon filly was played down to 3s to beat a big field, which she proceeded to do in most approved fashion, as she led from the gate, an easy winner by a length in 1:11 2-5. Fred Calhoun's Consuelo II. closed in the stretch and took the place by two lengths from H. K. Vingut's Bellatrix.

Palette showed her heels to her rivals in the fifth race, for platers, at nine furlongs, and, though tiring in the stretch, she lasted long enough to win by a nostril from M. Tennes' Bronze Wing, who ran away two miles after he passed the judges. Kansas Price's The Gadfly ran third, a length back. There was a bumping match on the lower turn, during which Orly II. was knocked to his knees. Diggins saved himself from a fall by throwing his arms around the horse's neck.

Runs Away; Then Wins.

On the way to the post for the last race Andrew Miller's Inquisitor bolted at the paddock gate, and, throwing O'Neill, ran off among the stables. He was caught and led back, while his backers were on the verge of nervous prostration, but when it came to racing he was off in front with a great turn of speed, attended by E. E. Smathers' Transmute. The latter looked dangerous the last furlong pole and O'Neill went to the whip, but at the end Inquisitor, drawing away under a mild drive, won by a length and a half.

John E. Madden announced today he would retire permanently soon from active participation in racing and devote his time in the future to his breeding establishment at Hamburg place. Madden will sell all his yearlings, together with his horses in training, on June 22 and 23. He already has disposed of a number of his racers, and said today: "This is no fake retirement. I am done with racing forever and will get out of the game within the next month."

ALDERMAN HELD FOR SILK THEFT.

Ferdinand Haenlein, Arrested in Brooklyn, Denies the Charges of Guilt.

THEATER BARS METCALFE

Despite Court Rule That Critic Must Be Admitted Tickets Are Refused.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE.
New York, June 1.

Alderman Arrested Charged with Theft.

Ald. Ferdinand Haenlein of the Sixty-fourth assembly district, tonight was placed under arrest at his home, taken to Brooklyn police headquarters, where a charge of receiving stolen goods was made against him in connection with the theft from the Castle Braid Manufacturing company of $1,000 worth of silk skeins. He was released on $500 bail.

The arrest was a direct result of the arrest of Henry Samsburg of Brooklyn, who was trying to dispose of a lot of silk skeins at a figure ridiculously below market value. Samsburg said he had bought the stuff from Ferdinand Haenlein, and detectives sent to Haenlein's house placed him under arrest.

Haenlein told the detectives before he knew their mission that there was half a ton of stuff at the junk shop of his stepfather, John McGregor. The alderman told Capt. Harkins he had bought the stuff from the Castle Braid company along with scraps and rags bought from Joseph Silke in the usual course of business by his stepfather, a dealer in junk. He in turn sold the silk to Samsburg, who separated it from the rags. Mr. Silke then confronted Ald. Haenlein and declared he never had any business dealings with him and had never seen him before.

The chamber of commerce today adopted resolutions favoring the conclusion of commercial treaties of reciprocity between the United States and Germany, France, Russia, Switzerland, and Austria-Hungary. Danger of a tariff war with Germany was feared.

Theater Refuses Metcalfe Despite Court Finding.

James S. Metcalfe, the dramatic critic, let it be known today that he intended to resume his attempts to enter syndicate theaters now that he had been confirmed in his right to witness the attractions there by the decision of Magistrate Pool. At 8:30 p. m. he walked through the lobby of the Knickerbocker theater with Mrs. Metcalfe and presented tickets calling for orchestra chairs. The ticket taker, Peter Lowrey, was on the lookout, and barred him. At the same time Manager Harry Summers came up.

"No, Mr. Metcalfe," he said, "we can't let you in."

"What's the reason?" inquired the dramatic critic.

"There's no reason," was the response, "but you can't come in. I will be glad to refund the $4 you have paid for the tickets, however."

"No, thank you," said Metcalfe, blandly. "I'll keep the tickets, if you please. I have use for them, you know." Then Metcalfe left the theater.

"It turned out as I expected," he said. "You may be sure there will be something doing tomorrow."

Believe Chicagoan and Sweetheart Were Killed.

The police believe the drowning of Albert Bergman and his cousin, Josephine Tauber, in the Central park lake Tuesday night was not accidental, but that the young couple may have been victims of foul play. Bergman came here from Chicago, where his parents reside, and had charge of the wall paper department in a large store.

When recovered from the park lake Bergman's body had a wound in one side and an abrasion of the nose. There was missing from his clothes $20. Miss Tauber's body also bore signs of violence. Her clothing was torn and disarranged, indicating, the police believe, that she made desperate efforts to save herself. The water was five feet deep. About the time the boat containing Bergman and his cousin started out a boat was rented to a young man. The fact that a boat was found drawn up at the shore on the opposite side of the lake may have a bearing on the case.

The father and mother of Bergman live at 1612 West Forty-seventh street, Chicago.

Bridal Couple in Many Mishaps on Honeymoon.

An exciting start for a honeymoon was made tonight by George Weiss, vice president of the United Cigar Stores company, and his bride, who was Miss Florence, the daughter of Dr. Julius H. Baran. After the wedding reception and supper they started for their train. Several hundred friends followed them to the sidewalk throwing rice, old shoes, and confetti. While Weiss was trying to shield his bride she hurried into a cab and told the driver to sprint for the Grand Central station.

Weiss, bareheaded and shouting, rushed up Fifth avenue in pursuit of his bride. She heard his cries and jumped from the cab. A crowd blockaded the street for half an hour before a policeman straightened out the tangle and put the bride and bridegroom in a cab and sent them to the station. Weiss' coat was ripped up the back and his hat was lost, but they caught the train.

Policy Thief Pleads Guilty; Accuses Clerk.

Samuel Lobley, charged with fraudulently obtaining money on a life insurance policy alleged to have been stolen from the vaults of the Equitable Life Assurance society, today entered a plea of guilty. Lobley told the court the sum received on the stolen property was $55,000. Of this amount, he said, his share was only $10,000. He said that Emil Neumer, the Equitable clerk under arrest, came to him with the proposition that there was at least a million to be had from the Equitable. Lobley said the major portion of the amount obtained was turned over to Neumer.

Disappointed Girl Leaps from Bridge in Front of Train.

Disappointed because the man she loved—said to be a lawyer—failed to keep a tryst, Miss Mary Fuessel, a strikingly handsome girl, 22 years old, made a desperate attempt at suicide this afternoon by jumping from the Third avenue bridge at Mount Vernon in front of an express train. She escaped instant death because her body struck the cylinder of the locomotive and was thrown to one side, but she was so severely injured that her recovery is doubtful.

Thief Tries to Steal $5,000 Altar Service.

After the Ascension day services at the Church of Zion and St. Timothy, in West Forty-seventh street, tonight, an attempt was made to steal the altar ornaments, which were presented by J. Pierpont Morgan some years ago. The ornaments include a gold communion service valued at about $5,000. They were packed in a satchel ready, when the thief was discovered attempting to break open the poor box. The man dropped the satchel and fled.

BRITISH WAR OFFICE SAYS OFFICERS CHEATED NATION.

Committee Declares That Number of Commanders in South Africa Were in Collusion with Contractors, Who Purchased Government Supplies at Low Figure and Resold Them to the Military Authorities at an Enormous Profit.

LONDON, June 2.—According to the Daily Mirror the report of a war office committee on the improper disposal of military stores at the conclusion of the South African war reveals a huge scandal. The report, the paper says, censures a number of officers whose names are given and who are alleged to have worked in collusion with contractors. The latter bought stores at absurdly low prices and afterwards resold them to the military authorities at enormous profits, entailing a loss to the government of $5,000,000.

CASTRO'S MESSAGE ON AMERICA

Venezuelan President Asserts Belief Washington Is Desirous of Keeping Friendship with Republic.

[Copyright: 1905: By the New York Herald.]

CARACAS, June 1.—President Castro's message to congress deals largely with the American question. The independent course of the Venezuelan ministry has been sustained. It is believed here that the discussion of the question has revealed the truth to the American government as has been shown by the measures adopted in Washington, which are regarded as tending to maintain the friendship which Bowen professed.

It is held by Castro that any reconsideration of the finding of the arbitrator in the Olcott or Orinoco Navigation company case, which has been rendered in accordance with the provisions of the protocols, or any arbitration of the Bermudez asphalt case while it is pending in the courts would mean a loss of Venezuela's sovereignty and independence.

The president asserts that Venezuela is fulfilling strictly all the terms of the Bowen protocols.

COUNT MAY HAVE TRIED TO DIE.

Italian Painter Who Eloped with Princess Elvira Is Wounded by Alleged Accident.

FLORENCE, June 1.—Last night a shot was heard in the house where Count Filippo Folchi, a painter, lives, and where also resides Princess Elvira of Bourbon, a daughter of Don Carlos, the pretender to the Spanish throne. Eight years ago she eloped with Count Folchi. Folchi had been wounded in the chest. He said the wound was the result of an accident, received while he was unloading a revolver. The authorities believe that an attempt at suicide was made.

GOVERNOR SEEKS PARK PRESIDENT.

Visits Chicago to Select a Man to Head the West Side Commission.

MANY REFUSE THE PLACE.

Indication That Fred A. Bangs Is Not Considered for Reappointment.

Gov. Deneen is hunting for a president for the west park board. He came to Chicago last night, was met at the station by Roy O. West, chairman of the state central committee, and started out to cover all the south side boulevards on a walking tour. The governor is Rooseveltian in practicing the lively life. Even money is offered that he will walk some of the Chicago politicians to death before the local patronage has been distributed.

It was not attempted to find the west side president by covering all the south side on foot, but Deneen and West talked over all likely candidates as they walked. The search will be continued today when the governor will meet other local politicians.

Eckhart Refuses the Position.

If B. A. Eckhart would have taken the place he could have had it. He was urged and labored with in an effort to induce him to accept it, but he pleaded that he already had too much work and his family would rebel. He suggested Joseph Downey and Mr. Downey was approached. He was found to have moved from the west side to the north shore. Mr. Downey made a suggestion and the man he recommended was tried, with the result that another failure was recorded.

The strenuous effort to secure a new man appears to indicate that President Fred A. Bangs is not under consideration for reappointment. Members of the republican county organization are endeavoring to assure and reassure the people of the west side that politics will not enter into the makeup of the new park board. They feel that the west side is entitled not only to the assurance but to the fulfillment of the promise.

Many Improvements Are Planned.

Among other things it is promised to the west siders that the parks shall not be managed as institutions of easy and profitable employment for the aged relatives and friends of west side politicians. The present board has laid out plans to spend $1,400,000 of the $2,000,000 which it was authorized by the recent legislature to raise by bond issue.

Some of the improvements which are contemplated in these plans, and which will be made by the new board, are:

Humboldt boulevard, side drives and walks laid.

Humboldt park, west section completed, drives and side drives resurfaced, probable building of natatorium.

Franklin boulevard, side drives and walks laid.

Garfield park, sections north of Lake street and south of Madison street completed, new greenhouse, refectory, driveways resurfaced, racetrack and bicycle track taken out.

Douglas park, section southwest of Ogden avenue completed, new refectory and new band stand.

Jackson boulevard, resurfaced from Ashland avenue to Garfield park.

Ashland avenue boulevard, resurfaced from Harrison to Twelfth street.

Changes in Garfield Park.

The removal of the racetrack and bicycle track in Garfield park has been ordered for some time, but Mr. Bangs says it would require an expenditure of $40,000, and the park board did not have the money until authorized to issue the new bonds.

"The people of the west side are entitled to good parks," said James Reddick, "and it is the intention of the governor to set a high standard in making his appointments. With a president and superintendent appointed for competency and not for politics it will be possible to secure an economical expenditure of the $2,000,000 which will be available for the rehabilitation of the system and the $1,000,000 available for small parks. Mr. Jensen, the landscape architect under consideration for the position of superintendent, is a high class man."

Will Ratify Primary Plans.

The republican county central committee will meet this afternoon to ratify the decision of the executive committee to hold primaries on June 23 for the selection of candidates for drainage trustees, Superior court judges, and the vacancy on the Circuit court bench.

It is understood that B. A. Eckhart's decision not to be a candidate for president of the drainage board is final, and if that is the case another candidate must be sought. Among the members of the county central committee there is a strong inclination to turn to Zina R. Carter.

Republican leaders say Mr. Carter has stood for decency in the administration of drainage board affairs, and with the power given the president of the board under the new law he would be a capable and efficient officer. Joseph Braden has been advised not to seek renomination, and the report is that he has decided not to work for it but to submit to graceful retirement.

Democrats Leave for Cleveland.

Mayor Dunne and the County Democracy Marching club will depart tonight for Cleveland to assist Mayor Tom Johnson at the annual Cleveland picnic on Saturday. Marshal James H. Farrell has issued a general order describing the proper outfit, which includes black umbrella (rolled), cutaway coat, silk hat, white gloves, and thick soled walking shoes.

Justice James Dooley has been appointed judge advocate of a military commission created to punish dereliction.

COUNTESS FILES DIVORCE PLEA.

Wife of Former Secretary of Austrian Legation Brings Action at Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., June 1.—[Special.]—Countess Louise May Hecker de Szilassy, daughter of Col. Frank J. Hecker of Detroit, ex-member of the Panama canal commission, has begun a suppressed suit for divorce from Count Guyla Hope Joseph de Szilassy, of Vienna, Austria.

Count de Szilassy was for many years secretary of the Austro-Hungarian legation at Washington, and it was while on a visit at the capital that Miss Hecker met the count. They were married in 1898. The count took his bride to Austria, where she remained a year, later coming to Detroit.

Tales of cruelty, never published, were heard on all sides, but the countess after a short stay in Detroit resolved to go back to the count. She soon returned to Detroit, however, and has lived here ever since. Countess Szilassy charges only non-support in her bill. She has one child.

BONAPARTE FOR BIG NAVY.

Next Secretary Declares in Baltimore That His Views Accord with Those of the President.

Baltimore, Md., June 1.—Charles J. Bonaparte, who is to be the next secretary of the navy, today expressed his views on the naval policy of the United States. He said:

"I am in entire agreement with the president's views as to the necessity of a strong and efficient navy for our national safety, and the full discharge of our duties as a great nation.

"Had I not thought as he did on this subject I could not have accepted the position he offered me. As to all matters of detail, however, I am not yet qualified to speak."

May Be Chosen for Park Artist.

JENS JENSEN

Jens Jensen, 1030 Augusta street, mentioned as a candidate for the position of chief landscape architect for Chicago's west park system, says he is an artist and not a politician.

The humorous feature, as Mr. Jensen views it, is that he is taked of in connection with the position at this time apparently because of his unfamiliarity with politics and its ways, while five years ago he lost his place as landscape gardener in Humboldt park for exactly the same reason, or, as he says, "because I am an artist and not a politician."

Mr. Jensen had received no official notification yesterday of his selection, but if it should come he declared he would not be unwilling to accept provided he were guaranteed freedom from political interference.

"I am glad to see the gradual change in sentiment toward what should constitute the qualifications of men in the public service," said Mr. Jensen. "Where, a few years ago, politicians with no other qualifications than that they could deliver the delegates filled the important offices. Today the public is demanding that specialists must be found in order that the best interests of the community shall be served."

Mr. Jensen was born in Denmark, where he received his education in landscape work and forestry. He came to the United States twenty years ago. He is a member of the metropolitan and special park commissions.

BANK INQUIRY IS UNDER WAY.

Head of St. Louis Institution in Charge of State Authorities Suggests Temporary Cashier.

St. Louis, Mo., June 1.—[Special.]—President E. G. Lewis of the People's United States bank today proposed that the state authorities name a temporary cashier pending the conclusion of the investigation which is under way. Secretary of State Swanger, who took charge of the institution yesterday, following a recommendation by Washington postal inspectors that a fraud order be issued, has not indicated what action he will take on President Lewis' proposal.

Mr. Swanger, when asked regarding the amount of money that had been received by President Lewis from subscribers, said he could not tell at present. He said he could not tell the exact number of stockholders in the bank, nor where the funds of the institution are located, until more light is shed on the bank's condition.

One of the charges against Lewis is that he borrowed more money than the condition of the bank would justify. Lewis says the state authorities took charge of the bank at his suggestion.

Colorado Bank Closed.

Trinidad, Colo., June 1.—The American Savings bank closed its doors today. Its liabilities are $176,000 and assets $196,000. J. L. Bridge, vice president and cashier, said the bank was closed because the officers are in dispute as to certain questions of policy which were growing to the point of jeopardizing the bank's interests. He says the bank is solvent and that depositors will be paid in full.

CHURCH CHANGES MISSION PLAN

Congregational Society Adopts Report Providing for New National Secretary with Allies.

Springfield, Mass., June 1.—The Congregational Missionary society adopted a report which provides for a new national society, with allies in the several states.

The plan was opposed on the ground that it places the power of electing delegates with the state societies instead of the state associations of churches.

The matter of the legality of the transfer to the new basis was warmly contested, as some thought that the millions of dollars held in trust for the work of the national society would be placed in danger by the transfer.

The plan cannot be put into operation until the close of another year.

Blackmailer Gets Prison Term.

St. Louis, Mo., June 1.—Charles W. Burns, alias John Roberts, pleaded guilty to the charge of using the mails in an attempt to blackmail several ministers and was today sentenced to one year and one day in the penitentiary.

SUDDEN DEATH OF ARTHUR ORR

Prominent Chicago Grain Dealer, on Eve of Departing for Home, Dies in Pasadena, Cal.

Arthur Orr, for many years connected with the grain business of Chicago, died yesterday in Pasadena, Cal. He had expected to return to this city from the west last Sunday, but word was received by his relatives that he was ill and would postpone his return. Then, two days later, the information was received that his illness had taken a critical turn.

Mrs. Orr accompanied her husband when he went to California last October, and was with him at the time of his death. They took a house for the winter in Pasadena. Arthur Orr Jr., the oldest son, and George Orr, the second son, also were at their father's bedside, the former hastening from Princeton university where he is a student, and the latter from preparatory school in Lawrenceville, N. J.

Born in Madison, Ind., in 1853, Mr. Orr came to Chicago soon after the fire of 1871. He went to work as a clerk in the firm of Irwin, Green & Co., and became a partner in 1878. In 1885 he withdrew and founded the grain firm of Orr & Combs. Later Mr. Combs withdrew and Mr. Orr continued the business under his own name alone. Ten years later he retired from active business. He was a philanthropist in an unostentatious way.

Mr. Orr lived in Evanston throughout his Chicago career. There he married, in 1881, Miss Eleanor Morse, daughter of the Rev. C. J. Morse, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Evanston. They had six children.

Besides his grain interests, Mr. Orr was connected with lake shipping and was a director in the Chicago City railroad. He was a member of the Union League, the Washington Park, and the Chicago clubs.

Word was received in Evanston last night that the body would be brought there for burial, leaving California tomorrow.

FATHER KIDNAPS TWO GIRLS.

Wealthy Farmer Captures Daughters, Who Had Left Their Home with Their Mother.

Henry Zieseniss, a prosperous farmer living four miles east of Crown Point, Ind., kidnaped his two daughters—Ethel, aged 14, and Mabel, aged 11—in a crowded street in that city yesterday. The mother is prostrated over the loss of her daughters.

Mrs. Zieseniss left her husband about two weeks ago, taking her two daughters. Zieseniss traced his family from one place to another. The wife and daughters went to Michigan to visit relatives. The father tracked them there and they fled to Angola, Ind., where Zieseniss again sought them. They then returned to Crown Point.

The girls started out for a bicycle ride. Their father saw them and tried to stop them. They pedaled faster and screamed for help. Zieseniss jerked both girls from their wheels and put them in his waiting carriage. Then he leaped in and lashed his horse homeward.

The children are imprisoned at home and Zieseniss refuses to admit any one to the house. The wife says she will sue for divorce and the custody of her children.

WOMEN'S WOES

Many of the daily woes of womanhood are due to sick kidneys; but too many women fail to recognize kidney trouble when they have it, and kidney diseases are fatal if neglected too long.

When a woman's back aches from morning to night—

When she feels worn out after every bit of work she has to do—

When she cannot bend or stoop without suffering twinges of pain—

When she has constant headaches, dizzy spells and bearing-down pains—

When she has any or all of these ailments it is a sure sign that the kidneys are not doing their duty. Uric acid and other poisons that the kidneys should filter out of the blood are carrying disease into every part of the system.

Regard this as a danger signal. Recognize the kidneys as the cause of your many aches and pains, and to cure the kidneys use a kidney medicine.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. The kidneys begin to do their work properly, and pure blood, the greatest system regulator, restores the whole body to health and strength.

Don't Neglect the Kidneys. At the First Indication of Kidney Trouble Begin Using Doan's Kidney Pills, a Modern Kidney Specific, which Has Cured Thousands of People Right Here at Home.

CHICAGO TESTIMONY.

Mrs. Carrie Sommer, wife of Charles Sommer, who is employed in Wilt's trunk factory and who lives at 1915 N. Robey-st., says: "A severe cold affected my kidneys and brought on a backache that forced me to take to my bed. The pain was sharp and terrible. My friends tried to tell me it was rheumatism, but my kidney secretions were so disordered that I knew what it was. I was in agony for two weeks, when I saw in the paper how a Barry-av. woman had been cured by Doan's Kidney Pills. Her symptoms were the same as mine. I sent to the Public Drug Co.'s store, 150 State-st., for a box and began taking them. I could tell after three doses that they were curing me. I took them according to directions and they drove out the pain in short order and regulated the secretions. I cannot praise them too highly. I never had much faith in doctors and no prescription could do the work so quickly. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to many of my friends and am keeping a supply in the house all the time. I do not like to have my name published in this way, and I only make the statement in order that it may attract the attention of other sufferers."

When the kidneys are well, they remove from the body every day nearly one ounce of uric acid and other poisonous waste.

When the kidneys are sick, this poison is carried by the blood to every part of the body. It causes rheumatism, gout, neuralgia, sciatica, gravel, stone in the kidneys, heart disease, indigestion, diabetes and Bright's Disease.

Doan's Kidney Pills act promptly and give complete relief, because their influence is exerted directly upon the diseased tissues. This medicine has been curing sick kidneys for 72 years.

LEST WE FORGET.

THE TRIBUNE'S war news has been phenomenal, because it has been leading not merely its local contemporaries but the papers of the country and the world. Mr. O'Laughlin has sources of information that the editor of THE TRIBUNE himself does not know about. Whatever they may be, they are trustworthy. He has been "next" the news all the time, beginning with the opening of gun fire Saturday noon, and continuing ever since.

In its early "bull dog" country edition Saturday night THE TRIBUNE sent out word that the battle in the straits of Corea had begun at noon on Saturday, and this was verified in the later editions and the next day. Then the list of ships sunk, disabled, and captured was exactly according to the facts, and THE TRIBUNE printed it ahead of all papers in the civilized world, so far as we know.

It will not do to think that the achievements of THE TRIBUNE news department in this instance have been unusual or solitary. There have been some other cases almost as remarkable. The readers of THE TRIBUNE should not forget that it was the first paper to report the fall of Port Arthur, the first to print a complete report of the battle of Mukden, and, above all, that it was the first paper in the United States and the world to give the news of the result of the battle in Manila bay when Admiral Dewey sent the Spanish fleet to the bottom.

There was another event also of national importance that THE TRIBUNE alone reported and no other paper pretended to touch. This was the decision of the United States Supreme court in the income tax case. That decision was given fully and accurately three days before any other newspaper had it or even an abstract of it. What THE TRIBUNE printed exclusively was no guess work; it was a masterly synopsis of the decision as it was subsequently handed down by the court, and was so manifestly taken from the records that the court for a long time meditated sending somebody to jail for contempt, but on reflection decided to "forget" the matter. We hope the readers of THE TRIBUNE have not imitated that pernicious example. They should not "forget" it, because it was an unusual piece of news gathering, which is also true of the other events referred to.

It is in bad taste for a newspaper to blow its own trumpet too often, too long, or too loud; but its readers frequently are in danger of not knowing precisely the kind of goods they are getting. Not reading other newspapers they take it for granted that the others have what they receive from THE TRIBUNE. Frequently they indulge in erroneous presumptions. They will often get in THE TRIBUNE that which they could get in no other newspaper.

Even if they know the privileges they have enjoyed in THE TRIBUNE they are likely to forget them, and this is an occasion on which we respectfully invite them "not to forget" that they have been getting all the news, all the time, when it occurred, and in the best possible form.

THE GHOST OF A "YELLOW PERIL."

A good deal has been said about the "yellow peril" in connection with the overwhelming defeat of the Russians in the orient. What is the "yellow peril" after all? What is there a peril of?

The peril, as nearly as we can define it, is that the oriental countries will be ruled by the oriental people; that the Japanese and the Chinese will not be enslaved by Russians, Germans, Britishers, or Americans; and that they are to have their own countries for their own uses. If there is any greater peril than that we do not know what it is.

The Japanese have not proposed to annex Russia, Germany, France, or England, and we believe that the American people will be reasonably safe from them if they attend to their own business and keep in their own country. If they attempt to conquer Japan and enslave the Japanese, probably they will have trouble on their hands, but we do not believe anybody is meditating anything of the kind.

The "yellow peril" apparently lies in the suggestion that the yellow people will be able to defend themselves against Caucasian aggression. So far as this is the case we say, "Hurrah for the yellow peril; the more of it there is the better."

A people as brave, as original, as skillful, as accomplished as the Japanese are entitled to govern themselves. Manifestly the Russians are not superior to them in civilization or cultivation, and have no right, divine or otherwise, to attempt to rule over them or over the people of the countries near them. There is no reason to believe that the Japanese will give the Coreans or the Manchurians a less enlightened government than the Russians would.

When it comes to China, the Chinese under proper instruction perhaps can take care of themselves as well as the Germans, French, British, or Russians can take care of them.

There is one thing more to be said about the "yellow peril," and that is that the yellow races will not always be in perfect accord. As they become more powerful jealousies will arise between them. China will not constantly accept instruction from Japan, and will not wish to be dominated by any nation, yellow or white, outside of its own country. The Japs are remotely Malays in their origin, the Chinese are Mongolian. There is no race affinity between them.

As the Chinese become more enlightened and better armed they may insist upon ruling themselves, and so far as they do this they will be acting strictly in accordance with American principles, and the American people should wish them godspeed. The same is true of any nation, yellow, white, or black, Mongolian or Malay, in China, Japan, or the Philippines, that is competent to govern itself.

When the inhabitants of the Philippines prove that they are competent to govern themselves they ought to be permitted to do it. The United States ought to establish them in their independence as completely as it did the people of Cuba in their right of self-government.

There need be no fear of aggression by the yellow race upon the white race so long as the men of the white race will attend to their own business and keep in their own countries, and permit the yellow people to do the same.

WIND AND WASTE.

When we do not have wind we have waste, and when we do not have waste we have wind, and sometimes we have both in the administration of city affairs in Chicago. In the Chicago water department there is both wind and waste. The city engineer testifies that 75 per cent of the engine power at the disposal of the city is exerted to pump wind into the mains or water that is wasted after it has been pumped.

Knowing the facts to be as they are, the city administration does not attempt to change them. It has diagnosed the disease. It does not apply the remedy. The reason is that the universal introduction of the meter system and the strict enforcement of a policy of requiring people to pay for all the water they use would make the administration highly unpopular. It would mean a loss of votes, and that is of more importance in these days of regenerate and enlightened municipal administration than public economy is.

No private business would attempt to supply customers indefinitely with goods at less than cost for fear that they would not like it if they were charged something like the actual value of the merchandise they received. We cannot imagine one of the State street houses arguing that it would become unpopular with its customers if it were to charge for the goods taken away from the store what they cost plus a small percentage of profit. Commercial houses are not doing business solely on the popularity basis. They have common sense and sane business principles to enforce. Charitable as they may be in the abstract, they are not concretely so philanthropic that they wish to give away their goods at less than cost and throw in an extra coupon or two by way of bonus—for popularity's sake.

City administrations are not organized on business principles. They do not seek to perform the obvious duties of the day that may be before them. They are constantly seeking to control events that lie in "the laps of the gods."

They are not even content to do well what they have undertaken to do. They do not say, "We have a plain duty to perform, and we will discharge it to the best of our ability." They constantly endeavor to "better the instruction they already have." They are always clamoring for something more and something harder to do—in order that they may do it imperfectly. They wish constantly to embrace new opportunities for infidelity, to pursue further illusions, and catch, if they can, the will of the wisps that are glimmering in some remote part of the marsh wherein they find themselves perpetually stuck.

They clutch at strange transparencies and reach out after fantastic shapes. Always and everywhere the demand is, "Let "us, if possible, exhibit our incompetency "in still other directions. We want more "work to do in order that we show how "unfit we are to do any work well."

THE TEACHERS' FEDERATION.

The conflict between the teachers' federation and the board of education can have only one result, and that must be the submission of the federation to the constituted authorities. The people of Chicago are at present in no mood to submit to dictation from any federation of public employés—teachers, policemen, firemen, "shutoff" men, or any other kind of men, women, or children.

We hold with Mr. James Dalrymple, the Glasgow expert recently introduced to the people of Chicago by Mayor Dunne, that the formation of unions among public employés is undesirable and unnecessary. On this head Mr. Dalrymple said in his speech Wednesday night:

> Some people have an idea that a municipal service is inaugurated on behalf of the men [or women] employed in it. There never was a greater mistake. I believe that the men [or women] who serve a municipality must be better, must be more under discipline than those who serve a private corporation. Of course, we do not object to men joining a union, but I told them over and over again, "What's the use of your joining a union? Surely the citizens of Glasgow, who are at your back, will see that you are not harassed. Surely the city council, which is sympathetic toward labor, will see that you get the best conditions that are going," and consequently we have hitherto been able to go on without the assistance of a union. . . . We do not believe a municipality ought to pamper its men; that it ought to give the men whatever they want. A municipality ought to pay the highest standard rate, and that is all I think it should be called upon to do.

So far as the late strikes of school children were encouraged by the teachers' federation, or any other federation of labor, special or general, they were an attack upon the community. Everybody thought at first that the strikes were simply an exhibition of juvenile effervescence or ignorance. When they were informally approved by the federation of labor they assumed an aspect they did not previously have. The teachers' federation is affiliated with the federation of labor. Presumably it approves of the incendiary, insulting resolutions which were introduced at a recent meeting of the federation of labor, where they were received with applause and referred to the executive committee.

It is high time that the teachers' federation should cut loose from the federation of labor. If it does not the teachers who are engaged in a revolt against public authority should be cut loose from the school system. They are violating the fundamental principles of good order. They are setting to the school children an example of insubordination such as should not be tolerated for one moment.

The board of education ought to have the courage to put down the teachers' federation. If the board shall proceed against the federation with the "strong arm" it will have the support of every decent citizen in Chicago.

There is never much public sympathy with a federation of the salaried employés of a government. The policemen's union, the firemen's union, the letter carriers' union, and other kindred organizations, when met in a firm, resolute spirit by the authorities, usually melt away. If the school board has the courage of its convictions it will dispose of this teachers' federation in short order. There ought not to be an organization of school teachers in the city of Chicago, except for benevolent, or educational, or social purposes. The purposes of the present federation are not in the main benevolent, or social, or pedagogic. The federation is a labor "union," intended to obtain better hours, higher pay, or special privileges for teachers, and it exists in defiance of the rules and regulations of the board of education.

As such it is a threat to the constituted authorities, and it ought to be dissolved, peaceably if it can be, forcibly if it must be.

THE MAYOR'S VICE ZONES.

Mayor Dunne has shown his inexperience as an executive officer in announcing publicly his purpose to "segregate vice" within well defined districts, and stating what the districts are. Mayors have done this from time immemorial, but they have not made public announcement of their policy before initiating it or while carrying it out. Both the Harrisons did it, but, like Rudyard Kipling's Lord Bobs, they "did not advertise." They did it without any flourish of trumpets or public demonstrations, because they thought it was the proper thing to do. Doubtless they were aware that in doing it they were acting without authority of law, and that if they were to put themselves on record as intending to suspend various laws and ordinances within well defined districts they might get into trouble.

Now Mayor Dunne has set off open mouthed upon his reformatory mission and has immediately come into collision, as it might be expected he would, with the state's attorney. If the mayor has plainly put himself on record in writing, or has announced to the grand jury that it is his purpose to tolerate certain forms of vice within well defined districts and prohibit those forms of vice in other districts, and the program of toleration shall be carried out, we believe that he will make himself liable to indictment and possible removal from office. If Mayor Dunne shall back up his words by acts he will put himself in the power of the state's attorney until the expiration of his term of office. A mayor has no right to suspend in one part of the city ordinances he enforces in another. Mayors have done it, but they have not admitted that they did it. Mayor Dunne admits that he intends to do it. It seems to us that he is preparing a lot of trouble for himself. If he shall carry out his intentions he may have difficulty with officers of the law who are superior to himself, and who, not being particularly under his influence, will fetch him up with a round turn.

There are other objections to the mayor's announced policy. It is a bold thing to say that three large districts of Chicago—one on each side of the river—shall in future be given over entirely to the reign of vice; that in certain parts of the city, on each side of the river, embracing in one instance a square mile or more of territory, no respectable business is to be carried on, no property is to be used for decent purposes, and no pure domestic life is to be recognized; that the man or woman who is found in such a district is a "suspect"; that even to pass through or across the plague spot on foot is to throw the burden of proof of innocence upon the wayfarer.

The policy of the mayor is startling. Probably he never stopped to consider that he would leave the people of the south side only one avenue of communication between the business center and the better residence wards. All Wabash avenue from Thirty-third to Harrison, and all of State and Clark from Twenty-second to Harrison are to be given over to the red light fraternity. These great streets are distinctly to be recognized as "levees." Wabash avenue, State, and Clark are the only streets that have surface traction lines running to the south side residence districts. All who do not take the elevated or the steam roads will have to traverse a levee district. It would be an ignominious surrender to give up forthwith, without a protest, three great avenues of commerce to the "red light" business. It is a surrender that the people of Chicago never will agree to.

The mayor has gone too fast and too far. He will have to reconsider his intention to "segregate vice" in so generous a fashion. He should think twice before he attempts to suspend the laws and ordinances in large districts of the city while he enforces them in other districts. If he does anything of the kind he will go plump against the state authorities and will eventually have to abandon his policy or abandon his position as mayor of Chicago. The state's attorney has his clutches on him now and will not let go unless the mayor lets go of his policy, so far, at least, as the public announcement of it is concerned.

It is amazing that Mayor Dunne, with his experience on the bench, especially in the criminal court, should commit himself publicly to so radical a policy, one so subversive of law and order as that which he has announced, and so obnoxious to the "decent opinions of mankind" and womankind.

IN A MINOR KEY.

Quite the Contrary.

They were giving a reception to the battle scarred hero.

"I am delighted to meet you, captain," exclaimed Miss Gushingly. "So you were one of the men behind the guns!"

"Great Scott, no, ma'am!" responded the maimed veteran. "I was one of the men in front of the guns. Don't I look it?"

"They say he lives like a millionaire."

"It's true. He can't eat a blamed thing he likes."

Unappreciated Philanthropy.

"You won't mind my mentioning it, perhaps," said the tall, slim, cadaverous man of middle age, turning to the young man sitting next to him at the lunch counter, "but the salesman at the clothing store neglected to remove the tag from the tail of your coat when you bought it this morning."

"I don't know that you need to concern yourself about that tag, sir," said the young man, reddening with anger.

"You're welcome," rejoined the other, calmly stirring his coffee.

"To the best of my knowledge and belief, sir, I didn't thank you."

"O, that isn't necessary. If one of the parties in a transaction of this kind fails in the matter of common civility it doesn't release the other from the obligation to be at least ordinarily polite. Keep the tag on if you prefer."

"I don't need your permission to do that, either."

"It's curious," remarked the cadaverous man, after eating for a few moments in silence, "in what different ways people acknowledge a kindness. For instance, I once offended a man almost to the fighting point by telling him that his dyed mustache didn't look well with his light brown hair, just as your—"

"I don't care to hear any more of your talk."

"Yes; that's exactly what he said. You wouldn't believe it, young man, but I've got into more kinds of scrapes by trying to render unobtrusive little services to my fellow men than you've got pimples on your nose—"

"I'll be obliged to you if you'll let me alone and attend to your own business, you darned old walking skeleton!"

"No man of proper feeling could refuse a request couched in such mild, conciliatory language as that. Please consider the remark as to the tag on the tail of your coat withdrawn. Furthermore, for fear it might offend you, I shall say nothing about your making too much noise when you eat, wiping your nose with your napkin, or laying your dead cigar at my elbow, you unmitigated barbarian. What you need is somebody with a good vocabulary to tell you that you're a two legged donkey and an unmannerly boor, with less sense or decency than a—going, are you? Sorry you can't stay to hear the rest of it."

With a sigh of regret that his well meant endeavor to do good had been so coldly repulsed the long, lean, elderly man finished his luncheon in silence. C. W. T.

NATIONS TAKE NEW RANK IN STRENGTH OF NAVIES.

Washington, D. C., June 1.—[Special.]—The destruction of Rojestvensky's fleet by Admiral Togo's squadron has advanced the United States from fifth to fourth position among the naval powers of the world. It also has restored the balance of power in Europe for Great Britain, whose navy now is considerably superior to the combined fleets of France, Germany, and Russia.

Russia has fallen from third position to eighth, ranking now below Japan, which is seventh. Russia's strength is not as effective as it appears on paper, because most of its ships either are locked up in the Black sea or are interned in Chinese ports. The relative order at present of warship tonnage of the principal naval powers is thus stated by the office of naval intelligence:

Nation.	Tonnage.	Nation.	Tonnage.
Great Britain	1,595,871	Italy	254,510
France	603,721	Japan	252,661
Germany	441,249	Russia	227,343
United States	316,523	Austria	112,336

The following table shows how the nations would rank in case the vessels building now were completed:

Nation.	Tonnage.	Nation.	Tonnage.
Great Britain	1,926,107	Russia	338,191
France	778,149	Italy	327,339
United States	643,693	Japan	257,577
Germany	567,291	Austria	151,426

An examination of the detailed statement made by the office of naval intelligence shows that Russia now has left 7 battleships of the first class, 7 coast defense vessels, 3 armored cruisers, 4 protected cruisers of about 6,000 tons, 11 smaller cruisers, 115 torpedo boats, and 13 submarines. Five of the battleships are in the Black sea, and two of the coast defense ships are in the same waters; also all the armored cruisers and most of the protected cruisers are there, as are a large proportion of the destroyers and torpedo boats. The submarines have been shipped to Vladivostok, and may prevent the Japanese from maintaining too close a blockade of that port. To all intents and purposes the Russian navy is the weakest on paper of any power, including Austria.

The crippling of Russia on the sea is of the greatest importance to Europe and especially to Great Britain. England's policy for a long time contemplated greater construction than that of any three continental powers, but this proved so expensive the admiralty determined to keep well in the lead of any two continental powers. With Russia enjoying the naval strength she did before the war, Great Britain was just about equal in naval tonnage to France, Russia, and Germany combined. Now she is superior by 250,000 tons. The effect of this upon the European situation is far more appreciated in the old world than here for the reason that it will have a certain influence in the settlement of various continental questions.

In spite of the losses which Japan has suffered her tonnage today is 30,000 greater than before the war began. The increase is due to the capture of Russian ships. As showing Japan's strength in ships built and building the naval intelligence office furnished the following table:

Type of vessel.	—Built— No.	Tons.	—Building— No.	Tons.
Battleships, first class	5	70,516	2	32,400
Coast defense vessels	3	29,527	..	......
Armored cruisers	3	72,837	..	......
Cruisers, 6,000 to 3,000 tons	11	42,596	1	8,000
Cruisers, 3,000 to 1,000 tons	11	21,276	..	......
Torpedo boat destroyers	22	7,426	..	......

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1905: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

THERE is no doubt that the fall of the Paschitch ministry at Belgrade, where United States Minister Jackson has just arrived, will have the effect of endowing the reign of the unhappy King Peter with a new, if perhaps brief, lease of life.

For ex-Premier Paschitch, a strong and masterful man, without an atom of scruple, was bent upon driving King Peter to such straits that in sheer despair he would abdicate in favor of his son, in which event he, Paschitch, was determined to take possession of the regency, and to play the same despotic rôle in Servia as did Ristitch during the minority of the ill fated King Alexander. He had almost accomplished his aim. For the position of Peter had become so intolerable, boycotted as he is by all the foreign governments, and flouted by his ministers, and by the officers of his army, that he would doubtless have thrown up the sponge long ago and abandoned his throne had he but been able to assure himself of a fortune sufficient for his own wants and those of his children in private life. Money, however, is exceedingly scarce in Servia, and nobody possessed of the necessary means cares sufficiently about the Servian throne, or the Servian people, to be willing to pay to Peter the sum which he needed to spend the remainder of his days in ease and comfort.

Though Paschitch has fallen, he still remains one of the most important factors of the political situation in Servia. And it may be questioned whether he does not constitute a greater danger to the king out of office than in. For, undoubtedly the premiership imposed upon him certain restrictions from which, as a member of the opposition, he is, of course, entirely free. The only thing that can be said of the king is that threatened monarchs live long, and there is certainly no other sovereign of the old world whose existence since he assumed possession of the blood stained throne has been so fraught with peril and so analogous to the dancing on the extreme edge of a volcano as that of Peter of Servia.

Sir Morgan O'Connell, who has just succeeded to the baronetcy and estates of his elder brother, is, like him, a grandson of the youngest brother of the famous "liberator," Daniel O'Connell, whose name still occupies so warm a place in every true Irish heart. Just at this time, when there is so much discussion in connection with the discovery at Paris of what are believed to be the remains of Paul Jones, it may be remembered that a member of the O'Connell family, an uncle of the liberator, served as a volunteer under Paul Jones on board the Bonhomme Richard when fighting the English ship Serapis off Flamborough Head. Another uncle, Count O'Connell, was a general in the French army prior to the revolution at Paris, and afterwards entered the British army with the rank of colonel.

The present baronet's eldest brother, Maurice, was killed in action four and twenty years ago in South Africa as an officer of the crack Sixtieth Rifles regiment, and another member of the O'Connell family likewise laid down his life while fighting on the staff of Lord Roberts during the recent Boer war. Sir Morgan's sister is married to Gen. Sir Charles Tucker, the one who is popularly known throughout the army as "Damnation" Tucker, in order to distinguish him from an exceedingly pious and evangelical general of the same name, who is known as "Salvation" Tucker. It may be added by way of explanation that "Damnation" Tucker, although the best hearted man in the world, and beloved by his men, is famed for the character of his language and of his expletives, which can only be described as extremely pictorial.

The O'Connells are of ancient family, which originally came from county Limerick, but which has been settled for centuries in county Kerry, where they used to be known as the O'Connells of Darrinane Abbey, which, by the bye, was the home of the liberator. The baronetcy is of relatively modern creation and was conferred on Sir James O'Connell, the youngest brother of the liberator, by Queen Victoria in 1869.

The 42 foot brig which is now being fitted up at Chatham by order of King Edward as a miniature replica of the old British navy training ships, and which when completed is to be conveyed to Virginia Water at Windsor for the use and amusement of Prince Edward of Wales and of his brothers, serves to recall the fact that Emperor William and Prince Henry had a craft of much the same kind as boys, on which they spent many happy hours cruising about on the so-called Jungfernsee at Potsdam. It bore the name of the Royal Luise, and was in reality a twenty ton cutter, fitted up and rigged as a miniature frigate, and presented by King George IV. of England when prince regent to King Frederick William III. of Prussia. It may be said to have served as a training ship for the kaiser, as it has been for his sons, and there is no doubt that the foundation of the knowledge which he possesses of naval matters and the taste which he displays for everything pertaining to matters marine are derived from his boyhood days on board the Royal Luise.

There used to be also a miniature frigate of the same kind on the Virginia Water at Windsor, where King Edward and his brothers Alfred and Arthur had plenty of fun as youngsters. Unless I am much mistaken, it was placed there by George IV. at about the time when he sent the Royal Luise to Potsdam. It became afflicted some time ago with the dry rot, and I understand that the new frigate now being built at Chatham for Prince Eddie by the orders of his grandfather, King Edward, is to take its place.

Like Edward VII., young Alfonso XIII. bears the title of emperor of India, and it is interesting to recall, in connection with his arrival in England on Monday, that it will be the first occasion that a king of Spain has set his foot on English soil since the days of Philip II., who married Queen Mary of England, the elder sister and predecessor of Queen Elizabeth on the English throne. King Philip was the son of Emperor Charles V., and was justly held responsible for many of those cruelties perpetrated by his English consort, and which won for her the name of "Bloody Mary." Of course, when Mary died the English would have nothing more to do with him, and it was then that he sent the ill fated armada against England. Had the armada succeeded in its object, as Philip confidently expected it would, he intended to follow it at once to England and to take possession of the English throne as the heir of his dead wife. King Alfonso comes to England on Monday under different conditions.

It is pleasant to be able to call attention to the fact that the satisfactory settlement of the scandal in connection with the ex-crown princess of Saxony has been brought about by a woman—namely: the countess Marie Fugger, who alone, of all the former friends of the ex-crown princess, came to her assistance at Florence in her trouble at a moment when she had even been deserted by her own relatives. It was the countess who brought the ex-crown princess to a realization of her indiscreet conduct, and who made several trips to Dresden, interviewing both the king and the Saxon minister of justice in behalf of the ex-crown princess, finally bringing about an agreement satisfactory to both parties, whereby the ex-crown princess is permitted to retain her little girl for another year and perhaps longer, and is allowed to have yearly interviews with her other children, her annual income being considerably increased, she in turn renouncing her German nationality, which of course now will enable the German police to keep her out of Germany as an undesirable foreigner, if necessity arises.

The Countess Fugger belongs to a mediatized family, which was originally of Jewish origin, and which occupied in the middle ages much the same position as the Rothschilds do today, its fortunes being derived from banking. But it was ennobled about the time of the discovery of America, and long before the Napoleonic wars at the beginning of the last century it had by dint of money and intrigue secured a place among the petty sovereign families of Germany, one of the most celebrated scions of the house being Cardinal Fugger. A member of the family, Count Francis Fugger, married in 1870 a girl of the name of Elizabeth Roth at Chicago. But the marriage was regarded as morganatic by the family, and although the son born to the union bears the title of count, conferred upon him by the pope, yet he has not been able to inherit his father's German honors or property.

SOUTH NOT ZEALOUS TO SECURE PAUPER AND CRIMINAL IMMIGRANTS.

Riots and Tragedies in Northern Cities Might Have Been Averted if Early Check Had Been Placed on Degenerate Tide.

BY RICHARD WEIGHTMAN.

Washington, D. C., June 1.—[Special.]—Apropos of that "southern industrial parliament" which assembled in Washington last month, and the chief object whereof, according to the utterances of its more prominent promoters, was to commit the south to a scheme for the wholesale importation of foreign labor, it begins to appear that the section in whose name the burlesque was enacted took practically no notice whatsoever of the event.

As a matter of fact, "the south" was inadequately represented, either in the "management," or the proceedings, or the body on the floor. As regards the "management" —that is to say, the committee having the affair in charge—it was composed of nine residents of the District of Columbia, most of them officials, one southern governor, one southern congressman, and one other southerner—all three of these from a single state—two New Yorkers, and one gentleman from Buffalo.

The three days' program announced by this committee provided for a discussion of improvements of southern ports, oceanic transportation, the character and distribution of immigrants, and "the Italian as a laborer for the south."

Both Languid and Lifeless.

As I predicted in a letter to THE TRIBUNE dated May 23, the delegates found some serious food for reflection in the disclosures, made about that time, of pauper and criminal immigration, and, quite as I expected, there was a dearth of enthusiasm in the connection.

The truth is there was never a more lifeless and languid gathering in Washington. It looked to me as though the southerners in attendance suddenly had realized the underlying purpose and significance of the convention and found themselves reduced to one solitary anxiety—that of getting back home as soon as possible. It did not take them long to perceive that the chief business in hand was European immigration, whereby the railway and steamship lines would add largely to their revenues, but as a result of which the south probably would multiply its troubles and largely recruit the ranks of its social enemies and perils.

Convention Memory Vanishes.

The convention, after a fairly good stump speech by the governor of North Carolina, and some more or less valuable utterances from politicians and government officials with various theories to exploit, vanished from public observation and was entirely forgotten long before it formally adjourned.

Indeed, so complete was the collapse, and so thoroughly was that collapse promoted by such genuine southerners as remained in Washington after the first day, I should not have thought of the "industrial convention" again but for the comments I now encounter in representative newspapers of the section. Now, however, I am reminded that I expected precisely such utterances from well informed quarters. For example, the Charlotte (North Carolina) Observer has just indulged in this editorial reflection:

"It were well if we looked before taking too long a leap in our new born zeal for foreign immigration."

South's Views Changed.

Curiously enough the Observer has been zealous in its advocacy of a European influx and correspondingly pessimistic in its estimate of the industrial situation as it stands. But the Observer is one of the distinctly intelligent newspapers of the south. It can look on with fortitude at the murder of a deduction by a fact and put to good use the lesson of the tragedy.

"Our own views," says the Charlotte paper, "on the subject of immigration have undergone some modification as the result of larger information."

Considers Chicago's Case.

Evidently the creators and the organs of southern opinion are not so bigoted or so credulous as the politicians, the labor leaders, and the transportation companies would like to find them. A prominent and distinguished southern statesman—and here I use the term "statesman" with all respect—said to me today:

"We have only to consider the predicament of Chicago and other northern communities in order to make up our minds permanently. Run your eye over the list of the strikers who are arrested for murderous violence or carried to the hospitals as the result of retaliation by those they have sought to kill, and you will find that their names suggest the class of immigrants our mistaken people are proposing to introduce into the south. They are the ruffians employed to kill men who claim the right to work for a living. They are the worst enemies of our civilization and our free institutions. They are brought over here in swarms, usually as ballast, I might say; they do not learn our language, know or understand our customs. They remain here for years or return to the lands of their nativity much sooner, as the case may be.

Source of Lawlessness.

"But they never make good citizens, and from first to last they are the willing if not eager tools of organized lawlessness. The mafia in New Orleans, the 'black hand' in New York, the bomb makers and bomb throwers of Chicago, Newark, and other cities, and the whole army of thugs, assassins, and incendiaries who figure in every riot as strike sympathizers are recruited from this class of immigrants. Any one who reads contemporaneous history with ordinary intelligence must know that every legitimate interest in the United States is imperiled by this abhorrent and abominable influx.

"I find no comfort in the calamity that has overtaken so many of our northern communities in consequence. On the contrary, I deplore it from the bottom of my heart. But I find a lesson there, all the same, and so far as my voice and influence can serve that end I shall impress it upon the south. We do not want the paupers, criminals, and degenerates of Europe brought into our section of the country. New Orleans has exterminated the mafia—by barbarous methods, as our northern friends are pleased to say. That doesn't matter. When it comes to choosing between the barbarism represented by a lot of dead outlaws and the 'order' represented by prostrate society and throttled business, I take the former horn of the dilemma without a second thought.

Way to Avoid Horrors.

"These are matters of taste. I criticise no one for his preference, however widely it may disagree with mine. But I have seen street riots in New York, Waterbury, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, etc. I have intimate knowledge of the Cripple Creek, the Cœur d'Alène, and other tragedies in the far west. And the only way I see to an avoidance of such horrors at the south is through absolute rejection of the ignorant, vicious, and corrupt material of which they are constructed.

"There's no means of proving it, of course, but I venture to assert that if Chicago, for instance, were at liberty to begin all over again, the men up there who represent the substance and the civilization of the city would oppose indiscriminate European immigration as resolutely as I do."

AMONG THE NEW BOOKS.

NEW ESTIMATE OF BRYANT.

An Appreciation by William Aspenwall Bradley of the American Poet.

William Aspenwall Bradley makes an earnest plea for the proper recognition of one of the most American poets in his life of "WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT," in the Macmillan company's "English Men of Letters" series. Basing his little book on the life of Bryant by Parke Godwin, Mr. Bradley has produced a readable and appreciative biography.

Among the other conclusions at which he arrives are the following: "Bryant has been subjected to such extremes of criticism that it is small wonder if even today his place in American literature is still a matter of dispute. He has in his time suffered both eulogy and detraction to an unusual degree." After quoting examples of each extreme, he says: "He is an American poet whose native inspiration is so imaginatively and sincerely expressed that it is of little consequence in what school his style was formed," but in poetry, "no matter how fresh or delicate, or deeply felt his expression, there is almost always a touch of the obvious and commonplace, as well as the chill of any incomplete sympathy with his kind. There can be no doubt that it is this want either of intellectual depth and originality that is the real source of weakness in Bryant's poetry. He is the poet, even of nature, only in the sense of seeking to reproduce the charm of her emotional loveliness. . . . The form under which natural beauty presents itself to Bryant is moral beauty, and the grandeur of his New England hillsides takes on through his vision something of the moral sublime. By virtue of a species of Platonism inherent in his Puritan ideals, everything that is lovely, and gracious, and elevating in the external world presents itself in association with the ideas of purity and holiness."

IN OLD "NUREMBERG."

Mr. and Mrs. Bell Describe It with Pen and Brush.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur George Bell have, between them, produced a fascinating work on "NUREMBURG" in one of those interesting series of English books with colored illustrations brought out in this country by the Macmillan company. The combination of Mrs. Bell's description with Mr. Bell's illustrations is a successful one and a happy idea.

Mrs. Bell has given us a charming pen picture of the interesting old German town, interweaving in her description all manner of legends about mythical personages and many romances and true stories concerning real people of the place. A long residence in Nuremberg has put the author thoroughly in sympathy with the town, and she is in a position thoroughly to appreciate its peculiar atmosphere and charm.

Mr. Bell's pictures are real illustrations. Not only have the subjects been chosen with discrimination and taste, but the original colors are reproduced with lifelike fidelity.

Franklin's Autobiography.

It is appropriate that Franklin's immortal story of his life should be included in the "Temple Autobiographies," that handsome series of books imported by E. P. Dutton & Co. of New York. It has been edited by William Macdonald, who supervises the series, and he supplies a biographical preface and a historical account of Franklin's later life. He seems to have brought to his task a genuine admiration for the subject, and he has performed his work well. Four illustrations embellish the volume.

"Beethoven," by Ernest Walker.

Brentano's issues in "The Music of the Masters" series, "Beethoven," by Ernest Walker of Oxford. The various divisions of the composer's work, such as choral music, vocal solos, music connected with the stage, and that written for the orchestra and chamber, are considered in separate chapters. There is also a consideration of the sonatas and other pianoforte works. Beethoven's music as a whole is summed up in the concluding paper. The little book is luminous and keenly critical.

His Enemies

[Copyright: 1905: By Tribune Company.]

Wind and weather and rain and sun—
Wasn't for them I'd get things done;
Fixed no patch for the garden truck—
Moon was wrong; it was just my luck.
Find a penny and lose a dime—

Bet a cent it would rain all day
'F I had a farm and was making hay.
Had one farm; it was close to town;
Stock strayed out where the fence was down.
Crops was poor, 'cause I farmed it wrong—
Luck is against me, right along.

Heard of a job I could get last night;
Thought I would go; didn't feel just right—
Went there today 'bout a-half past nine—
Fellow had stolen that job o' mine!
He went around last night—but, say,
Luck is against me, every day.

Heired some money when I was young—
Them was the days when my dollars rung!
When all the cash that I had was spent,
Then I had learned what "be careful" meant.
'F I had the money I'd save it right—
Luck is against me, day and night.

Wind and weather and rain and sun—
None o' them's lucky for me; not one!
Hear of a place where there's work to spare—
Somebody's got it when I get there.
Always a bill that I've got to climb—

MISS LUCILE DENT AND LIEUT. BURT HAVE MILITARY WEDDING.

Bride, Who Has Spent All Her Life at Army Posts, Is Married to Officer of the Twenty-fourth Regiment at the Residence of Her Grandfather—House Is Decorated with the National Flag and Its Colors—Will Go to Montana.

The first military wedding celebrated in Chicago for several years took place last evening at the residence of Gen. Loyd Wheaton, 39 Pine Grove avenue, when his granddaughter, Miss Lucile Marguerite Dent, daughter of Col. and Mrs. John Cromwell Dent, was married to Lieut. Franklin T. Burt, Twenty-fourth regiment, U. S. A. The bride has been called a true army girl, her whole life having been spent at army posts. She chose to be married beneath the stars and stripes, which had been draped by soldiers from Fort Sheridan.

About the rooms the red, white, and blue gave a color and cheer that was further enhanced by the full dress uniforms worn by the groom, the bride's father and grandfather, as well as many of the men who came from various barracks to be present at the wedding.

The ceremony was performed at 7 o'clock in the drawing room, where the deep bay windows were filled with ferns and palms, interspersed with Marguerites and bridal wreaths. Four large flags formed the draperies overhead and down the sides of the windows, beneath which was arranged an altar, where the Rev. Father Gill officiated.

The bride had no maid of honor, but selected four of her closest friends to be bridemaids. They were Miss Alice Fessenden of Highland Park, Miss Mary Adair of St. Paul, Miss Lillian Wagner of Lafayette, Ind., and Miss Cecile Le Jeune, a niece of Dr. and Mrs. Henrotin. Miss Edith Marie Dent and Miss Dorothy Fessenden were flower girls.

The bride wore soft white messaline, trimmed with rare old point lace and chiffon roses. It was fashioned with high neck and long sleeves and had a long full train. The tulle veil was caught with a diamond and pearl ornament, and a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley was carried. The bridemaids' gowns were of white net over white satin, made with baby waists and full skirts, and having high girdles of white satin. They carried Marguerites. The flower girls wore dainty white frocks and likewise carried Marguerites.

There were no ushers, the groom's only attendant being Dr. Clarence Loyd Wheaton, uncle of the bride. After the ceremony a reception was held for 200 guests, the newly married couple receiving under a canopy of flags. Lieut. Burt will take his bride to Fort Harrison, Helena, Mont., to reside, stopping en route in Colorado for a short time.

◆

A number of Chicagoans went to Lake Forest in the afternoon to attend the wedding of Miss Bertha Durand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Durand, to Mr. Arthur F. Yaggy of Hutchinson, Kas., which took place at 6:30 o'clock in the Lake Forest Presbyterian church, the Rev. James G. K. McClure officiating. The church was decorated profusely with peonies and summer flowers, the color scheme being pink and white.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Ruth Durand, as maid of honor, and by five maids—Miss Annie McClure of Lake Forest, Miss Mary Van Nortwick of Appleton, Wis., Miss Gertrude Dietrich of Hastings, Neb., and Miss Grace Barr and Miss Florence Giffen of Orange, N. J. Mr. Edward E. Yaggy acted as best man for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. Walter Yaggy, Mr. Wallace Rumsey and Mr. Frank Ferry of Lake Forest, Mr. James Boyce of Chicago, Mr. Herbert Scoville of New York, and Mr. Alexander Carver of Philadelphia.

The bride wore white chiffon cloth trimmed with point lace. Her veil was of tulle, and she carried spirea. Miss Ruth Durand's gown was of embroidered pink chiffon, and she carried pink sweet peas, while the maids wore white mull, with pink pompadour girdles, and carried pink and white Canterbury bells.

After the ceremony a small reception was held at the Durand residence, Merrie Meade, from 7 to 9 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Yaggy will take a wedding journey, after which they will reside at Hutchinson, Kas.

The marriage of Miss Agnes Marie Wyman to Dr. Gilbert Fitzpatrick took place last evening at 8:30 o'clock at the home of the bride, 473 Dearborn avenue. Bishop Fallows performed the ceremony, in the presence of almost 250 guests. Miss Grace Wyman attended her sister as maid of honor, and Mr. Paul Gilbert, a cousin of the groom, acted as best man.

Little Clara Wright and Irma Gottman, dressed in white frocks with lace, were the ring bearer and flower girl, and there were four ushers—Dr. A. M. Cameron, Mr. Arthur Evans, Mr. Carl Asendorf, and Mr. Glen Buck. The wedding gown was of renaissance lace, and a shower of lilies of the valley was carried. The maid of honor wore pink flowered net, and her flowers were pink sweet peas.

Another north side wedding was celebrated at St. James' church at 5 o'clock, when Miss Marie Mansfield, niece of Mrs. Louise Thomas of the Auditorium Annex, was married to Dr. Louis E. Schmidt. Only members of the family were present, and there were no attendants. The bride wore her traveling gown of light gray, with hat to correspond. The Rev. James S. Stone performed the ceremony, the bride being given in marriage by her aunt, Mrs. Thomas. Dr. and Mrs Schmidt left immediately for a wedding trip east. After Aug. 1 they will be at home at 47 Delaware place.

Miss Irma Ruth Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Marshall Smith, 1028 Sheridan road, was married to Mr. Walter Franklin Zimmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Zimmer, last evening. The ceremony took place at the family residence, the Rev. Frank Du Moulin officiating.

The bride, who was attended by Miss Anita Tiedeman as maid of honor, wore white satin messaline with trimming of Irish lace, chiffon, and pearls. Her veil was of tulle, arranged with a wreath of lilies of the valley, the same flowers forming the shower bouquet carried. Miss Tiedeman wore pink louisine, and carried pink sweet peas.

Instead of maids, the bride chose two matrons, her sister, Mrs. George Ion Dieterich, and Mrs. Forrest Todd Dustin, sister of the groom. They wore gray crêpe de chine with lace and pink girdles, and carried showers of pink sweet peas. Mr. Arthur Altschul acted as best man, and Mr. George I. Dieterich and Mr. Forrest T. Dustin were ushers.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE

CONDUCTED BY THE SCHOOL OF DOMESTIC ARTS AND SCIENCE OF CHICAGO

WHILE June is suggesting pretty, light gowns and dainty hats, the School of Domestic Arts and Science, 39 State street, is opening classes to meet the need of the season. During June special classes will be held for those who want to condense the courses into a short time. The pretty fabrics in the stores are tempting, but the difficulty and expense of getting them well made keeps many of us from buying them.

This year especially dainty waists and well fitting shirt waists are required in every complete wardrobe, and can be made with little expense. The shirt waist suit class promises to be popular and to rival the successful classes in lingerie waist just closed. These short courses make a good opportunity for the home dressmaker who cannot stop during the busy season to improve her method, but who can afford to do some studying during his month.

Expert manual labor is becoming more and more expensive, and this a rule that benefits both sides. The seamstress or home dressmaker who makes herself more expert commands higher wages; the woman learning to live well on a moderate income can save herself the expense of good work by becoming expert herself. We are gradually growing away from the pride in being well dressed which simply consisted in going to some high priced dressmaker or milliner and paying her not only for her workmanship and material but for doing our thinking for us.

Now, being well dressed should consist in ability to express oneself well in clothes, to understand combination of color, to know well proportioned masses, and finally, to develop quickness in adapting passing forms of fashion to fixed principles of art. This is only possible through a knowledge of the workmanship on a gown. There will be many pretty summer gowns worn this summer which will desplay not only the wearer's taste but manual skill as well, and the pocketbook will not be depleted.

Summer hats are always a temptation, and while it is easier to walk into a milliner's shop and order several hats anywhere from $15 to $40 apiece, they are, at best, fleeting and we wear them a comparatively short time. But if one knows how to form wire, and straw, and ribbons, and flowers into becoming headgear, these attractive finishings to certain costumes come within the reach of all.

The schoolroom in which the millinery classes have been held has veritably blossomed as the rose during the spring term, and many hats are now being admired as much as though they had carried a long price tag. The pastel colors of this year are especially attractive for summer gowns, suiting the whites and delicate colors we instinctively turn to in warm weather. Not only is such knowledge valuable in new hats but is often even more advantageous in making over last season's hats, or reviving one discouraged almost beyond usefulness by being caught in a sudden storm and brought home limp and shapeless.

A plain sewing class will also be held for those not ready for the shirt waist suit.

While these classes in domestic arts are going on, the domestic science side of the school will be by no means idle, for classes are forming in the first principles of cookery and in the third course work; another class especially planned for cooks, and one for invalid cookery. The woman who is familiar with the foundations of good cooking can work out much that is delightful for her family and is economical as well, and those who have already had the first courses have an opportunity for passing on to the artistic part of the work in this third course.

◆

The advantages of studying invalid cookery are well seen in the Passavant hospital, where the School of Domestic Arts and Science has conducted the nurses' course for three years, where both doctors and patients report the delight of a well arranged tray and properly cooked food. Often some little touch in serving turns the question of whether an invalid can be induced to take the much needed nourishment.

Often some food which has always disagreed, because always improperly prepared, becomes a staff of life when well cooked and attractively served. To those accustomed to cooking large quantities of food it is difficult to prepare enough for one without waste and with good results, but under the individual system of teaching at the School of Domestic Arts and Science recipes are given which are carefully proportioned for one, and many little touches taught which make all the difference between an apetizing dish and one from which an invalid will turn, saying, "I can't eat." Learn to give your delicate charges good food and you will not have to feed so many drugs to them.

The best way of doing a thing is always the easiest way, and those who take time to learn the best way save many hours of nervous strain and many dollars as well.

Registration day will be on Friday, June 2, and the work will begin on Monday, June 5, and last through the month of June. Those wanting good places in the classes should either call or write on registration day.

PROVISION FOR DULL PUPILS.

Education Board Will Have Ungraded Rooms for Subnormal Children in Public Schools.

All the dull and backward pupils in the public schools will be segregated in ungraded rooms as soon as accommodations can be provided for them. This announcement was made by officials of the board of education yesterday.

Dr. Daniel P. MacMillan, supervisor of the child study department, estimated that there are about 1,000 dull or subnormal children now in attendance at the regular public school classes.

"The presence of subnormal or backward pupils in a class hampers the work of the normal and brighter pupils," said Dr. MacMillan, "and not only will the department make a list of these subnormal children with a view to recommending their segregation, but it will also make a list of those who require individual attention from the teachers and for this reason should be placed in an ungraded room."

Trustee P. Shelly O'Ryan said he believed the subnormal children should be segregated at any cost.

"Even though fifty rooms are needed to accommodate them and fifty teachers to instruct them," he said, "I feel that it should be one of the prime aims of the board to see that the subnormal are taken from the normal at once for the good of both classes."

ANNUAL MEET OF ADVENTISTS.

Illinois Conference of Seventh Day Observers Will Begin in This City This Evening.

Seventh Day Adventists from all parts of the country have pitched their tents at Seventieth street and Cottage Grove avenue in readiness for the annual Illinois conference of the denomination, which opens this evening. Besides the large "meeting" tent there are sixty smaller structures of canvas which will serve as the dwellings of the leaders and their families.

The convention will continue until July 11 and meetings will be held each day, in the morning, afternoon, and evening, the speakers including missionaries from China, Corea, Japan, and Africa. Lectures on temperance and hygiene will be given by Dr. S. P. S. Edwards of the Tricity sanitarium of Moline, Ill.

Gospel tent meetings will be held by the North Avenue church every night during the summer at Kedzie and North avenues, beginning next Sunday. Evangelist E. L. Iverson will be in charge.

COUNTY PREPARING TO MOVE.

Officials Make Arrangements to Occupy Temporary Quarters While New Building Goes Up.

Officials of the county are making preparations for moving to temporary quarters in the Fort Dearborn and Rand-McNally buildings, which will be occupied while the new $5,000,000 courthouse is under construction. Judge Carter and the County court will move to the fourth floor of the Rand-McNally building June 15, being the first to vacate the old structure. Two new elevators will be placed in the Fort Dearborn building, and will give express service to the courts which will occupy the eleventh, twelfth, and thirteenth floors. It is expected that it will be nearly the middle of July before all the county departments are out of the old courthouse.

Two bellboys employed at McCoy's hotel, William Forrest and William Martin, were arrested yesterday on a charge of stealing $26 from the room of Deputy Sheriff Thomas A. James of Cleveland, O.

Deputy Sheriff James came to Chicago to take Fred Atternier, charged with child abandonment, to Cleveland. Atternier was arrested by Central station detectives, and the Cleveland authorities were notified.

The police say Mr. James, who returned to Cleveland last night, will come back to Chicago to prosecute Forrest and Martin.

GREEK GODS ARE AMAZED.

PRANKS OF LIFE CLASS GIRLS STARTLE PLASTER CASTS.

Shrieking, Laughing Damsels in Mother Goose Costumes Make Halls of Art Institute Ring with Tumult of Initiation Day Rites—Ceremonies Conducted Behind Closed Doors, with Only Sculptured Deities as Witnesses of Mysterious Doings.

"Wouldn't that make you stutter!" exclaimed the bronze bust of Aristotle to the plaster cast of Demosthenes, as 200 shrieking, laughing girls dressed as Jack Tars, Little Jack Horners, comic opera dancers, witches, and everything else in the fancy costume maker's catalogue, swept through Blackstone Memorial hall at the Art institute yesterday dragging a hundred chained neophytes after them.

"If only I had a golden apple to give to that light haired maiden over yonder," sighed the bronze bust of Paris of Troy as he contemplated Little Bo Peep as she flirted her short skirts at Little Miss Muffett.

It was initiation day for the girls' life class at the institute, and the ceremonies were carried on behind locked doors. A guard was stationed at the door to warn intruders not to enter while the girls, dressed in boys' clothes and otherwise, went through all the pranks associated with the event. All the characters in Mother Goose, from Humpty Dumpty, the egg, to the Goose itself, passed in review before the sculptured dignitaries and the Grecian horses that stood on their heels on pedestals along the walls.

All the members of the senior life class were dressed in fantastic costumes. The initiates, members of the antique class, wore tan linen dusters. Their hands were tied to two long robes, which were held by four upper class girls dressed as sailors. First came the procession around the memorial hall and through the corridors. The initiates walked in the van and the seniors, hooting and shouting and singing, brought up the rear. After the procession came the mysterious, secret rites performed in the lecture room. Then came the worst punishment of all—the juniors were compelled to provide a feast for the seniors. With the feast over, each junior individually was pronounced a member of the life class in good standing.

WOMEN'S CLUBS MEET ON LAWN.

Reciprocity Assembly of Eleventh District Organizations Held at Naperville in Open Air.

The women's clubs in the Eleventh congressional district held their reciprocity meeting yesterday in Naperville, on the five acre lawn in front of the home of Mrs. William Goodwin.

Nearly 400 women sat on campchairs under the trees and drank pink lemonade, while Mrs. James Frake, president of the state federation of clubs, Mrs. George Watkins, vice president, and Mrs. T. B. Stanwood, former president, addressed them from the porch of the country residence. All the speakers dwelt on the work accomplished by the state federation during the last year.

At noon an adjournment was taken and a box luncheon served on the lawn. After the luncheon the program of music and addresses was given. More than twenty clubs were represented by delegates.

WANT FLYING SQUADRON TO SUPPRESS PUBLIC BEGGARS.

Officers of the Bureau of Charity Will Present the Proposition to Mayor Dunne.

Mayor Dunne will be asked by officers of the bureau of charities to organize a special flying squadron of police to drive professional beggars from the downtown streets.

"Since the beginning of the teamsters' strike," said General Superintendent Bicknell of the bureau of charities, "there has been a noticeable increase in the number of beggars in the streets of Chicago. It is unfortunately true that even during ordinary times the patrolman on the beat pays little attention to beggars. He regards them as unfortunates whom it would be cruel to disturb. He has little realization of the effect of his leniency upon the beggar and upon society.

"A squad of mendicancy police similar to the one in New York City, which during the last few years has made the beggar a scarce article in the streets of the eastern metropolis, is needed in Chicago. The mendicancy police have some features of the Chicago flying squadron. They dodge around in all parts of the city and keep the trail hot after a beggar until they land him."

HEAVY FINES FOR TWO WORDS.

Pretended Mute's Expression of Thanks Lands Him and His Comrade in Police Court.

Frank Neil and George Moran, wearing placards on which was inscribed, "We are deaf and dumb. Kindly help us," stood on the corner of State and Harrison streets awaiting results. When a pedestrian gave Neil 5 cents the pretended mute forgot his infirmity and thanked the charitable young man.

The result came when Justice Caverly, at the Harrison street police corut, fined each of the impostors $50 and costs.

"That's what you get for not keeping your mouth shut," remarked Moran to Neil.

A Thoughtless Druggist.
ONLY a thoughtless druggist would offer a preparation without the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher when Castoria is called for; the "delicate, faint and flickering light" that joins baby's life to its devoted parents being too sacred, to the self-respecting druggist, to be trifled with.
For over thirty years Mr. Fletcher has given, and still gives, his personal attention to the preparation of Castoria. It has won the confidence of mothers and physicians everywhere—never harmed the tiniest babe. This cannot be said of Imitations, Counterfeits and the "Just-as-good" rot.
The thoughtless druggist only offers the counterfeit because of a few pennies more profit. Any new preparation can be but an experiment, and they are experiments—mere guess work—irrespective of what their sponsors may say for them. It is experience of over thirty years, against wild and injudicious experiment.

BANK DEPOSITS FALL OFF.

SLIGHT DECREASES SHOWN IN THE OFFICIAL REPORTS.

Loans Also Are Smaller and Cash Resources Are Correspondingly Lessened—Chicago National Is Exception with a Gain of $4,400,000 in Cash—Figures Are Given for the Fourteen Institutions—L. and N. Makes Good April Statement.

Deposits of fourteen Chicago national banks show slight decreases on May 29, 1905, as compared with March 14, 1905, the dates of calls for statements of condition to the controller of the currency.

Loans also show a slight decrease, and cash resources are correspondingly lessened. A summary of the figures follows:

	Deposits.	Loans and discounts.	Cash resources.
March 14, '05.	$322,915,101	$214,105,821	$134,160,976

Totals......$	8,559,455	$ 6,368,237	$ 1,235,955
Per cent......	2.6	2.9	0.9

The decreases of deposits were almost uniform. An exception was the Chicago National, which shows a gain of $4,400,000. This is a change from showings in the last year. The Chicago also had a fair gain in loans, and increased cash resources by $2,900,000.

Individual Showings.

The Hamilton National and National Bank of the Republic also enjoyed satisfactory changes, as did the Oakland and the Prairie National. Following are individual showings:

Withdraw from Exchange Ticket.

Alfred L. Baker and Granger Farwell have withdrawn their names as candidates for election to the governing committee of the exchange on the "regular" ticket. This action was taken owing to an opposition ticket having been put in the field which omitted their names. In their place on the "regular" list will be F. D. Countiss of S. B. Chapin & Co. and Walter B. Smith of J. H. Wrenn & Co.

Solomon Sturges has withdrawn his nomination for member of the nominating committee on the regular ticket. His name has been replaced by that of Edward S. Adams of Adams & Samuel.

On the local exchange yesterday Chairman Wrenn sold at auction various securities for the account of George E. White. A block of $130,000 National Stone company 6 per cent bonds brought $15,000. A note of George E. White's for $50,000 bearing 5 per cent brought $210. Another note for $25,000 brought $215. Four thousand shares of the stock of the National Stone company brought $100, and 800 shares of the Delaney Stone company sold for $10.

Dividends Declared.

The regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on the Frisco-Chicago and Eastern Illinois preferred stock certificates, and the regular semi-annual dividend of 5 per cent on common will be paid July 1. Books close June 16, reopen July 3.

The directors of the Kansas City Home Telephone have declared an initial quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on capital stock, of which there is $2,000,000. The dividend is payable June 1.

The regular quarterly rental of 1¾ per cent on stock of Metropolitan Street railway company of New York will be paid July 1. Books close June 24, reopen July 17.

Stockholders of the Mercantile Trust company have received checks for an extra spring dividend of $4 per share declared by the directors of the company May 8. This dividend is an addition to the 1 per cent a month regular dividend, and also additional to the customary Christmas dividend of $4 per share.

Gain in "L" Traffic.

All the local elevated roads made good traffic records in May. In percentage of gain the Northwestern elevated led with an increase of 12.47 per cent. In passengers the gain was 8,631 over the corresponding month last year. This road has been making an excellent exhibit since the beginning of the year.

The Metropolitan elevated enjoyed the largest daily average traffic for any month in its history. The average was 125,104 passengers daily. The increase over last year was 10,732 or 9.44 per cent. This is by far the best percentage of gain shown by the road in the current year. The improvement is ascribed by the management to better facilities. The Aurora, Elgin and Chicago, which carries its passengers over the Metropolitan from Fifty-second street, does not figure in the gain. Instead, its tendency is to lower the traffic record of the Metropolitan compared with last year. Then the Aurora-Elgin turned over its Chicago passengers to the Metropolitan at Fifty-second street and thereafter they became Metropolitan passengers and figured in its monthly return. They now are carried downtown by the Elgin-Aurora itself.

The south side elevated also showed marked improvement over last year. The percentage of gain was 7.95. The White City business will prove profitable to the south side L and greatly swell its traffic. One night since the show opened the south side took in $600 directly attributable to White City patrons. This is equivalent to 12,000 passengers. The figures:

General Financial News.

New York City railway company, lessee of the Metropolitan Street railway company, reports for the March quarter a deficit of $1,322,406, against a deficit of $786,184 in the same quarter last year. The figures last year did not include the operation of the Third avenue and the Central cross town line.

A director of the American Steel Foundries company says the company has closed a contract for 20,000 car bolsters to be delivered to the Baltimore and Ohio. The contract involves something over $600,000.

A former official of the Central railroad company of New Jersey says he has no present information that the stock is to be increased from an 8 to a 10 per cent dividend basis. The road is, however, earning 20 per cent.

State Bank Call Out.

The state auditor has issued a call for reports of the state banks giving their condition at the beginning of business May 31. The national call was for May 29 at the close of business, and since a holiday intervened the state banks will be in the same condition at the commencement of business May 31 as they were at the close May 29.

STOCKS GIVE WAY EASILY

SPECULATIVE INTERESTS SHOW CHANGE OF ATTITUDE.

Revised Estimates of Values Cause Prices on New York Exchange to Fall Off, and Even at Low Figures Market Shows No Sign of Recovery—Uneasiness Is Felt Over Equitable Controversy and Frick Report Is Awaited with Anxiety.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, June 1.—[Special.]—The reduction in stock values today was due to the attitude of speculative interests, and represented, to a large measure, a retreat from yesterday's commitments to the long side of the market. The changes came early in the day's trading, representing the revised estimates of values, and gave way promptly on light offerings. When the estimated level had been reached the market sank into apathetic dullness and suffered little from further liquidation. The cheaper prices, however, attracted no new buying. The controversy in the Equitable Life was a factor, the close guarding of the Frick committee's report giving room for a wide range of surmises.

There is an uneasy feeling over the animosities which underly the dispute over the affairs of the great life insurance corporation. The imbittered character of the controversy will keep alive fears of some development of hostilities which may affect the stock markets until the efforts making to arrive at a settlement are known definitely to have succeeded. There is some feeling prevalent that the Equitable incident, coupled with a number of recent bank failures, has had the effect of prompting to a course of house cleaning amongst financial institutions generally and to an overhauling of resources and their standing.

The day's news from the crops did not throw any definite light on their prospects, but the feverish movements in the grain markets were significant of the problem still to be settled of, the outcome of the crops. The money market was slightly firmer than during the recent past, but not much significance was attached to this, and the weakness of stocks was not connected in any way with conditions in the money market.

The continued pressure on the United States Steel stocks was of large sympathetic effect, and considerable realizing in Reading and in Union Pacific was connected with the changing views of a prospect of dividend increases. The market closed easy.

The Japanese bonds were heavy today, in company with the general bond market. Total sales, par value, $4,110,000. United States bonds were all unchanged on call.

Close: Money on call steady 2¼@3 per cent, closing bid 2¾ per cent, offered at 3 per cent. Time easy and dull; sixty days and ninety days, 3 per cent; six months, 3¼@3½ per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 3¾@4¼ per cent. Sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at 486.95@487 for demand and at 485@485.05 for sixty day bills; posted rates, 486 and 488; commercial bills, 484¼@484⅝. Bar silver, 57⅝c. Mexican dollars, 45c. Government bonds steady; railroad bonds heavy.

IN FOREIGN MONEY MARKETS.

LONDON, June 1.—Rates for money were easier in the market today, with the month turn and the termination of the settlement. About $15,000,000 individends and interest was distributed. Discounts were easier. Prices on the stock exchange were buoyed up by cheap money. The growing belief is that peace in the far east is not far distant. Business was meager. Consols were in good request. Americans opened firm, and were steadily supported at parity. The market closed quiet. Imperial Japanese government 6s of 1904, 103⅝.

AMERICAN CAR & FOUNDRY COMPANY

New York, May 24, 1905.

To the Stockholders:

At a meeting of the Board of Directors held May 9, 1905, a dividend for two months at the rate of seven per cent per annum (being one and one sixth per cent) was declared on the Preferred Capital Stock and made payable July 1, 1905. The transfer books will close June 8, 1905, and re-open July 3, 1905.

This action was taken to bring the quarterly periods and reports in conformity to the fiscal year and annual statement. On account of the difficulty in taking inventory during a winter month, the fiscal year was changed to end April 30, instead of February 28, the Company having begun operations March 1, 1899, and the first fiscal period, therefore, was fourteen months. This change made it necessary to include the earnings for March and April in the annual statement, and those for May in the subsequent quarterly report. As these three months have heretofore covered one dividend period, this separation of the earnings caused some misunderstanding, which will be avoided hereafter, as the quarterly report will then cover the same period as the dividend.

The first dividend on the Preferred Capital Stock was paid in July, 1899, and quarterly dividends have been paid on same since that time during each subsequent November, February, May and August. After July 1, 1905, however, the regular quarterly dividend on the Preferred Capital Stock of one and three-quarters per cent (being at the rate of seven per cent per annum), when declared, will be paid on the first day of October, January, April and July of each year, and on the same day a report of the result of the operations of the Company for the dividend period will be mailed to the stockholders.

It will be apparent that the dividend of one and one-sixth per cent payable July 1, 1905, is declared solely to make the dividend periods and the quarterly reports conform to the fiscal year by paying two months' dividends before the regular time, and does not in any way affect the dividend rate to be paid on the Preferred Stock.

Respectfully submitted,
F. H. EATON, President.

CASH WHEAT SELLS HIGH.

BIG PREMIUMS START COVERING BY JULY SHORTS.

Five Cent Rally at Minneapolis and Strength in Liverpool Market the Prime Causes in a Recovery of Over Two Cents Here, Most of Which Is Held, Although Crop Reports Are Generally Favorable—Sharp Bulge in Corn.

The wheat market yesterday executed another of those lightning change movements which occur once in awhile, when traders who have sold on the growing crop prospect are reminded too forcibly of high cash premiums and small stocks. Traders who sold the July off 1½c on Wednesday had no comfort yesterday until they had forced prices up 2¼c in covering.

The lowest opening price was ⅛c over the weak close of the day before, and the market kept on advancing with practically no reaction until it had sold at 89c. There was enough profit taking and bear pressure on favorable crop advices and reports that cutting had begun in points in Tennessee to cause a reaction to 88¼c, but there was a slight recovery from this figure, with the close at 88½c bid, a net gain of 1⅝c. September gained 1¼c, to 82¼c bid.

Much of the local strength was in sympathy with a still greater advance in Minneapolis, July there selling up 5c, to $1.10⅛, while No. 1 northern broke 11⅜c, to 6c over July. An advance of ½@¾d in Liverpool, following the weak close here, helped start the market strong. The English upturn was on the reports of rust in winter wheat in the government crop bulletin, to which the local trade had paid no attention, and on a large decrease of nearly 900,000 bu in Liverpool stocks for the month.

Strong Cash Tone.

The local cash market was strong and premiums high enough to make the July look cheap by comparison. No. 2 hard winter, which had been ruling at a discount of 2c under May, its delivery value, was in demand by millers at the start at $1.00, with little obtainable there, and it went to a premium of 14c over July on track. No. 2 red was held at 18c premium and No. 1 northern at 20c premium. There were sales of 150,000 bu and about 70,000 bu No. 2 hard winter taken in on May deliveries the day before were reported ordered out of store for shipment to outside millers to fill previous sales. Minneapolis receipts continued large, 244 cars, compared with 108 a year ago. Primary points had 305,000 bu, compared with 273,000 bu last year. Only 4 cars were received here. Minneapolis stocks decreased 85,000 bu for five days. The flour demand was generally reported dull.

There was liberal covering by local traders who had gone home short, and a good deal of commission buying, much of it for the northwest, with offerings light until the advance was well under way. Pringle-Fitch-Rankin, Love, Knight-Donnelley, Logan-Bryan, McReynolds, Milmine-Bodman, Gifford, Sickel-Roberts, Lake, O'Brien, and O'Leary were all buyers. There was general commission selling to secure profits around 89c, which turned the market back. Selling on the advance was led by Ware-Leland, Armour, Peavey, Brosseau brokers, Bartlett-Frazier, Requa, and Slaughter. There was one bulge late in the session from 88⅛c to 88⅞c on buying by corn traders on the strength of their market, but most of this gain was promptly lost when the buying stopped.

Trade Bullish on Corn.

July corn shorts were discouraged at the opening by a sharp falling off in receipts and by strength at Liverpool, which was 1d higher, on American crop reports and delay in Argentine shipments by rain. There was a general covering demand, which started the market ½c higher for old July, and carried it up 2c, to 51⅜c. Offerings were light until late in the session, when there was enough profit taking to ease the price back to 51c, a gain of 1¼c. Other deliveries were up nearly as much.

Not only was there covering by shorts, but general buying by local traders for long account, on the theory the July situation was as strong as the May was, and the market likely to sell up considerably. There were only 291 cars inspected in, or 200 less than expected, and but 191 estimated as the day's arrivals. Cash bids to the country on the basis of 51¼c for No. 3 corn here, or 1⅜c over the closing prices for old July, brought out small offerings and strengthened the belief that the movement will drop off. Cash prices were 1@2c higher, No. 3 corn selling up to 53c, and, while sales of only 300,000 bu were reported, a large business could have been done on the basis of the previous close if it had not been for the quick advance in futures. Primary receipts were 1,266,000 bu., compared with 1,168,000 bu last year. Clearances were 49,000 bu.

There was buying of July early by Rumsey, Bartlett-Frazier, McReynolds, Hurlburd-Warren, Irwin-Green, Barrell, Harris-Scotten, and local traders. Comstock sold July early, but bought September. Offerings were light on the upturn, except occasional selling by Armour on a small scale. The break was on selling by Bartlett-Frazier.

Oats Sold for Export.

Oats responded with an advance of ⅜c to ¾c to the theory that they are cheaper, relative to corn, than they should be. There was good commission buying, and the close was ½c higher. Cash prices were up ¼c, and there was a fair shipping trade, sales of 220,000 bu, including 30,000 bu for export. Country sales were reported light. Receipts were 145 cars, and the estimate 106 cars. Clearances were 25,000 bu. Pringle and Bartlett were leading buyers. The northwest sold September oats on the bulge through Buckley. Crighton was a seller. Nye Jenks and other shippers bought.

Provision Market Higher.

Strength in the grain markets and the advance of 5c in prices at the yards started shorts to cover in the provision pit, and final gains of 15@17½c in pork, 5@7½c in lard, and 7½@10c in ribs resulted. Trade was on a moderate scale the greater part of the session, with a fair amount of changing, selling July, and buying September product. Armour was credited with buying and Boyd-Lunham sold July ribs. Local hog receipts were 24,000 head, and 21,000 are estimated for today. At the western markets receipts were 86,500 head, compared with 93,900 last week and 84,000 last year. The average weight of local receipts for the month was 219 lbs, against 216 lbs the month before and 214 lbs last year. Liverpool quotations were unchanged.

Small Markets Steady.

Rye was steady to 1c higher, July showing the advance at 67c bid. September was unchanged at 60c bid. No. 2 carlots sold at 83c f. o. b. There were no receipts.

Barley sales ranged from 40@50c for malting grades and 29@39c for screenings. Receipts were 23 cars.

Flaxseed was steady, No. 1 northwestern, $1.47 and No. 1 $1.30. Receipts were 100,000 bu by lake here, 5 cars came in at Minneapolis, and 2 cars at Duluth.

Timothy seed ruled steady at $2.85 for July and $3.10 for September. Country lots ranged from $2.40@2.75, according to quality. Spot prime cloverseed was $11.75@12.25 and bag lots $8.00@11.50.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

The arbitration committee is likely to be called on a dispute which has arisen between Vice President George E. Marcy of the Armour Grain company and Charlie Buckley of the oats pit. Mr. Buckley also hails much at present from Glencoe and the "Gad's Hill" settlement on the lake shore at that point for the benefit of suffering mothers and children from the slums of Chicago, who never saw an oats field and would have small opportunity of seeing green grass but for large hearted charities of this kind. Mr. Buckley is ringmaster, press agent, and a few other things for the circus which the Glencoe people are going to give next Friday and Saturday for the benefit of this charity, and he invited Mr. Marcy to officiate as a policeman at the show. Mr. Marcy, who has the figure to make a dandy copper, was glad to offer his services for sweet charity's sake, but it is understood from his friends that he objected a little because Mr. Buckley insisted on his wearing star No. "13," and refused to specify whether his duties would be inside or outside the ring. Mr. Marcy not unnaturally balked at the "13" proposition, being unwilling to spoil a perfect record for good luck, and demanded arbitration. "That statement is not correct," declared Mr. Buckley. "The real facts of the matter are that Mr. Marcy was unable to give the bonds we were compelled to demand that he would not interfere with the business of the ice trust by cutting too much ice at the show. I am perfectly willing to arbitrate, however, for arbitration always was my long suit."

Cash wheat prices kept step with the July, premiums being maintained fully. There was a good demand, mainly for No. 2 hard, of which grade sales were 50,000 bu at from $1.00 in store to $1.02 f. o. b., but offerings were small and the price was moved up later to $1.01¼ to $1.01¾ in store. Sales of all grades were 70,000 bu, the amount limited more by lack of offers than lack of workable bids. No. 1 northern was quoted at 20c over July in store, No. 2 northern at 14@16c over, No. 2 red at 18c over, and No. 3 red at 14@18c over. There were cancellations of 75,000 bu No. 2 hard yesterday, and 55,000 bu the day before, and part was being loaded out yesterday and part is loading today. It is figured that 300,000 bu No. 2 hard, which is practically the only available grade at present, will go out in a few days, the bulk of the amount the wheat delivered Wednesday to cash houses who had sold it to mills during the last ten days, some to Minneapolis. At Minneapolis there was a let down of the cash price after the close of the deal in spite of the 5c advance in July, the No. 1 northern in store off to $1.16¼ from $1.27½ Wednesday, and Duluth dropped to $1.12¾ from $1.25. At Kansas City No. 2 hard sold from $1.00@1.04 and No. 3 hard at 97c@$1.02.

President Jackson and the market report committee are meeting with gratifying results in their efforts to enlist the interest of other exchanges in the fight to suppress bucket shops completely. All the grain exchanges in the country but that of Minneapolis, which has not yet been heard from, have expressed a willingness to join forces with the Chicago board of trade. The answer of the New York stock exchange officials was favorable in tone and expressed a desire to talk the matter over with representatives of the local board at New York. Attorney Robbins is preparing restraining orders in about a dozen important suits pending in different parts of the country to enjoin bucket shops from using the board's quotations. The orders will be entered next week. "After that," said John Hill Jr., "if a bucket shop begins using our quotations all that will be necessary is to apply for a restraining order, which the federal court will issue at once. There will be no taking of testimony and no delay. All that will be necessary is to find the bucket shop, and bucket shops which do not run openly cannot do much harm."

Millers as a rule get better reports of the growing crop than crop experts traveling for speculative houses. Messages to Bennett said Ballard of Louisville had reports from central Missouri that three times as much wheat as last year would be raised, and reports from southern Illinois that the crop would be twice as large as a year ago. Kelly, a miller of Nashville, Tenn., reported cutting had begun at one point within ten miles of that place, and also seventy miles away at Hermitage.

The weakness in the southwestern markets, Kansas City July 10⅜c under Chicago, and St. Louis 7⅝c under, differences at which all the new wheat moving in the southwest not grabbed by millers would come to this market, seemed to indicate confidence in the certainty of a good crop. With a comparatively early harvest the trade will have a chance to learn, for the first time, how much hard winter wheat will be attracted to this market by the fact No. 2 hard is deliverable on contracts at 2c discount. There have been wet harvests and a late movement since No. 2 hard was made a contract grade. The last year in which there was a free movement in July was in 1901, when 2,353 cars No. 2 red were received here in July and 1,484 cars No. 2 hard, the latter not then a contract grade. Receipts of No. 2 hard in July, 1904, were only 128 cars, in 1903 128 cars, in 1902 133 cars. Grain handlers predict a heavy movement of wheat to this market in July if harvest weather is good and a July price well up in the "80s" is maintained here.

Cash corn, instead of showing weakness after the winding up of the May deal, was in active demand at prices 1@2c above those prevailing the day before. Offerings were smaller than generally expected, and a good many shippers were short, having sent out low offers Monday in expectation of a break in prices and having no stocks to draw on. The No. 2 yellow was the strongest grade, with others not far behind. Brokers disagreed over the eastern demand, some calling it dead while others reported a good inquiry before the extreme advance was made, with some business for export possible if the July could have been bought in at 50c. Sales were 300,000 bu, including 115,000 bu No. 2 at 3c over July c. i. f. Buffalo, and 95,000 bu to New England. Oats were steady to ¼c higher, with shipping demand fair and sales 220,000 bu, including 20,000 bu for export.

There were some delirious moves and changes in the Minneapolis wheat market. July wheat jumped up 5c to $1.10⅛ under the pressure of a big demand, supposed to be from shorts uneasy over the reflection that the entire contract stock there is controlled by one mill, the Pillsbury interest, which is also long on the July. On the other hand, the price of No. 1 northern, which closed the day before even with the May at $1.27½, dropped to $1.12, and finally settled down at 6c premium over the July. One Minneapolis message said owners of wheat were holding it for higher prices on the theory that the Pillsbury interest would bid the market up some to take the curse off the high price demanded of their May shorts the day before.

The 50,000 bu May corn which was defaulted on Wednesday was settled with the Bartlett-Frazier house at 60c yesterday. The default in the Shearson-Hammill office was the result of a misunderstanding, the short line being for an eastern customer through the New York office of the firm. The local office expected instructions to buy in the corn and the New York office expected the local office to tend to the trade without instructions. Neither the house nor the customer would take advantage of the privilege, according to the rules, to settle at the average price for the day, 56c, but paid differences on the full closing price, 60c.

Whether farmers are too busy in their fields to have time to market corn now that the inducement of the chance of catching high "corner" prices is no longer offered, or whether stocks in the country are so reduced there is no likelihood of another free movement, the countryman certainly manifested no inclination to sell. Receivers who put out bids close to the July bought nothing at all, and the J. Rosenbaum Grain company, which bid 51½c track Chicago, or 1⅜c over the closing price for old July over Illinois and Iowa on all roads, bought less than 100,000 bu.

The Missouri state crop report issued yesterday gives the condition of wheat at 81. May 1 the condition was 91, a loss of 10 per cent during the last month. June 1, 1904, the condition of the crop was 86, and the yield for the year was 27,000,000 bu. Yesterday's report gives corn's condition as 83, and estimates the acreage at 7,000,000. The condition of oats is placed at 87.

"The general outside trade in wheat is still light," said John McDougall, "and the fact the market is a small one and professional accounts for the quick runs it gets in either direction when any new motive appears. It has been the experience of years that after the collapse of any attempted deal and a big break in prices the general trade stays out of the market for some time."

"Everybody is getting bullish on July corn," said Homer Ash, "and sure it will go to 55c anyway because the cash corn is all held by one interest, and on the theory July is more likely to sell at that figure than the May was to sell at 68c. Sentiment is so unanimous the market is quite likely to have a break."

"All advices from Missouri indicate a perfect crop promise," said a grain man from Kansas City, "and with St. Louis July 7⅝c under Chicago, as it closed today, all the soft winter wheat moving in July will come to this market."

Kansas City, the market nearest to a movement of new wheat, reported cash demand weak except for the best grades. St. Louis was even weaker, cash grain 3c lower.

Local stocks of corn show an increase of about 650,000 bu so far this week. About 1,350,000 bu have been taken in and 700,000 bu shipped.

Estimated receipts for today are: Wheat, 4 cars; corn, 191 cars; oats, 106 cars; rye, one car; barley, 13 cars, hogs, 21,000 head.

ATHENÆUM IN NEW HANDS

BUILDING AND LEASEHOLD SOLD TO R. C. AND J. E. OTIS JR.

Property at 18-26 Van Buren Street Probably Will Be Used No Longer by Company Which Has Held It for Fourteen Years, as the Purchasers May Remodel It in Connection with Changes in Their Wabash Avenue Real Estate.

Ralph C. and Joseph E. Otis Jr. have just closed the purchase from the Athenæum of the Athenæum building and leasehold interest at 18-26 Van Buren street, between Michigan and Wabash avenue. The consideration is withheld.

The transaction probably marks the end of the long occupancy of the building by the Athenæum, as the buyers who own the Wabash avenue frontage abutting on the Athenæum are understood to contemplate utilizing the property in connection with their Wabash avenue holdings. It is said they have under consideration a plan for the erection of a modern steel construction building covering the entire area, which will comprise a frontage of 97¼ feet on Wabash, with a depth of 171 feet on Van Buren street.

The Athenæum property fronts 91¼ feet, with a depth of 97¼ feet, and the building is a seven story structure which has been the home of the Athenæum for some fourteen years. The full valuation of the board of assessors upon it last year was $55,305.

History of the Property.

In 1890 J. H. Whittemore of Naugatuck, Conn., who now owns the fee, sold the property to the Chicago Athenæum, as the corporation then was called, for $200,000. The Athenæum gave back as part purchase money a mortgage for $150,000 and remodeled the building at a large expense. A second mortgage bond issue of $125,000 was authorized, only a part of which was placed.

In order to dispose of this second lien Mr. Whittemore began foreclosure proceedings on the original loan and bid in the property in 1899 for $195,000.

In October, 1902, Mr. Whittemore sold the building back to the Athenæum for $25,000 and leased the ground for a term of ninety-nine years at an annual rental of $8,000, which is 4 per cent on $200,000.

The present transaction was negotiated by S. Kurz & Co.

George H. Young a Buyer.

Arthur B. Mulvey has sold to George H. Young three pieces of property for an aggregate consideration of $60,000. They comprise 50x126 feet at the northeast sorner of Washington avenue and Sixty-seventh street, and 450x126½ feet in Sixty-seventh street, 250 feet west of Washington avenue, which sold for $30,000, with incumbrance of $13,000, and 269x125 feet at the northwest corner of Stony Island avenue and Sixty-seventh street, which sold also for $30,000, with incumbrance of $15,000.

The flat property in Kenmore avenue, 250 feet south of Leland avenue, with 50x108 feet of ground, east front, has been sold by Frederick J. Fadner to Jessie R. Barnhart for $30,000.

Lyman M. Drake has sold to Charles F. Weber the flat property in Crescent place, 147 feet west of Clarendon avenue, 46x152 feet, for $26,750.

George J. Williams has bought from Sarah B. Douglass the flat property in Warren avenue, ninety feet west of Hermitage avenue, 50x122 feet, north front, for $30,000.

Margaretha Weber has sold to Louis P. Kalish the store and flat property in Halsted street, forty-one feet north of Maxwell street, with 44x107 feet of ground, for $27,000.

CHICAGO BIDS SHUT OUT.

MIDDLE WEST STIRRED OVER THE PANAMA CONTRACTS.

Under Present Plan Supplies for Big Canal Must Be Shipped by Way of New York—Effect Is to Give Eastern Manufacturers Almost Complete Control—Effort Is to Induce Shonts and Wallace to Permit Deliveries to Be Made at Colon.

Merchants and manufacturers of Chicago and the middle west are beginning to wonder if they are going to get a chance to secure any contracts for the Panama canal and railroad. Under the original ruling of the commission the purchasing agent for the Panama road advertised for bids on all material for New York delivery. Chicago and the middle west were thereby shut out from competition, and the southwestern roads leading to gulf ports were cut off from participating in any of this tonnage.

The Illinois Central road, whose participation in the tonnage depended upon a change in the commission's ruling, first exerted itself to obtain relief. Chairman Shonts of the commission and Chief Engineer Wallace were appealed to by Traffic Manager T. J. Hudson to give Chicago a show. Both promised to issue orders changing the port of delivery to Colon instead of New York.

Order Would Widen Field.

This shift would enable the whole country to participate in the furnishing of supplies, for it would make the gulf ports available to the inland producer, but apparently there has been a slip, for the order has not been given. This came to light through an investigation conducted by the export agent of the Illinois Central. A firm in Aurora, Ill., recently secured a contract for 200 dump cars to be used in canal work, and it was expected that shipment would be allowed to New Orleans. When the export agent made inquiries at Washington he was told by Maj. Gallagher, acting purchasing agent, that all goods still must be routed by way of New York.

The question is vital to the manufacturers in the middle west, and once more the matter will be brought to the attention of Chairman Shonts and Mr. Wallace. It is declared that unless the government gives prompt relief, it will be made an issue at the next session of congress. Supplies valued at millions of dollars will be used in the construction work of the canal and railroad, and under the present arrangement, with New York the only port of delivery, only eastern concerns can bid successfully. When seventy-five bids were opened recently in Washington for a large quantity of supplies, it was found that only one came from a Chicago firm, and only three from the middle west, one from Cincinnati, and one from St. Louis.

Ticket Scalpers Again Lose.

Judge Kohlsaat handed down a decision yesterday in the suits for injunction brought by the railroads against St. Louis scalpers. The ticket brokers again are worsted. The court held that the exceptions made by the scalpers to the pleadings in the bill were not well taken and that the matter was one in which the court had jurisdiction. It was the contention of the brokers that the suit was not brought in good faith and that the United States court lacked jurisdiction, because the railroads themselves had entered into an illegal combination to restrain competition.

It further was contended by the brokers that such a combination of roads could not legally issue a ticket not transferable. Judge Kohlsaat held that it made no difference whether or not the railroads had entered into an illegal combination, so far as this issue went, and he sent the case to a master in chancery to be heard on its merits.

Plans a Double Track Line.

It is reported that President Ripley of the Santa Fé is considering plans for a double track line between Chicago and Los Angeles, one retaining the present course by way of Las Vegas and Albuquerque and the other proceeding by way of the Belen cutoff to Silver City and west to the main line between Barstow and San Bernadino. They already have pushed the Santa Fé, Prescott and Phœnix line 130 miles east from Phœnix to Kellvin and sixty miles west from Wickenburg to the California main line. The plans have been kept secret on account of the opposition of the Southern Pacific.

BLOCKI GETS A LOVING CUP.

Testimonial of Regard Presented to the City Treasurer at Banquet Given by Friends.

A testimonial banquet was given to Fred W. Blocki, present city treasurer and former commissioner of public works, by his friends in the department of public works last evening at the Union restaurant.

After the banquet a silver and gold loving cup was presented with the inscription: "Presented to Fred W. Blocki by his friends in the department of public works, June 1, 1905." The presentation speech was made by William J. Roach.

J. M. Patterson, Mr. Blocki's successor as commissioner of public works, was one of the guests. He made a short address, in which he complimented Mr. Blocki upon the number of stanch friends he had in the department as manifested by the spirit in which the banquet had been given.

John E. Ericson, city engineer, was toastmaster.

RECEIVER ACCUSES MERCHANT.

George Gallup, Escanaba, Mich., Is Charged with Enriching Himself from Rathfon Store.

An injunction restraining George Gallup, a merchant of Escanaba, Mich., and Olive F. Gallup, his wife, from transferring any of their property, was issued yesterday by Judge Landis.

Gallup, it is declared in the bill filed by John C. Kirkpatrick, a receiver appointed in the bankruptcy courts in Escanaba, by ingenious methods has enriched himself by many thousands of dollars from the estate of Samuel B. and Clinton J. Rathfon, who had been merchants under the name of Rathfon Brothers at Escanaba. This firm became involved in the bankruptcy courts and Kirkpatrick was appointed receiver.

To satisfy the creditors the firm, it is said, decided to sell part of the stock. Gallup took charge of the store for this purpose, it is charged. He attempted a settlement and failed, it is declared, and then held a "slaughter sale," at which he kept no records, took money from the cash drawers, and appropriated all the funds to his own use.

Then, it is declared, he transferred much of the unsold merchandise into the control of a company he organized.

After a hearing in the bankruptcy proceedings Gallup returned $17,302 in money and all but about $85,000 worth of the merchandise, but kept, it is said, at least $30,000 in cash. He also is charged with having secured a transfer of $20,000 worth of property in Washington from Samuel Rathfon to P. J. McKenna of Chicago and then to Eliza Holland and finally to Mrs. Gallup. A $25,000 claim held by Mrs. Gallup against the Rathfons is asserted to be illegal.

The hearing was set for June 30.

WANTED: WIFE FOR SENATOR.

Constituents of Edward J. Rainey Give Him a Bridle Present for a Bridal Hint.

A horse and handsome buggy were presented to State Senator Edward J. Rainey last evening by his friends and constituents in the Ninth district, which he represents, but there was a string tied to the gift. The one condition when it was presented to him was that he shall wed. When his friends had assembled at Freiheit hall former Judge Hanecy said:

"It would be more than selfish for a man of the qualifications of Senator Rainey to use this rig alone, and I ask that the condition be imposed that it will be his only when he takes a life partner to share it with him."

The suggestion was enthusiastically approved of by the gathering and the presentation was made by Congressman George Foster. No time was specified when the wedding shall take place and it was not said that the equipage would be taken back should the requirement not be fulfilled.

Henry G. Foreman, Robert Burke, and Ernest Magerstadt were among the speakers who congratulated Mr. Rainey upon his recent appointment to the south park board of commissioners.

BATTLE FOR $60,000,000 IS ON.

Weightman Will Brought Into Court Following Action to Set Aside Probating of Instrument.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 1.—The Orphans' court today granted the petition of Charles E. D'Invilliers, attorney and guardian of young Martha Rogers Weightman, asking that the action of the register of wills in admitting to probate the last testament of the late William Weightman be set aside. The court ordered that the will be taken from the register of wills and brought to the Orphans' court for consideration. This was done, and the battle for millions is now on. Under the will Mr. Weightman's daughter, Mrs. Anne M. Weightman-Walker, was made the sole heir to his fortune, estimated at $60,000,000.

ASK RESTITUTION OF $65,000.

Charles F. Wenham Is Accused in a Bill Filed in the Federal Court.

Charges that Charles F. Wenham, formerly general western agent for Elder Dempster & Co., has wrongfully taken more than $65,000 were made in a bill of discovery filed in the United States Circuit court yesterday.

Alfred Lewis Jones and William John Davey of Liverpool, England, who were at the head of the steamship company, ask an accounting and the return of the money.

In 1899, it is alleged, Wenham made a contract with the steamship company to sell tickets in Chicago and report twice each month concerning his sales. It is charged that the figures were made to deceive.

GOVERNOR CHIDES SENATE

LA FOLLETTE INSISTS ON PROMPT RAILWAY TAX LAW.

Message to Upper House Scores Proposed Nonconcurrence in Assembly Bill and Threatens Extra Session—Rate Bill Passed in Lower House on Motion of Stalwart Leader and with Technical Amendments Which Do Not Change Provisions.

Madison, Wis., June 1.—[Special.]—A message was received from Gov. La Follette today taking the senate to task for proposing nonconcurrence in the bill to compel railroad companies to bring their books into court to be used as evidence in suits to recover the back taxes claimed. The governor also intimated that unless the subject of railroad taxation received more consideration than was proposed, he might call an extra session of the legislature.

The senate railroad rate bill had smooth sailing in the assembly, and after being amended was concurred in unanimously.

The amendments are chiefly in phraseology to avoid ambiguity and technical delays. There were many of these, but they were all thought to strengthen the bill and not to affect its merits.

Passes on Stalwart Motion.

Mr. Norcross, the stalwart leader, moved that the amendments be adopted, and they went through unanimously. Mr. Norcross then moved that all rules be suspended and the bill be put on its final passage.

The assembly committee on railroads introduced a new bill to require railroad companies to file with the railroad commissioner lists of all tickets, passes, and mileage books issued free or at less than regular rates since Jan. 1, 1905. The purpose of the bill, it is said, is to ascertain who are enjoying favors from the companies.

The governor returned to the senate without his signature a bill authorizing the commissioner of public lands to make a loan from the trust funds of the state to the Appleton Light infantry for the erection of an armory, stating that such loans were poor from a business point of view, the governor knowing of but two such loans, in one of which the state lost a part of the loan and in the other the interest being two years in arrears.

Figuring on Brule River Park.

In a message to the assembly the governor recommended the favorable consideration of a letter received from Gov. John A. Johnson of Minnesota favoring a bill for the creation of a public park on the Brule river, in Douglas county. The letter said that Frederick Weyerhaeuser would donate 9,000 acres of land for such a park.

The bill to determine the license fees to be paid by life insurance companies doing business in the state was advanced. The bill proposes a tax upon the net value of all policies in force, being a tendency, as Mr. Dahl explained, towards taxation on an ad valorem basis.

ORDERS WITNESS TO TESTIFY.

Judge Honore Commands Charles Mager to Appear at the Trial of Supt. Solon.

Judge Honoré issued an order yesterday for Charles Mager, 2433 Wabash avenue, to testify at the Solon hearing. The man had defied the civil service commission and refused to appear at the session of the trial board to testify against the assistant superintendent of street cleaning.

The order was asked by Frank X. Busch, attorney for the board. If Mager does not respond today he will be in contempt of court.

Mager is wanted to corroborate the testimony of John Heron against the city employé. His wife appeared in his place and attacked the methods of the prosecution. She asserted that intimidation had been used with her husband in the effort to force him to testify against Solon.

FIVE NEGROES KILL WHITE.

New Orleans, La., June 1.—[Special.]—Five negroes this afternoon shot to death Ernest Lacour, one of the best known young planters of the state, as he was driving to his home at Batchellor, La. One of the negroes, all of whom were from Natchez, Miss., confessed after he was captured by a posse of citizens that they were waiting for a train and "Jes shot at that white man for fun." The party was caught about five miles from town by a posse of citizens. Tom Wilson, one of the murderers, showed fight and was promptly strung up to the nearest tree. The rest submitted quietly and were taken to town.

ECHO OF BIG WHEAT DEAL.

Cincinnati Court Wants Copy of Agreement Between Chicago Capitalists in Corner Which Wrecked Bank.

Cincinnati, O., June 1.—A temporary injunction was issued today forbidding William and Amanda Stichtenoth from disposing of certain memoranda in the proceeding by Irwin Green & Co. of Chicago, who have a judgment for nearly $1,000,000 against E. L. Harper & Co. in connection with the wheat deal which resulted in the wrecking of the old Fidelity National bank.

The Stichtenoths were ordered to bring into court all papers and books in their possession pertaining to an alleged agreement among certain capitalists in financing the deal, while a firm of Cincinnati attorneys is said to be in possession of a copy of the agreement and have been trying to sell it to the Chicago firm.

A receiver to take possession of the documents is asked by the plaintiffs.

MINES AND MINING.

THE MAN WHO HAS $5,775—OR FRIENDS who would join with him in an investment of that amount in a demonstrably successful gold mining enterprise who will answer this advertisement, and whom I have sufficient reason to believe sincere in his purpose in doing so, will be given facts and figures that will justify him in giving the proposition I have to submit the immediate consideration absolutely necessary if it is to be taken advantage of. Please note, I say the enterprise is a demonstrable success. It will cost, say, $65 to go to the mine and investigate personally. I agree to forfeit up to that sum, the cost of such investigation, if my representations as to existing conditions, development, equipment, etc., are not verified in all material particulars. $5,775 is the lowest cash sum that will procure the interest herewith offered, which is intrinsically worth $16,500, and which will probably be worth more than $33,000 within one year, as it is practically certain that the mine will be nearly, if not actually, on a 12 per cent dividend basis on par value of its stock before the close of this year. It is on a profitable producing basis now, and permanently.

If this notice attracts the attention of some one who, alone or with a friend or two, is open to the investment, and is in position to avail himself of it, he will not be subsequently disappointed if my presentation of it should impress him favorably. I am thoroughly informed as to the history of the enterprise and know positively that its stock, even at nearly three times the price at which it can be obtained under this proposition, offers great inducement to well informed, conservative investors. It is with some of this class of investors that I hope to get in touch through the medium of this advertisement. Possibly, by combining offers to take smaller interests than here contemplated, I may be able to accept subscriptions for 1,000 to 2,000 share lots, in that event at the rate of 25 cents a share. Please note that prompt action is essential, and if interested and prepared to act accordingly, if investigation results satisfactorily, kindly address, for details, B 358, Tribune office.

WOMAN KILLED BY A BURGLAR.

Midnight Marauder Beats to Death Wife of Farmer at Newark, O., and Escapes.

Newark, O., June 1.—Mrs. Frances Wertz, living seven miles from here, was murdered early today by a burglar who escaped.

Wertz had gone to the home of a neighbor, and about midnight they heard a noise on the lower floor of her house. Picking up a pitchfork, Mrs. Wertz went downstairs, accompanied by her 15 year old grandchild. The marauder struck her with a heavy club and then hit her repeatedly after she had fallen.

The girl ran to a neighbor's house, but when help arrived the woman was dead and the murderer had fled.

PLANS CALL FOR MODEL CAR LINE.

Engineer Arnold Completes Specifications for Adams Street System.

FOR BEST TYPE OF ROAD.

Bids Must Be for Grooved Rails, Underground Trolley, and Fine Cars.

Should Chicago get a municipal street railway as a result of the advertisements for the Adams street line it will get a good one. Engineer Bion J. Arnold yesterday completed the specifications under which the bids for the work will have to be made and they call for the best type of road now known.

It is provided that the grooved rail shall be used in all well paved streets, that the underground trolley shall be installed as far west as Robey street, and the cars shall be of the latest and most approved pattern.

Mr. Arnold furnished no figures as to the cost in his specifications, that is a matter for the bidders to figure on for themselves. But before the bids are sent in he will give the commissioner of public works his estimates of what he thinks the cost ought approximately to be.

The bids specifically asked for in the advertisement are for the Adams street line proper—that is, Adams street from Clark to Desplaines, Desplaines to Harrison, Harrison to Western avenue, Western avenue to Twelfth street, and Twelfth street to Fortieth avenue. In the specifications, however, provision also is made for bids for Ogden avenue from Harrison street to Fortieth avenue, and Halsted street from Harrison street to the river.

Details of Specifications.

It is provided that the underground trolley be used in Adams, Desplaines, Halsted, and Harrison street as far as Robey; that grooved rails be laid in the same streets, that on the remainder of the line girder rails and the overhead trolley can be employed. The grooved rails are to weigh 125 pounds to the yard.

The cars called for, of which fifty are wanted for the main line and fifty more if Halsted street and Ogden avenue are added, are semi-convertible steel cars, with cross seats in the center and side seats at the ends, capable of seating from forty-eight to fifty-two passengers.

Provision is made for a power house with two substations, a car barn, office building, and the other necessary real estate equipment. All bidders must contract to finish their work within eighteen months or forfeit $1,000 a day.

Discuss an "L" Ordinance.

The committee on local transportation listened to the request of W. W. Gurley, counsel for the Metropolitan "L," for an ordinance allowing it to carry express matter on its lines. Mr. Gurley explained the road did not wish to go into the freight business—in fact, it had no facilities for doing so.

Its main purpose, according to Mr. Gurley's statement, was to bring milk into Chicago from the dairy district reached by its interurban connection, the Aurora, Elgin, and Wheaton. The work would have to be done at night or early morning and the milk would be delivered at the road's Fifth avenue terminal. He said the company would pay proper compensation to the city.

Ald. Zimmer said the ordinance was too vague as to the matter which could be carried, simply classifying it as "express matter," and he and Ald. Raymer and Finn were appointed a committee to confer with Mr. Gurley and have set forth specifically the character of the "express matter" to be handled.

Agree on Station Signs.

The illuminated station sign ordinance was amended so as to provide for two such signs at each station, one at each end of the platform, and Mr. Gurley said he had no doubt but that the companies would comply with it.

The ordinance to permit the use of the trolley on the right of way of the Milwaukee and St. Paul road, from Wilson avenue to Evanston, was sent to the track elevation committee. As the ordinance now reads the most important part of it provides for the elevation of the roadbed from Wilson avenue to the city limits.

The question of permitting the Chicago City Railway company to use the overhead trolley system in the downtown district in return for a license of $100 a year for each car in actual use was discussed and referred to a subcommittee composed of Ald. Young, Bradley, and Foreman.

Traction Appeal Today.

The application of the Union Traction company for an appeal in the "ninety-nine year act case" will be filed in the federal Court of Appeals this morning. The city will not oppose the appeal, and it will be granted as a matter of right. In fact, the city also will appeal the case on its own account. The company hopes the upper court will give more value to its "ninety-nine year rights" than Judge Grosscup did, and the city hopes it will give less.

SCOTCH EXPERT AND MAYOR TALK MORE OF "TRACTION."

James Dalrymple Explains at Press Club Luncheon What Has Been Done Under Ownership at Glasgow.

James Dalrymple, general manager of the Glasgow tramways, was the guest of honor at a luncheon at the Press club yesterday noon. Mayor Dunne also was present. Each talked of "traction." Mr. Dalrymple explained what had been done in Glasgow since the municipality took control of the street car lines, and Mayor Dunne, in following, expressed the belief that Chicago could do what the Scottish city had done.

"Speaking for Britain," said Mr. Dalrymple, "I think I may say that we in Glasgow stand fairly high in the development of traction facilities. But conditions in Chicago are different from those of Glasgow, and I am not sure as yet that I can offer anything from our experience that will be of value here.

"One thing has impressed me in looking at the work of private corporations in the management of street car properties. That is the vast amount of capital apparently invested and the discrepancy in the amount of the capital stock and the real value of the properties.

"We have no large bondholders over there in connection with our street railways. The people owning the securities are the small investors, who have such absolute confidence in the municipality and in our system of transportation that they are anxious to invest their savings at 2½ to 3 per cent, and with no security except the tangible property of the system."

Speaking of the overhead trolley, Mr. Dalrymple expressed the opinion that a few years would witness its abandonment, because other methods have been found superior.

"I am not at all surprised to hear," said Mayor Dunne, "that the people of Glasgow were glad to advance the money with which the traction system of that city was equipped. The logical conclusion is that when municipal ownership is efficiently administered the small investor will furnish all the capital required. There is no reason why the same thing should not be accomplished in Chicago."

Mr. Dalrymple arose early in the morning and started on an inspection of Chicago's transportation system. By 6:30 o'clock he was watching the morning rush on the south side elevated railroad.

DEFY UNION; PLAY IN PARADE.

Rockford, Ill., Band Only One to Obey Organization at Modern Woodman Picnic at Beloit, Wis.

Beloit, Wis., June 1.—[Special.]—An attempt of the local union musicians to prevent the Evansville and Beloit city bands from parading at a picnic of the Modern Woodmen of Northern Illinois and Southern Wisconsin today failed, but the Rockford band refused to march. The Freeport and Janesville organizations ignored the threat of a fine and went into the parade. In the prize drill the Madison Forester team won first money, and Evansville won the band contest.

Mandel Brothers

Clearing sale of men's clothing

$22 and $25 suits and overcoats $15

WE face the necessity of a quick and decisive reduction of stock. The season has not only been backward, but trade conditions have been unfavorable; there is, consequently, a larger amount to be disposed of than is usually the case at this time. Second floor, State street.

We purchased freely of the most popular styles—particularly of men's suits made with the stylish long cut coat—and the garments now offered at reduced prices are the smartest and most desirable of the spring effects.

Your choice of the season's styles in topcoats, raincoats and suits, in plain, neat checks and stripes—$22 and $25, at $15

"Hungerford system" trousers $4 & $5

Our special offer of Hungerford trousers at greatly reduced prices was accepted as eagerly as we expected. The sale will continue today and Saturday. It is a rare opportunity to secure the best trousers made in this country at a great saving. Special at $4 and $5.

Basement: Men's all-wool, single and double-breasted suits, stylishly and durably made—usually $10 and $12, specially reduced to 7.50.

Youths' and boys' clothes

Youths' $15, $18 and $20 suits—broken lots of the finest garments—specially reduced to 8.50.

Boys' 2-piece knee pants suits, all styles, $6, 7.50 and $8 values, which we wish to close out at $5.

Boys' reefers in sizes from 3 to 10 years, regularly $6, $7 and 8.50, reduced for clearance, $5.

Boys' knee pants, choice of entire stock, black and blue included, an excellent range at $1.

Boys' washable sailor suits, worth $3, $4 and $5, an unrivaled bargain, at our special price 1.65.

Basement: Boys' 2 or 3 piece confirmation suits, regularly 6.50, but now reduced to 3.95.

Men's straw hats

Second floor, State street.

MOST straw hats look alike for the first few days. But let a week of sizzling sun shine on them. Let them get caught in a lively thunder storm. Then see the difference. It's in the materials, the bleaching, stitching and blocking.

We go to the very best makers for our hats, and have them made in the best possible way. That is why you will find that Mandel's straw hats last longer and wear better than most others.

The large quantities we order enable us to get the best hats at prices that are no higher than many other stores pay for hats not as good. And because we are able to sell thousands, give you the benefit of our low prices.

Yacht hats in split and sennit braids, 1.25 to $4.

Optimo and negligee hats, Milan or Manila, $1 to $4.

Panama hats in soft negligee shapes, $5, $8 and $10.

Basement: Men's yacht and Optimo hats, at 50¢.
